STRANGLED TO DEATH IN BOARDING HOUSE

Man Wanted in Connection With Murder Walked Into New York Police Station Today and Gave Himself Up—Held for Hearing

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—A young man giving the name of Harry Schaefer walked into a police station today and said:

"I understand you are looking for me in connection with the Martin murder. I want to give myself up."

He was held on a technical charge of homicide.

On August 27 last the police sent out a general alarm all over the United States for the arrest of two men sought for the murder of William G. Martin, a milliner of Toronto, Canada, who came to New York to buy stock and who was strangled to death in a boarding house. His hands were tied behind his back and his watch and chain, two diamond rings, scarf pin and money were missing. Circulars sent out at the time described the men sought as Harry Schaefer alias Schafer, alias Murray, 20 years old, a painter, ironworker or bartender, and Michael Sirocco, alias Sargo. The police advanced the theory that these men met Martin in front of a baseball scoreboard and lured him to the house where he met death.

POLICE COURT SESSION

Sergt. David Petrie made a very clever capture late yesterday afternoon when he brought Frank Roach to the station and locked him up on the charge of larceny. Roach, the police claim, stole several articles of clothing from the store of the Grenhouse Sales Co. on Merrimack street.

Roach is wanted by the Providence, R. I. police for the larceny of several suits of clothes in that city. It is probable that before his trial is over, here that other cities may send in word to hold Roach for them after the disposition of his case here.

Frank Roach pleaded guilty to the larceny of three suits of clothes from the Grenhouse Sales Co. Sergt. Petrie told the court that the defendant worked for the complainants and had wrapped the stolen clothes under his coat when he left the store at night. An overcoat which Roach stole in Providence was found in his possession by Sergt. Petrie and the defendant admitted that he stole this garment also. Roach was sent to the house of correction for five months.

Illegal Liquor Selling

Arthur Frechette pleaded guilty to the unlawful sale of a half pint of whiskey to Patrick Horgan, Frechette works as a bartender for L. P. Turcotte. He was fined $50.

Simeon Chaput pleaded not guilty to the charge of drunkenness and his case was continued. George Dunn was fined $6 for the same offence. John McFarland charged with non-support had his case continued for a month.

James McKiernan made his fourth appearance for drunkenness within a year this morning. He was in very bad physical condition. Judge Enright ordered him committed to the state farm.

James A. Riley pleaded not guilty to the charge of drunkenness. Officer Paige, the arresting officer, said that the defendant was drunk and very boisterous at city hall. Riley put the officer through a cross-examination which was rather rambling in character.

When the defendant was asked if he wished to tell his story, he announced in a loud voice: "You bet your life."

He had not been drinking, he said, but had been taking two ounces of alcohol, two ounces of glycerine and one ounce of honey as medicine.

"Why," said the defendant to Supt. Welch, "I could throw three or four men like him," indicating Officer Paige, "down the stairs, but I respected his gray hairs. He reminded me of my dear old dad and for that reason I wouldn't break the chain when he put the twisters on my wrists. I wasn't drunk and that is all there is to it."

Judge Enright fined the defendant $2 and Riley promptly appealed and was held in $200 bail for superior court.

FIST FIGHT AT CITY HALL

BOSTON COUNCILMAN POUNDS EX-COUNCILMAN, WHO ASSAILED HIM—"JERRY" WATSON WON

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—After one of the hottest fist fights ever witnessed at city hall, Councilman James A. Watson and Ex-Councilman John T. McCormack of Charlestown were separated yesterday by friends of both men who witnessed the encounter.

The fight took place in the office of Clerk of Committees John F. Dever, where Watson was using a telephone. According to him and several others, McCormack entered the room and annoyed him to such an extent that he turned him until his patience became exhausted.

Blow after blow was struck with such telling effect that the fight soon became one-sided, and friends of the men separated them. Watson was the victor, and witnesses declared him blameless, saying that he acted only in defence.

CARNEGIE HERO MEDALS

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—The Carnegie Hero Fund commission at its 10th annual meeting in Pittsburgh, Pa., yesterday afternoon recognized 30 individual acts of heroism performed during the past year within the United States. In 11 cases silver medals were awarded and in 19 cases bronze medals.

The heroes were residents of 15 states. The greatest number honored in any state was five from Illinois. Pennsylvania came next with four, and New York and Michigan with three each. Massachusetts had one hero and Connecticut one.

92,400,000 BARRELS OF CEMENT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Production of Portland cement in the United States increased by nearly ten million barrels in 1913 compared with 1912. Estimates by the federal geological survey shows that the production last year was approximately 92,406,000 barrels against 82,132,906 barrels for the preceding year.

The average value per barrel was appreciably higher in 1913 than in 1912.

BOARD OF TRADE BANQUET AT ARMORY GREATEST EVER

GEORGE M. HARRIGAN
President

Fully 500 Men Attended and Heard William J. Burns

Speaker Described How He Cleaned Up San Francisco

Mayor Murphy, C. W. Burrows and Adjt. Gen. Pearson Spoke

JOHN H. MURPHY
Secretary

The New Year banquet of the board of trade held at the armory last night was a record-breaker, not only in point of attendance but in the entertainment furnished, for the address of William J. Burns, the world famed detective, was of the most absorbing interest, dealing as it did with the detection and conviction of criminals, and he has accomplished more in this line than any other man now living.

This was followed by an address by Charles W. Burrows, president of the Association for One Cent Postage, and by an illustrated talk by Adjt.-Gen. Pearson, which was highly instructive.

Rev. C. T. Billings invoked the divine blessing the members and their friends sat down to a bountiful supper served by the D. L. Page Co. The tables covered practically the entire floor of the great drill shed, yet despite the record number in attendance the affair was carried out without a hitch, due to the antecedent hard work of Secretary John H. Murphy and his assistant committees.

There were nearly 500 men arranged at the tables and after a brief reception the party sat down to a very delectable menu. President Harrigan did not waste any time in his introductory remarks, but simply stated the main objects of the board of trade, the lines of endeavor followed for the uplift of the city. He then called upon Mayor Murphy to respond to the toast, "The City of Lowell."

Mayor Murphy

Mayor Murphy, in a short address, expressed the appreciation which he felt on behalf of the city at having such a patriotic citizen as Mr. Burns addressing the board of trade of Lowell. He commended that body for its progressive work in city building, remarking that there was nothing he could tell its members about Lowell or her affairs. He asked their assistance in looking after city affairs, especially in the pending financial questions which are confronting the city government. He solicited the counsel and assistance of the members, asked them to visit their representatives at city hall, stating that he and his fellow commissioners would always be glad to receive their suggestions and advice. The mayor was liberally applauded.

William J. Burns

William J. Burns, the famous detective whose work sent the San Francisco boodlers to jail and secured the conviction of 31 Indianapolis dynamiters, spoke before the members of the board of trade at the armory last evening on the responsibilities imposed on all citizens to bring about and uphold clean city government.

When Mr. Burns was bowing his acknowledgment to the applause which greeted him, the audience saw before them a dapper, stoutish man of medium height, sandy complexion, full mustache, dressed as slaidly as a physician, and whose pleasant smile invested him with anything but the appearance of a detective. But when he began speaking and warmed up to his subject, the real William J. Burns, shrewd, indomitable, aggressive, appeared in his true characteristics.

Civic duty, that obligation which rests on all men to work for the welfare of their city, was the one idea which Mr. Burns during his two hours' address, sought to impress on his hearers. To emphasize the importance of the performance of this duty and, by contrast, how its neglect will be followed by civic corruption, Mr. Burns centered his remarks on the city government of San Francisco, when its affairs were under the domination of Boss "Abe" Reuf.

Incidentally he said Reuf is now serving 14 years in San Quentin penitentiary.

After paying a high compliment to Mayor Murphy for his stand for clean government and a still higher one to Superintendent Welch, Mr. Burns launched forth into the story of his work all over the country from New York and Philadelphia to Chicago, Indianapolis and San Francisco.

The time has come, he said, when responsibility for graft will be placed where it belongs, on the men higher up and if it is not always possible to convict these men, at least the public will have the satisfaction of knowing who they are. Following hand in hand with these exposures and convictions, however, it was to be deplored that human life must be sacrificed, as in the case of dynamiters and in that of the New York gamblers and gunmen, yet no great reforms ever had been or in all likelihood ever would be brought about without the sacrifice of life. It was the price paid for the arousing of public opinion.

As an instance of the cheapness with which life is held by those of the underworld, Mr. Burns, when this had been doubted by a Chicago business man, arranged a meeting with Chicago gunmen and, within the hearing of the doubter, made a bargain with the desperados to have the business man wounded and sent to a hospital for $250 and killed outright for $500.

This condition of affairs could be wiped out only by the citizens directing and maintaining a scrutinizing eye on their city government.

"If men like you," he said, "take an interest in public affairs all evil can be eliminated even to the gunmen and the men high up in business and financial circles. In my investigations of crime I have always tried to go after the important man. Turn on him the light of publicity and he ceases to be a menace. Point out the men who seek to debauch public office and office holders and you point the real danger. No man, however high, is above the law but in trying to do my duty I have had at my heels the men who were powerful. All this can be stopped if you men help. San Francisco is an example of how rotten a city can become before the public is aroused. The wonder is that citizens do not become aroused earlier."

In an extremely interesting manner Mr. Burns then described how he prevented the dishonest election of a United States senator from West Virginia. This he secured by running what he laughingly termed a "pipe line," or detective, into the office of the prospective senator and others into those of legislators with itching palms, and securing sufficient evidence to convict them.

In speaking of "pipe lines," or detectives, Mr. Burns passingly remarked that it would be well for his hearers not to trust too implicitly in the honesty of the average private detective; nor for that matter in that of the average lawyer. Many private detectives, he stated, were the greatest blackmailers and thieves that ever escaped justice.

"But despite the nature of my profession," he continued, "no man is more averse than myself to send a fellow man to prison, to brand him as a convict, and keep that brand on him when he returns to the outside world. In this connection, it is an auspicious sign, too, that the judges of our courts are in these days dealing very kindly with first offenders and are giving them every opportunity to reform."

Speaking of the affairs in San Francisco, Mr. Burns said that graft had been reduced to such a science that the right to pick pockets was sold to the highest bidder by the political boss. He had himself seen, he said, the man who controlled this privilege, and had seen him walking the streets, keeping a watchful eye on his hired pickpockets to see that they did not loaf on the job. Merchants had been murdered in their stores and bankers shot down before their safes in open daylight in that city and the perpetrators got off scot free. Not even a house could be built unless the ward boss got his rakeoff.

"When I began bringing these men to justice," he continued, "everybody applauded my actions, but when I started after the men on the top of

Atty. Gen. Swift Rules on Adjutant General—His Acts as Armory Commissioner Also Valid

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—Atty. Gen. Swift's last official act was an opinion filed yesterday in response to a request by Gov. Walsh ruling that Adjt. Gen. Gardner W. Pearson is holding his office legally and that his acts as armory commissioner are also valid.

The attorney general, however, declares that the militia acts passed since 1908 contain so many inconsistencies in the use of military titles and seemingly haphazard and loosely drawn provisions that this involved situation should be cleared up by more accurate legislation. It is because of these inconsistencies that he adds: "It was with grave doubt I came to my conclusion."

The opinion states that Adjt. Gen. Pearson's acts "as armory commissioner, acting as such, at least de facto, under the familiar principles of a de facto officer, will not be invalid as affecting the title of the state to lands acquired by the armory commission."

He states that strict adherence to the precise phraseology of the different official titles used in the various enactments would lead to an absurd situation of providing for two adjutant generals, one chief of staff commissioned in the department of the adjutant general, the other chief of staff, ex officio, as the adjutant general on the staff of the commander-in-chief. If only the one officer is intended, it would be difficult to say for which of these two positions the commissions should issue.

He finds that the office of adjutant general, with the rank of brigadier general, who shall, ex officio, be chief of staff, was not abolished, whether or not Adjt. Gen. Pearson is the adjutant general qualified to act as the head of the adjutant general's department.

He finds that the law entitles Adjt. Gen. Pearson "to remain at least as the adjutant general on the staff of the commander-in-chief." He adds that the question of the commission held by Adjt. Gen. Pearson did not come before him and it must be determined by the governor upon the production of the commission itself.

CARDINAL CAVALLARIII, PATRIARCH OF VENICE, ISSUES AN EPISCOPAL LETTER

VENICE, Jan. 22.—Cardinal Aristide Cavallari, the successor of the present pope as patriarch of Venice, has issued an episcopal letter which is the most energetic of all those so far published with reference to the tango, and acquires even greater importance, as it is reported to have been inspired by the pontiff.

The letters condemn the tango in the strongest terms, referring to it as moral turpitude, and adding: "It is everything that can be imagined. Only those persons who have lost all moral sense can endure it. It is the shame of our days. Whoever persists in it commits a sin."

The cardinal ordered all ecclesiastics to deny absolution to those who, having to deny absolution to those who, having to discontinue the practice.

SUDDEN DEATH OF FAMOUS AVIATOR

During Career C. K. Hamilton Had Collarbone Broken Twice, Ribs Fractured, Arm Dislocated, Knee Fractured and Legs Broken

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Charles K. Hamilton, who gained fame as an aviator by flying from New York to Philadelphia and return, died suddenly today at his home in this city. His wife was aroused by Hamilton's groaning and she hurriedly summoned a physician. But the aviator was dead before the doctor reached the house. The cause of death was internal hemorrhage. Hamilton was 28 years old.

Hamilton has been in poor health for more than two years and recently suffered a nervous breakdown. His former home was New Britain, Conn. During his career as an aviator he had many accidents. His collarbone was broken twice, two ribs were fractured, his left arm was dislocated, his right knee cap fractured, both legs dislocated and he suffered other minor hurts. He began first with flights on kites and dirigible balloons and then took up the aeroplane.

TO REFORM SCHOOLS

MAYOR ELECT CURLEY PROPOSES MANY INNOVATIONS—WILL PUT CITY LABORERS ON HONOR

NORTH ADAMS, Jan. 22.—Mayor-elect Curley yesterday had the time of his life in the midst of the Berkshire hills in a howling snow storm. He went sleigh riding, he snowballed, he snowshoed and otherwise revelled in the snowdrifts. Between revels he found time to say a few things concerning the coming administration.

Also he commenced the work of writing his inaugural address. He expects to have the copy in the hands of the printer by Monday. He is still living incog and meeting with some success at it. The incognito was only broken once yesterday. When Mr. Curley was inspecting the Gen. Electric plant he was recognized by the chief of the company's private fire department, who was formerly a lieutenant in the Boston fire department and a voter in ward 17. The fireman promised to maintain a discreet silence in the matter.

Among some of the innovations which the mayor-elect proposes are: Putting city employees on honor, more study of the three Rs and less fads in the public schools, segregation of persons arrested for drunkenness, reduction of sentences for those arrested for drunkenness, the building of a separate institution of Deer Island for the purpose of curing persons suffering from drunkenness, and the establishment of public works modelled along the lines adopted by German municipalities, whereby work may be furnished to those who are unemployed through no fault of their own.

The mayor-elect has decided to hold the inaugural ceremonies in Faneuil hall, and yesterday wired Secs. Dolan and Wilcox to obtain Faneuil hall for Feb. 2. He has also asked Cardinal O'Connell to name the priest who shall make the prayer at the inaugural. The minor details of the ceremonies he has left to his secretaries.

The mayor-elect said the school situation was probably the most important one affecting the city, as upon the public schools rested the foundations of our government. The most difficult problem would probably be the handling of the public works department. His city planning board he deems of the utmost importance, for upon that board will devolve the duty of planning for the city's needs for 50 years to come.

HEARING FOR REGIONAL BANK

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 22—The hearing of St. Louis' claims for a regional bank under the recently enacted currency law which was begun here yesterday before the organization committee, consisting of Secretary of Agriculture Houston and Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo was resumed today.

Late tonight the secretaries will depart for Kansas City, where a one-day hearing of that city's claims to the center of a federal reserve district will be heard.

FOR NEW RED CROSS BUILDING

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The plans and designs of the new Red Cross building to be erected here as a memorial to the women who died in the Civil war have been approved by the commission which has charge of the construction of the building.

The commission chose the plans submitted by Trowbridge & Livingston, architects of New York.

TO DEPORT TEN SLAVERS

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 22.—Ten Kansas City Greeks were ordered deported yesterday following a government investigation of white slavers who are alleged to have operated extensively in the middle west. Most of the men are keepers of coffee houses or saloons.

The syndicate, according to Harry C. Allen, United States immigration inspection here, carried on an organized trade. American girls were enticed into coffee houses and restaurants, held by force, and later distributed among the cities served by the syndicate.

PUBLIC OUTRAGE

Resolution Demanding Investigation of Fist Fight Defeated

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The offering of a resolution demanding an investigation of the fist fight between Rep. Ben Johnson of Kentuky, and John R. Shields, a Washington attorney at the capitol last Tuesday, precipitated a lively scene at the annual meeting of the board of trade here last night.

Order was restored, however, when the motion to investigate was ruled out of order.

The resolution characterized the incident as a "public outrage and a menace to the entire community and deserving of punishment."

OFFICER GIVEN HEARING

Before Mayor's Trial Board—John W. Mahan Charged With Violating Rule 19 of Police Manual

The hearing of Patrolman John W. Mahan before the special board appointed by the mayor to hear the complaints preferred by Supt. Welch and witnesses occurred last night in the court of special sessions. The trial board is composed of Captain Atkinson and Sergeants Duncan and Maguire.

It was charged that Officer Mahan was guilty of violating rule 19 of the police manual and the bill of particulars set forth in the complaint stated that on Sunday evening, Jan. 11, said officer, while on duty, drank intoxicating liquor; that on the same evening, while on duty, he used harsh, vile and profane language toward Michael Malowicz, in a house located in East Merrimack street, and that said officer while in said house at or about the same time did unlawfully take hold of Annie Sokolosky and push her twice, the first push causing her to fall against the table; that on the same evening and on the same premises he engaged in conversation with Michael Malowicz and others without any cause therefor."

Michael Malowicz was the first witness and it was found necessary to employ an interpreter. Malowicz stated that he lived at 22 Howe street and that on the evening named in the complaint, he was in a house on East Merrimack street where a party was being given in his honor. Witness said that he was to be married and his friends had arranged the affair for this reason.

Witness testified that while he was in the house, Officer Mahan entered in uniform and went into a sideroom where he partook of one bottle and three glasses of beer. This was before 5 o'clock. That night, said the witness the officer came back, this time in citizen's clothes, and had several more drinks. While the officer was there, trouble occurred and the witness ordered the defendant to leave the premises. Instead, said Malowicz, Officer Mahan swore at him and made threats to "get him." During the argument the officer pushed Annie Sokolasky in the face and she fell to the floor. Later, said the witness, Officer Maloney appeared upon the scene and quieted the disturbance.

The witness was put through a rigid cross examination by Lawyer William A. Hogan, counsel for Officer Mahan. Witness acknowledged that he had drunk heavily of intoxicants on the night in question, but refused to admit that he was drunk.

The next witness was a fifteen year old girl named Sofia Lattowski. She was also present at the festivities described by Malowicz and her story was practically the same as that told by the former witness. Officer Mahan, she added, brought a bunch of roses for a girl named Stella when he made his second call on the merry makers. At this time he drank seven or eight glasses of beer, said the girl. She said the affair was one of the prenuptial feasts which are always celebrated by the Polish people and that twenty kegs of beer and a large amount of whiskey was in the house for the guests to partake of. Witness said that Malowicz was not drunk.

Officer Maloney, who has the beat where the trouble occurred, was the next witness. He testified that when he went to work on the Sunday night in question Officer Wilson apprised him of the fact that a wedding feast was in progress in the house already referred to. The feast had been going on for 24 hours at that time, the officer said, and advised Patrolman Maloney to keep a watch on the actions of the merry makers.

The cuteness of children called the witness' attention to the house and witness immediately entered. Inside the house he found a "rough house" in progress and the defendant was in the centre of it. Witness said he asked Officer Mahan what the trouble was and that the latter replied that one of the girls wished him, Mahan, to take her home and that her parents and friends then interferred. While Officer Maloney was talking over the affair a pool bottle was heaved at his head or at least thrown close to the officer's cranium. Witness then grabbed a woman and restrained her from throwing a beer glass at the defendant. He then advised Officer Mahan to leave the premises and left himself. Lieut. Freeman testified that he had called at Officer Mahan's house later on the same night and asked him about the affair. The defendant said that he had been to the house in citizen's clothes but not in uniform. While there defendant admitted that he had taken one glass of beer.

Annie Sokolsky corroborated the statements of the other witnesses. She said that Patrolman Mahan had pushed her violently and that at the time she carried a baby in her arms. She was cross-examined for a short time by Mr. Hogan. The hearing was adjourned at 10.30 o'clock and continued until Thursday night.

THE BANK OF ENGLAND

ENABLED TODAY TO REDUCE ITS MINIMUM RATE OF DISCOUNT TO FOUR PERCENT

LONDON, Jan. 22.—The bank of England was enabled today to reduce its minimum rate of discount to four per cent, owing to the improvement in the monetary situation both here and abroad and to the settlement of the South African general strike. The fact that the German bank rate also was lowered today and the belief that the French bank rate will soon follow suit make market experts confidently anticipate a further reduction of the English bank rate in a week or two.

A HAPPY CHILD IN JUST A FEW HOURS

If Cross, Feverish, Constipated, Give "California Syrup of Figs"

Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs" because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, and they become tightly packed. Liver gets sluggish and stomach disordered.

When cross, feverish, restless, see if tongue is coated, then give this delicious "fruit laxative." Children love it, and it cannot cause injury. No difference what ails your little one—if full of cold, or a sore throat, diarrhoea, stomach-ache, bad breath, remember, a gentle "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." We make no smaller size. Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

A SLEIGH RIDE

Enjoyed Last Night by Choir of Immaculate Conception Church

Members of the choir of the Immaculate Conception church, the ushers and others actively engaged in the affairs of the parish, numbering about 70 in all, met last evening at the parochial residence at 7.30 o'clock and enjoyed a sleighride to North Billerica where dancing was enjoyed in the town hall after all the jolly company had partaken of a hearty supper.

The evening was ideal for sleighing. The snow lay deep and even on the roads and the temperature was not low enough to make riding uncomfortable, yet cold enough to make the many blankets and fur robes provided desirable. All who lived along the roads traversed going and coming must have known easily that the passengers on the two sleighs were members of a church choir, by the excellence of the music that floated out on the night air. One moment there would be a strain of operatic song and the next a lively lilting tune appropriate to the delights of sleighing. Occasionally there was a rollicking bit of ragtime such as one never hears in church choirs. But then they were out for a good time and they were determined to find it. That they succeeded goes without question.

Rev. Lawrence Tighe, O. M. I., the pastor, and Rev. Owen McQuaid, O. M. I., accompanied the merrymakers and Mrs. Hugh Walker, organist and Mr. Charles P. Courtney, director of the choir, did much to keep things moving briskly. After the turkey supper which was as complete regarding fixin's as it was hearty, Rev. Fr. Tighe spoke briefly, thanking all who had given so generously of their services to the church during the year. He referred to the treat of the evening not as payment in any way, but as a slight token of appreciation.

The dancing which continued until midnight was of an informal nature, the company joining hands frequently in a large circle and playing games of childhood or otherwise giving expression to the happiness that they all seemed to feel. There was no "younger" or "older," but all entered into the spirit of the occasion and played and danced with the zest of children. Before the party piled into the sleighs for the return trip, rousing cheers were given for Fr. Tighe, Fr. McQuaid and the others present who had charge of the party, together with the Rev. E. J. Fox, O. M. I., an invited guest.

CALLS GAFFNEY 'BAGMAN'

SULZER TESTIFIED AT GRAFT INQUIRY—SENATOR O'GORMAN IMPLICATED

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Senator O'Gorman declined today to make any comment on the testimony given by ex-Gov. Sulzer at the John Doe inquiry.

"The senator wishes to refrain from making any statement at present because he may be called upon later to appear in the proceedings," his secretary said.

Sulzer yesterday testified that Senator O'Gorman advised him at a meeting in Washington in March, 1913, not to appoint James E. Gaffney as commissioner of highways and told him that Gaffney was the "bagman" for Charles F. Murphy, the Tammany leader.

The John Doe inquiry with Sulzer again on the stand will be resumed tomorrow. The former governor will have an opportunity today to tell his story to the grand jury.

MURDER CHARGE

Capt. Matroni Adjudged Probably Guilty of Barge Murder

NEW BEDFORD, Jan. 21.—After a preliminary hearing yesterday, Chas Matroni, captain of the barge Silica, was adjudged probably guilty of the murder of Annie Walsh, and was held without bail for the February term of the superior court.

Louis Therrien, the principal witness, was held in the sum of $500 for his appearance and Flora Therrien and Mrs. Mary Keough, two government witnesses, were allowed to go on their personal recognizance.

Women Everywhere

Praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Women from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from all sections of this great country, no city so large, no village so small but that some woman has written words of thanks for health restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. No woman who is suffering from the ills peculiar to her sex should rest until she has given this famous remedy a trial. Is it not reasonable to believe that what it did for these women it will do for any sick woman?

Wonderful Case of Mrs. Stephenson, on the Pacific Coast.

INDEPENDENCE, OREGON.—"I was sick with what four doctors called Nervous Prostration, was treated by them for several years, would be better for a while then back in the old way again. I had palpitation of the heart very bad, fainting spells, and was so nervous that a spoon dropping to the floor would nearly kill me, could not lift the lightest weight without making me sick; in fact was about as sick and miserable as a person could be. I saw your medicines advertised and thought I would try them, and am so thankful I did for they helped me at once. I took about a dozen bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and also used the Sanative Wash. Since then I have used them whenever I felt sick. Your remedies are the only doctor I employ. You are at liberty to publish this letter."—Mrs. W. STEPHENSON, Independence, Oregon.

A Grateful Atlantic Coast Woman.

HOULTON, ME.—"I feel it a duty I owe to all suffering women to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. One year ago I found myself a terrible sufferer. I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely straighten up at times. My back ached, I had no appetite and was so nervous I could not sleep, then I would be so tired mornings that I could scarcely get around. It seemed almost impossible to move or do a bit of work and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation. I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman. I had no pains, slept well, had good appetite and was fat and could do almost all my own work for a family of four. I shall always feel that I owe my good health to your medicine."—Mrs. HAYWARD SOWERS, Hodgdon, Maine.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justice to herself if she does not try this famous medicine made from roots and herbs, which contains no narcotics or harmful drugs; it has restored so many suffering women to health.

CIRCUIT AN EXPERIMENT

The new circuit of the New England league which will go into effect with the first league game of 1914 will be an experiment in a way. Lewiston and Fitchburg, the two unknowns, will be tried out and Haverhill, which was given a rest last season, will be practically the same as an experiment. If Haverhill doesn't show some real signs of baseball enthusiasm this coming season it will probably be the last team that will be seen here for years to come.

French Players for Lewiston

Lewiston ought to prove a good city for the league at least for two or three years. Baseball has been nothing but a hearsay sport down there for so long that the real things should draw big especially if the team which represents them is passing strong.

Lewiston has a large French population and if the management of the club are wise they will import a couple of French ball players. In all the amateur games which have been played there during the time since the league departed the town the best drawing cards, individually, have been of French extraction. Give Lewiston a team with one or two Frenchmen in the need a stick of dynamite to make an lineup and the ball yard will attract more people.

The baseball atmosphere out Fitchburg way has cleared up appreciably since the street car company and business men took a hand in proceedings. Now all they are asking for is a first division team and this Fred Lake intends to produce. If Lake tries to make money with a mediocre club in Fitchburg he will lose out and, not only that, but he will spoil the town irrevocably for anyone else. Fitchburg, however, at best will never develop any gold mine properties to the owners of a franchise.

Murnane Backs Up Ban

Our old friend, Tim Murnane, who really is president of the New England league whether the fans ever see him or not, rises to remark that Ban Johnson is right when he says that there is little or no money in baseball for the magnates. Here is what Timothy has to say on the subject:

"I think Ban Johnson of the American league uttered words of wisdom when he declared that an outsider breaking into the game at this late date could do no harm to organized baseball and eventually would show the great baseball public how little money is made in the sport. Not two dozen clubs in the 42 leagues comprising the major and minor organizations of this country have made money, taking the last five years to figure on. The minors are in perfect accord with the majors. Any organization that goes against this cemented structure will need a stick of dynamite to make an impression on the baseball combinations."

If it wouldn't be impertinent, Mr. Murnane, we would like to inquire whether or not there is any financial succor to be gleaned by guiding the destinies of the "little old league?" Of course, we heard a few rumors to the effect that the two league presidents grabbed off a big slice of the Lowell-Hartford series, but we wouldn't confirm it after this frank statement!

McBreen at Haverhill

The latest development in the Haverhill baseball situation, with which Daniel F. Clohecy is dallying, is the report that Hugh McBreen, former secretary of the Boston American league club, is to take an interest in the local franchise. No apparent progress has been made in the matter of the 30 days' option on the proposed Hildale avenue grounds. In the minds of those personally interested, the new site is beyond the grasp of Clohecy and his associates, although in justice to Clohecy it should be borne in mind that he has in the past accomplished many feats of magic in the baseball world and there is at least a ghost of a chance that he may repeat. The rental of Cashman's field for baseball purposes would be $350 a month, $50 more than Athletic park has cost, while the cost of installing a baseball plant would greatly exceed the cost of repairing the River street grounds.—Haverhill Gazette.

LOWELL WOMAN ARRAIGNED

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—In the city police court 12 persons were arraigned on charges of larceny from downtown department stores, all of them being women, whose ages ranged from 18 to 27 years. In ten cases fines, aggregating $115, were imposed, and in the other two cases suspended sentences of a month were given.

Dora E. Lawrence and Florence Martin, who live in Myrtle street, West End, but whose homes are in Lowell and Lawrence, respectively, were given the suspended sentences. They were warned to leave the city and not to repeat what was shown to have been a deliberate attempt to steal from the stores.

RIGHT LEG BROKEN

After attending the evening performance at the Lowell Opera House, Mrs. Mary McShea of West Third street, fell on the sidewalk on Central street and sustained a fractured right leg. She was removed to her home in an automobile and medical aid summoned and after examination was removed to St. John's hospital for treatment. It was stated at the hospital this morning that the woman was resting comfortably.

ALIENS WHO HAVE BEEN EXCLUDED FOR "INTENDED CONCUBINAGE" ARE BARRED

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—The ruling of the United States supreme court that "intended concubinage" is ground for the exclusion of aliens was broadened and supplemented by the United States circuit court of appeals in a decision disposing of the habeas corpus proceedings instituted in behalf of Hans Bauer, a Swiss millionaire, who, while belonging to a class excluded, applied for naturalization and obtained first papers in September, 1911.

The decision holds that aliens who have been excluded for "intended concubinage," whether they return singly or together, are forever barred from the United States.

In his statement of the case Judge Henry Wade Rogers, who wrote the opinion, says that Bauer came to this country in June, 1910, and was charged with attempting to bring in a woman for immoral purposes. Bauer and the woman were deported. He returned to New York the following month and was admitted. In 1911 he made a trip to Europe and on his return was again admitted.

In the early part of 1913 the immigration inspectors at Chicago, where Bauer had established a large business, suggested his deportation, the Swiss government at that time having asked for his extradition for alleged fraudulent sales of mining stock in Switzerland. The ensuing extradition proceedings against Bauer failed, but in July last, he was brought to New York for deportation. The habeas corpus proceedings of yesterday resulted.

WELL, MR JONES, I HEAR YOU ARE ON THE WATER WAGON
I WAS, BUT I GOT OFF TO GIVE MY SEAT TO A COUPLE OF LADIES.
I HEAR JONES FELL OFF THE WATER WAGON
YES- AND SPRAINED HIS NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTION.
NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTIONS USUALLY MAKE ME SICK.
YES. THEY GIVE ME A STOMACHACHE SOMETIMES. ONE OF MY WIFE'S THIS YEAR WAS THAT SHE'D DO ALL HER OWN COOKING.
SMITH'S WIFE SAYS SHE'S DOING ALL HER OWN COOKING NOW
HOW IS IT, BROWN, THAT YOU NEVER MARRIED?
WELL I DON'T FEEL THAT I'M FITTED T'MARRY A MODERN WOMAN I CAN'T COOK NOR NOTHING.
DO YOU BELIEVE IN EQUAL RIGHTS FOR BOTH SEXES.
I CERTAINLY DO. I'VE STOOD BEING UNDER MY WIFE'S THUMB LONG ENOUGH.

FUNERALS

MONTY—The funeral services of Mrs. Minerva J. Monty were held yesterday afternoon at her home, 5 Anderson's court, and were largely attended. Rev. Harold Dale of the Congregational church at Billerica officiated. The flowers were many and beautiful, including pieces from the following: Charles A. Monty and family, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Putney and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barrett, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Moore and family, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Hurlbert and family, Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Putney, Miss Clara Wardman. The bearers were Messrs. Arthur Putney, George Putney, Francis Hurlbert and Louis Monty, grandsons of the deceased, and Percy Duckham and George Kearney. Burial was in the family lot in Fox Hill cemetery, Billerica, where the committal service was read by Rev. Mr. Dale. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker William H. Saunders.

STORY OF SWITZERLAND

Dr. James B. Field, one of Lowell's leading physicians, gave a very interesting lecture on Switzerland, last evening, at the Pawtucket Congregational church. He addressed the members of the Pawtucket Brotherhood.

The speaker was introduced by President C. B. Stoddard. Besides telling of Switzerland, Dr. Field told of his experiences in London and Paris and his impressions formed in these two cities. He displayed some very fine pictures and described them, interestingly and entertainingly. He displayed some beautiful views taken in Switzerland. Rev. E. C. Ramette, pastor of the French Baptist church, sang several selections. Refreshments were served and the evening proved an exceptionally pleasant one.

ACTRESS TELLS SECRET

Miss Blanche Rose, a well-known actress, who darkened her gray hair with a simple preparation which she mixed at home, in a recent interview at Chicago, Ill., made the following statement: "Any lady or gentleman can darken their gray hair and make it soft and glossy with this simple recipe, which they can mix at home. To a half-pint of water add 1 oz. of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and ½ oz. of glycerine. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until it becomes the required shade. This will make a gray haired person look 20 years younger. It is also fine to promote the growth of hair, relieves itching and scalp humors and is excellent for dandruff and falling hair."

LOWELL IS OUT

Not Included in Proposed New Salisbury Beach Reservation

It looks as if Lowell, under the terms of the proposed new Salisbury beach reservation, had been eliminated from that reservation and that is as it should be. The terms of the reservation are outlined in a bill introduced by a Lawrence representative. The bill provides for a reservation commission appointed by the governor and council and that its expenses shall be paid by the state. It also limits the reservation to "any or all of the land, or any or all of the rights in any land in that part of the town of Salisbury bounded as follows: Easterly by the Atlantic ocean; northerly by the line between the commonwealth of Massachusetts and the state of New Hampshire; southerly by the Merrimack river and westerly 500 feet from the Atlantic ocean.

This provision makes it a purely ocean reservation and places the burden entirely on the state at large. The Lowell board of trade has already made plans to keep in touch with the progress of this bill and to prevent, if possible, the recurrence of what happened before when the legislature shifted the reservation make-up to include certain cities and towns for the purpose of assessing the cost on them.

On account of the increasing demand for an early edition of The Sun, a noon edition is now issued daily. It is on sale by newsboys and at all news stands.

STOP CATARRH!

Unless properly treated this disease often leads to a serious, if not fatal, ailment. It is needless to allow catarrh to ruin your health—use Hyomei—it is certainly effective relief for catarrh ills. It's the direct-to-the-spot treatment. You breathe it—no stomach dosing. No household should be without Hyomei. It not only gives quick and lasting benefit in cases of catarrh but is one of the surest and most pleasant treatments for head colds, sniffles, or croup of children.

Hyomei is a combination of antiseptic oils—you breathe it—using a small inhaler. The air laden with health-restoring Hyomei soothes, heals and vitalizes the sore, raw and inflamed membrane of the breathing organs almost immediately. There is no other remedy that benefits so surely or so quickly.

Do not be without Hyomei another day. Druggists everywhere sell it. Get the complete outfit—$1.00 size—this contains the inhaler and bottle of liquid.

WHY DOCTORS NO LONGER CLAIM TO "CURE" PEOPLE

A few years ago it was a common thing for the family doctor to say, "I will cure you in a few days." This cheerful prophecy often gave the patient new hope and courage but it is no longer good form. Doctors still "cure" malaria and a few other troubles in which their medicines have a direct or "specific" action on the virus of the disease. In other cases they simply give supporting medicine and keep up the strength of the patient until nature effects a cure.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure chlorosis and other trouble due to thin blood because they have a specific action on the blood, building it up, purifying and enriching it. This direct action on the blood also makes them the best supporting and strengthening medicine. If you are thin and weak, breathless after slight exertion, if you have palpitation of the heart, gas on the stomach, cold hands and feet, if you are nervous and easily irritated and show other signs of weakened vitality, try these strengthening pills at once and let the rich, red blood cure you. Get a box today at the nearest drug store and begin at once to build up your health. Write now to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for the free booklet, "Building Up the Blood."

ANTI-TRUST LEGISLATION

The most casual reading of the president's message to congress on the trust question will convince the reader that what is intended by the administration is a sane and moderate system of business reorganization that shall bring offending firms and corporations within the terms of existing law, do away with the doubts that have prevented specific action in the past, inaugurate a system of cooperation between the government and business, and do all this without in any way causing hardship or depression. As in past messages, principles rather than concrete instances of illustration are emphasized, but where specific things are urged, as in the case of interlocking directorates, the railroad problems and the forming of an interstate trade commission, the policy outlined is in no way antagonistic to the best interests of business in a national sense.

It may be that the temperate tone of the president's message is due to the presence of two important measures in the tariff and currency bill but this fact throws his judgment into stronger relief instead of in any way detracting from it. Yet anyone who has followed the trend of recent important events in the business world will not accuse him of indulging in empty platitudes when he speaks of the "atmosphere of accommodation and mutual understanding which we now breathe with so much refreshment.

It has become apparent that this president who has been in a large manner responsible for the most important national laws regarding business, that have been placed on the statute books for many years, has gained the confidence of the business interests of the country in an unprecedented degree. His latest message will strengthen that confidence while adding to his reputation for sincerity, ability and leadership.

"The antagonism between business and government," says the president, "is over. We are now about to give expression to the best business judgment of America." And lest this should mean that there is not urgent need for federal activity and supervision he continues:

"The best informed men of the business world condemn the methods and processes and consequences of monopoly as we condemn them; and the instinctive judgment of the vast majority of business men everywhere goes with them. We shall now be their spokesmen. That is the strength of our position and the sure prophecy of what will ensue when our reasonable work is done."

The leading points in the program for the abolition and control of private monopoly which he calls "indefensible and intolerable" may be summed up briefly as follows: "Prohibition of the interlocking of directorates of banks, railroads, and all industrial, commercial and public service bodies; a new law to give the Interstate Commerce commission power over the financial operations of railroads, in other words the making mandatory of what were formerly only their recommendations—usually made in vain: definition of what constitutes "restraints of trade" so that there may be no technical difficulties in enforcing the Law; the creation of a commission to aid the courts and make the requirements of the governments known to business in a spirit of co-operation instead of persistent hounding; the personal responsibility of individuals for unlawful business practices; prohibition of holding companies and a suggestion to restrict the voting power of individuals holding shares in corporations; giving to private individuals the right to found sites for redress on facts and judgments proven in government suits.

Since the reading of the message it has been commented on favorably by men representing all shades of business and political opinion and commendation of its purpose and constructive policy is universal. The idealistic schoolmaster bids fair to go down in history as the great business president of a progressive age.

THE RADIUM CURE

The discovery of radium by the gifted Madame Curie a few years ago was one of the most fascinating of the "fairy tales of science" of modern years, and it seems that the wonders of the strange element are as yet little understood. Of fabulous value and almost boundless energy the uses to which it may be put are manifold, but its extreme rarity and the difficulty of making use of its mysterious forces have prevented its application to the problems of humanity to any degree.

Great interest has been aroused by the declaration of many leaders in the medical profession to the effect that in radium is the long sought remedy for cancer, and there are examples of alleged cures. Like tuberculosis this disease has baffled medical skill for years and it is being studied by all the advanced colleges and institutions of medical research. In some cases surgical operations have been successful in removing external cancer when the disease was discovered in time, but where the roots had spread, there was slight hope of remedy. The reports of the radium cures read like the application of magic and undoubtedly hopes have been raised in hundreds of human hearts.

Greed and desire for financial gain which thrives on the needs of the afflicted has always shown itself in the exploitation of the "radium cures" and remedies are offered which are said to contain the rare substance. This is absolute fraud for there is less than two grams in the entire country—scarcely enough to be perceptible. In the ores of Colorado, however, there are strata from which the precious element may be extracted and at the present time there is a hearing before the house committee on mines in Washington for the purpose of urging the government to take over the radium producing lands that the substance may be used for the good of humanity.

Radium has not been used long enough to determine positively whether it is a cure for cancer or not, but, the high character of those who so state disarms suspicion. The Friedmann serum for tuberculosis, however, is but one of many which prove that there is more danger in too great confidence than in too great skepticism.

SAFETY AT SEA

Those who go down to the sea in ships have been regarding with supreme contempt blended no doubt with a good garniture of oaths carrying a salt-water flavor,—such as we meet in Conrad and Masefield,—the attempts of some land lubber politicians of America to force the international enactment of laws which would make travelling by sea less dangerous. Earnest legislators of the type of him who introduced a little comedy into the tragic Titanic hearing in Washington by grilling the English ship officials mercilessly on the subject of water tight compartments—believing the while that they were parts of the ship where passengers might lock themselves in and keep the water out—have been urging all kinds of technical laws governing tackle and steering gear and lifeboats while protests have been pouring in from real sailors and ship owners. And yet when the good politicians have retired from public life again and are engaged in steering their mowing machines through the stormy seas of the western prairies, they may feel assured that notwithstanding the impracticability of their schemes and the laughter that greeted them, travelling at sea will have become safer.

This seems assured by the reports of an international congress in London which has been in conference for many days with the delegates of 14 nations in attendance. In the closing speech Lord Mersey, the president, ran briefly over the many points touched on during the conference such as greater care in construction, greater application of preventive measures, the providing of lifeboats and other safety appliances, and the requirement of inspection and drills to keep the crew vigilant and active. This conference was in great measure due to the earnestness of our prairie sailors for though they blundered sadly in their recommendations, they were human and felt misfortune keenly and by starting the humanitarian spirit of the nations working, they roused the attention of others better able to handle the subject than they. The laws for sea safety already in force or put in force since the loss of the Titanic have hampered the ship owners to a needless degree and it is probable that the laws to follow the recent conference will remedy the existing wrong while wiping out much that is unnecessary.

EUGENIC LAW VOID

The supreme court will soon consider the question of the constitutionality of the eugenic law of Wisconsin which has aroused so much discussion, because the circuit court there has declared it contrary to American institutions.

The Wisconsin law stipulated that all who were to be married must present a clean bill of health signed by a delegated physician, and this official permission was to be given only after a severe physical test, including the Wassermann blood test. The matter was taken to the courts because of the protest of a young man who applied for permission to marry, the day the law went into operation and was refused because he did not present the required health certificate. Thus far he has beaten the state. However the supreme court may decree eventually, he will be married without the application of the new fangled eugenic doctrines.

The court objections are of a technical nature as befits an unemotional judicial decision, but the judge laid especial emphasis on the impracticability of the law. Its aim was praised, but the means of putting these aims into practice were not considered just or adequate. Putting aside the legal aspect of the case the Wisconsin finding seems like an admission of the truth that though the law may make stringent regulations regarding marriage, it cannot compel men and women to marry nor prevent them from marrying on account of the prescribed disabilities.

LORD STRATHCONA

In the passing of Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal high commissioner for Canada at the age of 93, the British empire has lost one of its greatest men. With the natural dignity of years, the artificial honors of title and the greater distinction of noble achievement he stood before the world as the embodiment of nobility, the personification of perseverance. Of sturdy Scotch parentage he emigrated to Canada at the age of 18 and became associated with the famous Hudson Bay company, the record of which reads like chapters of vivid romance. The change from the simple Donald Smith to Lord Strathcona is stranger reading than many a fairy tale, but during it came out the great qualities that made the Scotch emigrant the pioneer of progress in the Northern Dominion. Unlike many another, the dead statesman fitted into the niche of nobility as though he were descended from a noble line instead of having spent his early days amid the rigors of the snowy north. England may mourn for the departed lord but Canada will feel more acutely the loss of Donald Smith.

BAD EGGS

Two of the greatest food storing packing houses in New York have just been fined $500 each, because in their warehouses were found eggs unfit for human food. Eggs such as these were sold for years with impunity, but with the passing of the pure food law the government became vigilant and there is now some measure of protection against the greedy interest that would sell poison to humanity for gain. These confiscated eggs would have found their way into puddings, cakes and pastries as they have for years were it not for the new government activity in this direction. The cost of good food is a burden sufficiently heavy without laying on the shoulders of the poor the national disgrace of extortion for food which is unfit for human consumption.

Now how would you feel if after studying all manner of authorities on censorships of plays, and working yourself up into a fever of righteousness on behalf of public decency, and giving interviews to the press accompanied by your noble-expressioned photograph, you found it was none of your business? Wouldn't it just rattle you?

"And then," future historians will say, "after the cold spell came the nicest snow storm that was ever seen with great coasting and sleighing and skating galore. It was surely a fine winter."

If we're not mistaken there's something about the rights of the Locks and Canals to the Merrimack river in the book of Genesis.

The "A 7" submarine has been found with its drowned crew. What of it? "They've but to do and die."

Seen and Heard

It seems to snow these days almost as readily as a girl can cry—some girls.

City Messenger Owen Monahan says there was never a better looking alderman in his time than Col. James H. Carmichael.

Commissioner Donnelly made three distinct speeches at the meeting of the municipal council on Tuesday and he allowed that was going some.

Charlie Morse has put his foot down on men hanging around the corridors at city hall looking for a job. "They can see me at the stable. I refuse to talk jobs to them at city hall," said Charlie.

Commissioner Donnelly is getting on to the curves in the lands and buildings department and he allows that he will like the job all right. In the person of "Joe" Rourke, Mr. Donnelly has one of the very best clerks at city hall. There's a reason. Joe graduated from The Sun office.

Lawrence Cummings is authority for the statement that he enjoys meetings of the council more from the standpoint of a newspaperman than that of commissioner. Sitting at the reporters' table the other day, Mr. Cummings said: "I would rather sit here and report the meeting than to take part in it, but I must confess that I rather enjoyed my two years as commissioner."

In the current issue of Farm and Fireside a contributor gives the following advice to farmers which they might well avail themselves of when it comes to advertising their products.

"In farm advertising, like all other advertising, the first principle is to have the goods. It doesn't pay to advertise a poor article as a good one. The next thing is to reach the people who are likely to want it and who are able to pay for it. In advertising it is best to give a little description of the article. Say something about it to make people want it. 'Fine black cherries, uniformly sound, and delicious' is worth a great deal more than 'Cherries for sale.' 'Some' particularly choice Jonathan apples' is worth ten times more than 'Apples for sale.'

"In advertising to reach a certain class of customers, describe the article in the way they will like it; that is, describe the things about the article that will appeal to that class. For instance, the man who sold the cow to the banker was wise in mentioning that she was a beautiful cow. He knew that a town man with a nice yard and a nice barn would want a good-looking animal. Use a little judgment in advertising, and it is almost sure to make you money."

Senator Augustus O. Bacon of Georgia chuckled at a recent dinner when the talk topic turned to boomerangs. He said he was reminded of a young woman acquaintance.

The young woman was walking through a park when she saw a small boy in the act of robbing a bird's nest. In his hat were a couple of eggs and on his face a guilty expression.

"You naughty, cruel boy!" indignantly exclaimed the young woman. "How can you be so terribly heartless as to take those eggs?

"What do you think the mother bird will say when she comes back and finds them gone?"

"She won't say nothin'," answered the boy, looking at the agitated party before him. "She is dead."

"Dead!" wonderingly cried the young woman. "How do you know that she is dead?"

Dams that may be rolled up out of streams in order to provide an unobstructed channel for the passage of flood flows are beginning to come into favor in the United States.

They were first used in Germany in 1902, and since that date have been adopted extensively in Europe, but American engineers, until recently, have regarded them with scepticism. It is significant, therefore, that the United States reclamation service has installed a rolling dam on the Boise irrigation project in Idaho, and others are in the course of construction in this country.

These dams, instead of being solid barriers of masonry, are hollow cylindrical steel shells which look very much like elongated boilers. Each end is fitted with a gear which engages in an inclined rack, and hoisting machinery is provided so that the dam may be rolled up on its inclined guides clear of the stream. Of course, the rolling type of dam is not suitable under conditions which call for a very high structure to impound water.—Engineering Record.

A delicate operation in engineering surgery was performed recently at Cleveland when one end of the draw-span of the Cuyahoga river viaduct was amputated in order to shorten its length. The piers which supported the bridge developed an uncontrollable wanderlust and moved out of place in some instances as much as two feet. Since the bridge was built in 1887 the average longitudinal movement was one inch every year. It soon became impossible to revolve the draw-span so the engineers were forced to lop off a section of the draw so that it could be swung open to pass ships.—Engineering Record.

LIFE GAME OF CARDS

This life is but a game of cards
That mortals have to learn;
Each suffles, cuts and deals the pack,
And each a trump doth turn.
Some bring a high card to the top,
While others bring a low;
Some hold their hands quite flush with trumps,
While others none can show.
Some deal them with a practiced hand,
And pack their cards with care,
That they may know when they are dealt,
Where all the players are.
Thus fools are made the dupes of rogues,
And rogues each other cheat,
And he is very wise indeed,
Who never meets defeat.
In playing some throw out the Ace,
Their counting cards to save;
Some play the Nine and some the Ten,
But many play the Knave.
Some play for money, some for fun,
But more for worldly fame;
And, not until the game's played out,
Can they count up their gain.
When Hearts are trumps, we play for love,
And beauty rules the hour,
No thoughts of sorrow check our joy,
In Beauty's rosy bower.
We dance, we sing, sweet verses make,
Our cards at random play,
And while our trump remains on top,
Why, Life's a holiday.
When Diamonds chance to crown the pack,
The players stake their gold,
And heavy sums are won and lost
By gamblers young and old.
Intent on winning, each the game,
Doth watch with eager eye,
That he may see his neighbor's hand,
And beat him on the sly.
When Clubs are trumps look out for war
On ocean and on land,
For bloody honors always come
When clubs are held in hand.
Then lives are staked instead of gold,
The dogs of war are freed;
On the other side of the Pacific late,
The Clubs have had their lend.
Last game of all is when the Spade,
Is turned by Hand of Time,
It always plays the winning hand
In every land and clime.
No matter how much each man wins,
Nor how much each man saves,
The Spade will finish up the game

EDITORIAL COMMENT

THE LOST CREW

Lynn News: What must be the experience of the men on these boats? Air enough is carried to last for some hours, but then comes inevitable death. The records left by members of a crew who perished on a Japanese boat a year or two ago show what this may mean. To die caged is not particularly glorious, but men seem to think it worth taking the chance for their country. No nation reports difficulty in getting crews, a sure proof of men's bravery and of their desire to be pioneers in a new work or task. Except in actual warfare, there is every reason, however, why governments should be considerate of the men who man these frail crafts.

CAN TEDDY COME BACK?

New Bedford Times: Jacob Riis seems to think that Roosevelt has the republican party thoroughly bottled up. He says:

"Theodore Roosevelt will be a candidate for the presidency in 1916 if the people want him, but a condition precedent to his acceptance of the nomination by the republican party must be its adoption of the principles Roosevelt stood for in the last election."

The colonel smashed the G. O. P. in 1912, and may be he is the only man who can put the pieces together. Many republicans, however, would rather see the old party in the junk heap than in control of the colonel.

GRAFTING

Woonsocket Call: Governor Glynn wants all grafters sent to jail. And why not? Grafting is respectable only because grafters have insisted that it is so. In reality it is only thieving of an especially detestable kind.

SUPPORTS U. S. POLICY

Boston Post: The first protest from any of the European nations against the Huerta plan to default interest on Mexican bonds comes, very properly, from France, the most thrifty of all. The foreign office is instructed to tell the dictator what it thinks of this business, though it specifically mentions that the government will not now exercise its privilege of forced collection of the Mexican custom duties. In fact, the whole document is said to be framed in such a way as to imply tacit support of the Mexican policy of the United States.

ANTI-TRUST MESSAGE

Fall River Herald: The long awaited special message of President Wilson on the anti-trust question has been delivered to congress and to the people. Like the messages that had preceded it from the pen of Woodrow Wilson, it breathes the spirit of peace and goodwill in all parts of our national life. There is nothing in the message to disturb even the most timid, while, on the other hand, there is much to encourage and hearten all the people. As the president himself happily expresses it: "What we are proposing to do is not to hamper or interfere with business as enlightened business men prefer to do it, or in any way to put it under the ban. The antagonism between business and government is over."

OLD-TIME COLD CURE—DRINK TEA!

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburg Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of folling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

FOR FROST BITES AND CHAPPED SKIN

For frost bitten ears, fingers and toes; chapped hands and lips, chilblains, cold sores, red and rough skins, there is nothing to equal Bucklen's Arnica Salve. Stops the pain at once and heals quickly. In every home there should be a box handy all the time. Best remedy for all skin diseases, itching eczema, tetter, piles, etc. 25c. All druggists or by mail. H. E. Bucklen & Co., Philadelphia or St. Louis.

Property Purchased by Stockholders of Manchester Coal & Ice Co., Who Met in Lowell

The stockholders of the Manchester Coal & Ice Co. held an important meeting this afternoon at C. M. A. C. hall, this city. Among those present were Col. William Marcotte, Lawyer Moreau and Judge Loverett, all of Manchester, N. H., and stockholders from all over the New England states. The meeting was called for the purpose of purchasing the properties of the New England Investment Co. and to elect a board of directors.

The meeting was called to order shortly after 2 o'clock by Joseph H. Clement of Claremont, N. H., and remarks concerning the welfare of the company were made by several prominent stockholders, including Judge Lovcrett and Lawyer Moreau. It was then voted to purchase the properties of the New England Investment Co. and the following board of directors was elected for the ensuing year: Col. Wm. Marcotte, Manchester, N. H., president; Albert J. Precourt, Manchester, N. H., treasurer; John T. Levasseur, Manchester, N. H. E. J. Larochelle of this city was chosen clerk of the corporation.

Interesting remarks concerning the doings of the New England Investment Co. were made by Col. Marcotte, former president of the company, who said when he and the other directors of the company were placed at the head of the corporation, the Manchester Coal & Ice Co., which was then a branch of the New England Investment Co., could not purchase a horse shoe without having the ready cash, and now the company's credit is good for $50,000. The colonel spoke at length on the affairs of the company and the projects of the new board of directors and the meeting adjourned until the third Wednesday in January, 1915.

LORD STRATHCONA DEAD

HIGH COMMISSIONER FOR CANADA DIED IN LONDON AT 93 YEARS OF AGE

LONDON, Jan. 21.—Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, high commissioner for Canada, died at 1.55 o'clock this morning.

Lord Strathcona's life spanned nearly a century, and his active career a full three-quarters. "The best way to live to an old age," he explained when found at work at his desk in London on his 93d birthday, Aug. 6, last, "is by not thinking about age at all, but just going on doing your work."

Lord Strathcona died peacefully in sleep. He had been virtually unconscious since 4.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Lord Strathcona's death was due to prostration, the result of a severe attack of catarrh. He had been ailing, however, ever since the death of his wife on Nov. 12 last, which proved a great shock to him.

FUNERALS

MERRITT—The funeral of the late Henry A. Merritt took place this morning at 8.30 o'clock from his home, 234 Cumberland road and was largely attended by sorrowing relatives and friends. The cortege proceeded to St. Michael's church where, at 9 o'clock, a mass of requiem was sung by the pastor, Rev. John J. Shaw. There was a profusion of beautiful floral tributes including a large pillow inscribed "Husband and Papa," from the family, and pieces from Mr. and Mrs. William A. Merritt, Mrs. Elizabeth Merritt, Mr. and Mrs. Bourrasso, the employes of the Tremont and Suffolk cloth room, Mrs. Mary Brassell, Mrs. James Bergen, Mrs. William Merritt, Mrs. Elizabeth Merritt and George Allard. The bearers were Matthew Carney, William Brennan, John Mulcahy, Denis Brassill, Harry Walsh, and Edward Nelligan. At the grave Rev. Denis Murphy read the committal prayers and the burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery in charge of J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

ANTHONY—The funeral of the late Michael J. Anthony took place this morning from his late home, 88 Main street, at 8.30 o'clock, and was very largely attended. The cortege proceeded to the Sacred Heart church where, at 9 o'clock, a high mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Jas. McDermott, O. M. I. There were many beautiful floral offerings from sympathizing relatives and friends. There was a delgation from the Street Ry. Men's union consisting of Joseph Powers, John J. Killoy, Patrick Lowe, James Ryan, John Keefe and Patrick Fell. There was also a delegation from Div. 8, A. O. H. The bearers were Messrs. Charles Gannon, John T. Lorigan and Irving Bancroft, representing the Street Railway Men's union and Thomas O'Rourk, Thomas Casey and James J. Droney, representing Div. 8, A. O. H. Interment was in the Fitzgerald family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery where Rev. Fr. McDermott, O. M. I. gave the final absolution at the grave. Funeral Director James W. McKenna in charge.

HIGH PRICES PREVAILED

AT OPENING—TRADING ACTIVE—MANY TRANSACTIONS IN LARGE BLOCKS AMONG LEADERS

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Buyers went into the market confidently at the opening today and in most instances higher prices were quoted. Trading was much more active, with many transactions in large blocks among the leaders. The market was freed from the restraint of the last few days of waiting for President Wilson's message on trust questions and speculators seized the opportunity for resuming aggressive operations on the long side.

Improving tendencies were evident today with the short interest an active factor in the advance. Buying was largely speculative although there was an enlarged volume of commission house business. The movement was wider, taking in a large variety of low priced shares as well as the standard issues. Special stocks were influenced by favorable trade news. This was particularly true of the steel and railroad equipment groups. Prices were bid up rapidly here and there where an overcrowded short interest was compelled to retreat.

The comprehensive advance continued into the afternoon session and gains of some of the important stocks were run up over two points. The market received strong stimulus from the high prices obtained for the New York state $51,000,000 issue of 4½ per cent bonds, which was interpreted as a striking indication of improved investment conditions. Prominence of Reading in the movement reassured bullish operators, the liquidation in that stock apparently having been completed.

The market closed strong. Distribution at the higher levels took off the edge of the advance, but the undertone was not impaired. Dealings in bonds and stocks were the largest of any day since the improvement began. Gains reached a point or more in many stocks.

BOSTON MARKET

BOSTON, Jan. 21.—Trading was active on the stock exchange today. The market closed high. Granby 82; Alaska Gold 23 1-2; U. S. Smelting 42 1-2.

GREEK SOLDIER RETURNS

Greeted by His Family Who Had Little Hope of Seeing Him Alive —Decorated by King George

Dianisios Stamoulis, a former resident of this city, returned to Lowell this morning after serving in the Greek army during the Balkan-Turkish conflict. The young man made the voyage aboard the steamship "Joseph" of the Austria-American line.

Stamoulis, who is about 28 years of age, had been living in this city eight years when the call to arms from Greece reached this country. He had served his two years of compulsory service in the Greek army and his knowledge of military affairs as well as his love for his country made him decide to reenlist in the army and he was among the first to leave the Spindle City.

Upon reaching Greece the young soldier was given an assignment in one of the regiments of the regulars and he was immediately sent to the front without even being given a chance to visit his parents. However, this did not bother him much, for, as he says, he did not cross the ocean on a pleasure trip. He took part in many of the fierce battles which occurred between the Greek and Turkish forces, but fortunately always managed to escape the bullets of the enemy. At the close of the first war the young soldier expressed a desire to take part in the Graeco-Bulgarian war, but his superior officers informed him that his services were more valuable on guard duty on the territory captured by his army.

When the treaty of peace was signed between Greece and Bulgaria Stamoulis was given an honorable discharge after being decorated with the silver medals issued by order of the king of Greece and he then went to his old home, where he remained sometime with his folks. After a good vacation he decided to return to Lowell and yesterday he landed in New York, coming to this city this morning. Accompanying him were two relatives, a woman and a man, as well as several other Greeks who will settle here. The young man is the picture of health and says he is glad to be back among his Lowell friends. Stamoulis has a wife and three children in this city, who gave him a most hearty reception when he reached his home in upper Market street. At one time they had almost despaired of ever seeing him alive.

CLEAN YOUR SIDEWALKS

If You Neglect Them You Will Hear From Charlie Morse

Carmichael Doesn't Believe in Sending Fire Engines Out of Town

Commissioner Charlie Morse stated, after coming in from a trip about town this forenoon, that there are too many men who neglect to clean their sidewalks. "I am going to call the attention of the superintendent of police to this fact," said Mr. Morse, "and I am going to see to it that the sidewalks are cleaned. The city has paid a good many claims on account of abutters failing or refusing to clean their sidewalks. If a man doesn't want to shovel the snow from his sidewalk he ought to go where there isn't any snow to shovel." There is not much doubt about the place that Charlie had in mind. "It costs money," he continued, "to sand the streets and it is impossible to properly sand the streets if the sidewalks are neglected."

Storm May Cost $6000

In reply to a question as to the expense of a snow storm such as we experienced last night and today, Mr. Morse said: "A snow storm like this is liable to cost anywhere from $6000 to $8000. A big expense attaches to the proper care of gutters. I got caught napping on the gutter question once and I'll never get caught again. The gutters constitute one of the most important items in street work and the care of streets. I will have 175 men at work on the streets tomorrow. I did not try to remove much of the snow today for it is useless to do that until the sidewalks have been taken care of. Tomorrow we will remove the snow but as this was really the first storm of the season it will not be necessary to remove all of it and if we don't have too much trouble with the gutters the storm will probably not cost as much as the average storm. It all depends on the weather that will follow, and it looks to me as if we were going to have good weather"

Active at Meetings

Mr. Morse is inclined to take an active part in discussions arising at meetings of the municipal council. He says there are questions asked him in the street that he is not at all times familiar with and if it is anything he wants to know all about he brings it in, if possible, at a meeting just for the purpose of information. He does not bring the question up if it is absolutely foreign to the meeting, but he waits the opportune time and then inserts it. His colleagues are always interested.

Out of Town Fires

Asked what attitude he would favor on the part of the city relative to sending fire apparatus out of town, Commissioner James H. Carmichael said: "I would not favor sending any apparatus beyond the city limits. If towns nearby feel that they should have assistance from here I would favor such towns buying what apparatus they thought necessary and store it in this city. In the event of the city caring to use the apparatus the city would be willing to pay part of the cost of maintenance. I believe in being neighborly, but self preservation is the first law of nature. There would be no excuse for the commissioner of the fire department or for the chief of the fire department if they should allow apparatus to go out of town and if in its absence a big fire should break out and the department should be crippled at home because of the absence of the apparatus in question."

MATRIMONIAL

The marriage of Mr. Jas. L. O'Toole, a well known young man of North Billerica and Miss Helena W. Roche, a popular young lady of the Sacred Heart parish, was solemnized at the Sacred Heart rectory chapel this morning at 9 o'clock. The ceremony took place at a nuptial mass celebrated by Rev. John J. Roche, O. M. I., of Holy Angels church, Buffalo, N. Y., brother of the bride, assisted by Very Rev. T. Wade Smith, O. M. I., pastor. The bride was becomingly gowned in white satin trimmed with point lace and pearls, with a long flowing veil caught up with lilies of the valley. She carried a bouquet of white roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Elizabeth V. Roche, who wore pink charmeuse with tunic of accordion plaited chiffon and hat to match, and carried pink roses.

The best man was Mr. Jos. O'Toole, brother of the groom. Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served to the immediate relatives at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Roche, 55 Modre street. The D. L. Page Co. catered.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Toole left on the 1.45 p. m. train on a brief honeymoon. They will be at home to their friends at 9 Blossom street, this city, after Feb. 15. No cards.

TRIPLE MURDER AND SUICIDE

Man, Wife and Two Daughters Found Dead in New York Home

Note Stating That Couple Had Entered Into Suicide Pact

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Julius Steinhain, an interpreter, his wife Josephine and their two daughters, Gladys, 12 years old, and Edna, nine, were found dead this afternoon in their home in the Bronx. The man, carrying out a suicide past with his wife, had committed triple murder and then shot himself. He left a note to this effect.

BIG CHURCH FIRE

General Alarm at Pittsburgh — Six Hundred March From School

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21.—A general alarm at noon today took all the downtown fire departments to Fifth avenue and Brady street, where St. Agnes' Roman Catholic church, an immense frame structure, was in flames. Next door to the church was the Soho public school, but its 600 pupils were removed without panic.

Within an hour the church had been destroyed, and, fanned by a strong wind, the flames had jumped Fifth avenue and attacked half a dozen residences on the opposite side of the street. The St. Agnes parish house also caught fire and the handsome Soho public baths were endangered.

IF MEALS HIT BACK AND STOMACH SOURS

"Pape's Diapepsin" Ends Stomach Misery, Indigestion in Five Minutes

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach headache, you can get blessed relief in five minutes.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, plainly printed on these fifty-cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will understand why dyspeptic troubles of all kinds must go, and why they relieve sour, out-or-order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. "Pape's Diapepsin" is harmless; tastes like candy, though each dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but, what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many "Pape's Diapepsin" cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be enthusiastic about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever take it for indigestion, gases, heartburn, sourness, dyspepsia, or any stomach misery.

Get some now, this minute, and rid yourself of stomach trouble and indigestion in five minutes.

STATEMENT FROM MAYOR

Relative to Municipal Council's Appeal to the Legislature—Says Many Do Not Understand It

Believing that a great many citizens are not familiar with or are laboring under a misapprehension relative to the municipal council's appeal to the legislature for relief, Mayor Dennis J. Murphy, today, issued the following statement:

There seems to be a misapprehension on the part of a great many citizens concerning the purpose of going to the legislature for relief on the part of the city on its outstanding temporary loan of 1913.

The purpose of the government in petitioning the legislature is not that it shall receive money outside the limit of indebtedness, for the purpose of appropriations. The present bill that has been presented to the legislature does not contemplate the borrowing of any money for the purpose of appropriations under the law at present. It is legally impossible for the city of Lowell to renew its outstanding temporary loan notes, and if there is no way of renewing them, there can be but one expedient, and that expedient lies in legislative enactment. The bill that has already been presented seeks permission not to borrow the sum of $500,000 for the purpose of appropriations but seeks the privilege of renewing outstanding notes until such time as the taxes outstanding against such loans shall have been collected.

There has been a long established custom in our city of permitting taxes to remain unpaid for a period of 20 months. There cannot be, at this time, a revolution of things ordering the immediate collection of such taxes. But the most expert authorities on municipal finance have advised, and recommend that the city of Lowell should go to the legislature and receive the relief that it has asked.

I think it wise and proper to make this statement in view of what seems to me to be a misconception on the part of a great many citizens as to the purpose of the present legislative petition and bill. At the present time there is fully $500,000 of uncollected taxes for the years 1912 and 1913. Approximately the same amount of money that has always been due at this particular period of the year, and since the legislature passed a law in 1913, prohibiting the payment of this loan in any other way than from the taxes of 1912 and 1913, and since it is neither convenient nor practicable to avail ourselves of these taxes without creating a hardship upon many people, I believe it to be the only expedient wherein we can preserve the city's credit and at the same time carry on the affairs of the government without embarrassment or inconvenience. This relief that will be granted unquestionably by the legislature, will not cause one dollar more of added expenditure on the part of the city than if these notes now outstanding could continue to run; but the law says that they cannot run, and that they cannot be renewed; and since that is the fact, there is nothing for the city to do at present but to request the legislature to give legislative sanction by legislative act to renew these notes.

The principal sum for which these notes were issued is not to be obtained from the tax levy, for it is provided in the bill that the money shall be obtained from the uncollected taxes now outstanding for the years 1912 and 1913. We have provided in the bill for the borrowing of $100,000 and no part of that principal sum will be taken out of the tax levy except, perhaps, a portion of the abatements for the years 1912 and 1913.

CITY SOLICITOR WILL INVESTIGATE

At a meeting of the municipal council held this forenoon Commissioner George H. Brown presented a motion that the city solicitor be instructed to make an investigation for the purpose of determining the city's rights and privileges in the control of the waters of the Merrimack and land on the banks of the Merrimack river, including land filled in by the Locks and Canals. The motion was adopted. There was counsel present at the meeting in the interest of a petition of the Boston & Maine R. R. and the Merrimack Mfg. Co., for the discontinuance of tracks in Tilden street and the matter was referred to Mayor Murphy, Commissioner Carmichael and City Solicitor Hennessy.

Mayor Murphy called to order at 11.25 with all members present. The mayor read the application of Thomas J. Nouceas, former president of the Greek community, as constable and Com. Carmichael moved that the matter be laid on the table on the ground that there are enough constables at the present times.

Com. Morse inquired how many Greek constables and the mayor replied that there were at least two that he knew of.

The claim of Elizabeth N. Gannon for personal injury was referred to the committee on claims.

For Pole Locations

A petition by the N. E. T. & T. Co., for pole locations in Leroy street, a petition coming over from 1913, was read by the mayor.

It was stated that a Mrs. Avery objected to the pole which is a terminal pole. The petition was granted.

There was another old pole location petition up for action. It had to do with a pole location in Edson street and all former discussion concerning it was explained in detail by Com. Donnelly, who favored the moving of the pole for a distance of about two feet southerly.

Com. Morse said that according to the rules of the park department the pole couldn't be moved in the direction indicated by Mr. Donnelly because it would bring it too close to trees.

James F. Owens, appearing some time ago for Mr. Davis, argued against the removal of the pole southerly for two feet and on suggestion of Mayor Murphy, the matter was referred back to Commissioners Donnelly and Morse.

The annual reports of the park commission and sealer of weights and measures were received and placed on file.

Commissioner Brown's Motion

The following motion offered by Com. Brown was seconded by Com. Carmichael:

That the city solicitor be and he hereby is authorized and instructed to make an investigation in order to determine the rights and privileges that the city of Lowell has in the control of the waters of the Merrimack river, as well as any rights it may have in land bordering on the banks of the Merrimack river; and whether or not the city has any rights in land that has been filled in by the Proprietors of Locks and Canals on Merrimack river; and to discover whether the city has any redress for any invasion of any rights it may have in said river; and to determine whether the said Proprietors of Locks and Canals on Merrimack river have exceeded any rights granted it by the legislature, and to determine also whether said Proprietors of Locks and Canals on Merrimack River have filled in the banks of the said river for the purpose of acquiring land for profit and gain, or for the purpose of establishing the free flow of the said river; and to render whatever other information that may be necessary for maintaining the rights and remedies to which the city may be entitled.

The motion was adopted.

Com. Carmichael suggested it would be well for the chief of the fire department to inspect all places where gasoline is stored. "The chief ought to know where it is and how it is protected," said Mr. Carmichael.

"The men of the fire department, too," he continued, "should familiarize themselves with premises where gasoline is stored."

Former Commissioner Cummings was at the reporters' table and, upon request of the mayor, explained how he handled the gasoline question last year. He thought Com. Carmichael's suggestion a good one.

Collection of Taxes

Commissioner Brown asked for information concerning the effort to borrow $500,000 on the temporary loan and City Solicitor Hennessy said that the temporary loan remains the same except that there is greater legal protection for the city; a legal method by which we can take care of the loan. He spoke of the new law coming in that would demand the annual payment of taxes and that law, he said, would wipe out the temporary debt. Going to the legislature and seeking relief gives the city permission to extend the note.

The matter of collecting taxes by special request as in the case in the collection of the $58,000 to meet the $100,000 note on the temporary loan, was broached and Mayor Murphy said he believed that persons owing the city should not consider it an inconvenience when called upon to pay their bills. They should be willing to suffer a little inconvenience.

To Discontinue Tracks

City Solicitor Hennessy called attention to a communication from the Boston & Maine R. R. and the Merrimack Mfg. Co., relative to the discontinuance of tracks in Tilden street. Mr. Goulding appeared for the railroad and P. E. Dunbar for the Merrimack Mfg. Co.

Commissioner Carmichael moved that the matter be referred to Mayor Murphy and City Solicitor Hennessey. The mayor added Mr. Carmichael's name and the matter was referred to the three, the mayor, city solicitor and Mr. Carmichael.

Before the meeting adjourned Commissioner Brown requested the mayor and commissioners to get their estimates in shape and send them to the Adjourned at 12.15 to Tuesday at 11 a. m.

BOSTON & MAINE

Plan for Reorganization Recommended by the Public Service Board

BOSTON, Jan. 21.—The reorganization of the Boston & Maine by the consolidation of its leased lines and by the issuance of bonds to an amount double that of the outstanding stock in accordance with a recent act of the legislature is recommended by the public service commission in its annual report today. Should the railroad take advantage of the act it could issue bonds to an aggregate of $98,313,821, which is double the amount of its capital stock. The company has already $42,338,000 in bonds outstanding and a new issue would make available a sum of $54,975,821.

The fact that the company has $27,000,000 in short time notes coming due within a few months makes it an appropriate time in which to bring about a reorganization, in the opinion of the commissioners.

Such a reorganization should be the result of agreements rather than through the compulsion of the courts or the legislature.

A separation of the Boston & Maine and the New Haven systems with the former retaining the Fitchburg R. R. Co., is also recommended.

DEATHS

DUCHARME—Mrs. Delphis Ducharme, nee Delphine Forget, aged 71 years, 8 months and 17 days, died today at her home, 14 Willie avenue. She is survived by a husband, five daughters, Mesdames Arthur Guilbault and Leon Arnault, both of Montreal, Que., Mrs. Alfred Gelinas, Mrs. George Bourgeois and Miss Bernadette Ducharme, all of this city; three sons, Desire, Chrysostome and Roderick; a brother, Alexis, in Canada. She was a member of St. Anne's sodality of St. Joseph's church.

SCHIMMERHORN—Fred Schimmerhorn, aged 28 years, a well known young resident of this city died this morning at the Lowell hospital after a short illness. He was an attendant of St. Michael's church. The remains were removed to the funeral parlors of Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons. Funeral notice later.

RILEY—Died, Jan. 19th, at the home of his son, Edward, in Pasadena, Cal., Peter E. Riley, aged 70 years. Deceased was a well known old resident of this city. He leaves four sons, Frank, Peter, Edward and John, the two latter of Pasadena. He was the father of the late Mrs. Mary Louise O'Toole of Nashua, N. H. The body will be brought to this city for burial by Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons Funeral notice later.

THE LOWELL GUILD

The Lowell Guild has made arrangements for a special nurse for tubercular cases who will take care of all cases of tuberculosis, not only in the incipient stages but also those who need nursing care after their return from the hospitals. Plans, also, are under way for a permanent financial board to take charge of raising money for the running expenses of the guild. By this means, it is hoped that when the running expenses are assured, any extra money that is raised can be used for enlarging the work of the guild, opportunities for which are constantly coming to the attention of those actively associated with the work.

KIDNAPPED BOY FOUND

Alexandre Paquette, the 17-year-old boy of Mr. Isander Paquette of 302 West Sixth street, this city, whose mysterious disappearance on Nov. 18, 1912, baffled some of the best known detectives of the country, has finally been located in a hospital at Thompson, Ohio, where he lies in a critical condition, suffering from tuberculosis. The boy's whereabouts since his departure from Lowell over a year ago is not known, but the father expects to solve the mystery very soon, for in a few days he will leave for the Ohio city, where he expects to learn the story connected with the boy's sudden disappearance.

It is believed the boy was kidnapped by employes of a railroad company or induced to keep out of the way for some time on account of a law suit which was being brought against the said company to recover for injuries sustained by young Paquette while riding blind baggage on a freight car, the boy's left arm being amputated, while three toes of his left foot were so badly bruised that amputation resulted.

There is quite an interesting story connected with this boy, who is still in his teens. The little chap left home on several occasions and the father was kept worrying for months at a time. Then the little fellow would return and of course he was received with open arms.

On June 1, 1912, he left home and all efforts to locate him were fruitless. Some time in October of the same year, the father received word that his son had been injured on a railroad in Poughkeepsie, N. Y. He went to the latter place and there found his boy in a hospital with the left arm and three toes of the left foot amputated. The little fellow told his father that he was employed by a farmer in a little town near Poughkeepsie and inasmuch as his employer broke his engagement with him, he left his work and went to the railroad station. He said he was acquainted with a brakeman who allowed him to ride blind baggage. He was seated on a flat car, when the train turned a curve, and the sudden jolt sent him rolling to the tracks, where his left arm and three toes of the foot were crushed.

The father, through a German lawyer of Poughkeepsie brought suit against the railroad company for $20,000 and against the farmer who employed the boy, for $10,000, both writs being returnable in November, 1912.

A short time later the boy returned to his father's home, 302 West Sixth street, this city, and remained there up to a short time before the law suits were to be called. On Monday, Nov. 18, 1912, two unknown men called at the Paquette residence and spoke with Alexandre, making an engagement with the boy to meet them at Merrimack square at 9.15 a. m. the following Wednesday.

The boy told his father of the engagement, but did not refer to the nature of the meeting. He left home at 9 o'clock that morning and nothing has been heard from him since, up to a short time ago, when he was located in a hospital in Thompson, Ohio. A few days after the boy's disappearance from Lowell the Poughkeepsie lawyer was notified and he immediately came to Lowell, meeting Mr. Paquette at a down-town hotel. According to the father the lawyer feared the boy had been kidnapped or induced for probably a small sum of money to keep out of the way on account of the suits pending. Detectives were put on the boy's trail, but their efforts to locate him were fruitless. Institutions and educational places were searched and again without any avail.

The father and lawyer had given up all hopes of seeing or hearing from the boy again, until a short time ago the father received a letter from the superintendent of a hospital at Thompson, Ohio, who informed him that his son, Alexandre, was confined to the institution, suffering from tuberculosis, and that his chances for recovery were very slight. The father immediately communicated with his Poughkeepsie lawyer, who after conducting an investigation, so the father says, found that the little fellow was placed in the hospital under a different name several months ago.

It was while searching the Paquette boy's clothes that the physicians of the hospital found the name of Isander Paquette, 302 West Sixth street, Lowell, on a piece of paper. The boy was immediately questioned about this name and address and he volunteered the information that the paper disclosed the identity and address of his father and that his name was Alexandre Paquette. According to the father the boy told the attending physicians he did not remember what took place after he left Lowell in November, 1912.

Mr. Paquette will go to Poughkeepsie in a few days and there he will meet his lawyer and both will journey to Thompson, Ohio, where they expect to solve the mystery of the boy's disappearance from Lowell over a year ago. The father informed the writer that the suit against the farmer who had the boy in his employ for some time would not be pressed, inasmuch as the farmer is anxious to come to some understanding with the boy's father and reach a settlement out of court for any responsibility he might have incurred.

Athletes and Athletics

According to the figures computed by Parke Davis, Princeton's representative on the intercollegiate rules committee, 400 colleges and 5000 schools were represented on the gridiron last fall. This in itself speaks for the popularity of the American game of rugby football. 33,000 games were played and over 150,000 players participated in them. These figures are astonishing even to those who are familiar with the sport.

Champion Willie Richie has again agreed to sign up for his long deferred bout with Harlem Tommy Murphy. Whether or not this fight will fall through is a matter purely for speculation. It is certain that Richie will have to count his shekels before the battle or there will be no tickets sold. The lightweight champion says that his hands are now in fit shape for a hard scrap.

There will be plenty of fun at the Armory next Saturday night when the athletic teams of B and K meet teams from outside the city. G will take on the basketball team of Co. F of the Fifth, a Waltham company, and K will play the basket shooters of the Lawrence Military A. A. The latter team is well known and has some first class professionals in their lineup. The Waltham soldiers are also well known and should give G a merry struggle. The largest crowd of the season is looked for by the Armory management.

The Johnson-Moran fight is causing a great deal of discussion and it is safe to say it will cause more if the fight is run off and the big negro loses. In any event it must go as a championship battle. The champion can choose his own opponents and, of course, every time that he puts up his hands his honors are at stake. So, therefore, if Moran should whip Johnson we would have for the first time in history, a third rater who bore the title of world's heavyweight champion.

The new rule which is being talked of in football circles provides that a coach cannot send word to his players during a contest. The majority of these rules are always brought forward by theorists who know nothing about the practical side of the game. If a coach is so minded he can send word to his players at any time either through a system of pre-arranged signals or some similar scheme. Of course it is all fine and proper to say, "well such a coach is not living up to the rules," but what are you going to do about it? The coach who lives up to the spirit of the rules lugs every time and such regulations simply put a premium upon duplicity in the game. If there were less instead of more of such rules the game would be improved rather than otherwise.

Connie Mack hasn't had any trouble about signing up the world's champions and he has several over besides. The Federals would do little business with any of the Athletics and they know it and wisely keep away. Thomas, Dan Murphy, Coombs and Plank are the only men who haven't signed and they are all ready to send in their contracts. Mack is one of the very few managers who is not getting additional grey hairs just now.

The coast artillery games at the Irvington street armory Saturday night will draw an immense crowd as usual. Between five and six hundred athletes will compete in these games. Harvard has the largest number of entries. Thirty-seven Crimson runners will be entered in the 440-yard dash alone and practically the entire squad will be in uniform.

MAN NEARLY MURDERED

Albina Pecance pleaded not guilty, through his attorney, Lawyer J. Joseph O'Connor, to assault and battery upon Manuel J. Espinola. Lawyer Daniel J. Donahue appeared for the prosecution.

One of the doctors from St. John's hospital testified that the complainant came to the hospital with his head split open and several abrasions about the face. He was in the hospital 13 days. The physician further stated that the complainant had a partial paralysis of his left leg and left arm but that both were cured before he left the hospital. Lawyer Donahue examined the witness at some length and finally had complainant and doctor retire while the latter made another examination. After the examination the physician said that there was still evidence that the complainant had suffered an injury but that neither his arm nor leg was useless or greatly injured at present.

The complainant testified that the defendant hit him over the head with the leg of a table just outside of Parker's bobbin shop on Lawrence street on Dec. 18th. The blow came as the climax of a lengthy argument. Witness said he was taken to St. John's hospital where he later was stricken with an epileptic fit. He said that he had never had such an attack before.

The defendant took the stand and testified that the actions of the complainant had made life unbearable for him and the blow came as the result of insults which had been heaped upon him by the complainant. Judge Enright found the defendant guilty and ordered him to pay a fine of $75.

Thomas McCaffrey had no money and no job and didn't just know what he was going to do. He was picked up as one of three suspicious characters who were called before Judge Enright this morning. The court sent him to jail for three months on the charge of vagrancy.

Mary O'Malley, alias Agnes Diamond, was charged with the larceny of $125 from John Dark, and pleaded not guilty. Her case was continued until next Saturday.

Frank M. Donahue was sent to the house of correction for a term of four months on the charge of not supporting his wife.

Henry Greenhalge was charged with the unlawful sale of a half pint of liquor. Greenhalge works for C. F. Cunningham on Fayette street. The police claim that the defendant sold a half pint bottle of whiskey contrary to law. The case was continued until next Tuesday.

Moise Grenier was charged with neglecting his wife. The woman testified that her husband abused her when he got drunk. The defendant was given a suspended sentence to the house of correction on condition that he pay his wife $4 per week.

RESCUED 300 AT SEA

CAPT. HOAZ, WHO HAD EVENTFUL CAREER AS STEAMSHIP COMMANDER, DIED YESTERDAY

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Captain Richard Hoaz, who retired a year ago after a long and eventful career as a steamship commander, died yesterday at his home in Brooklyn at the age of 71 years.

Possibly the most notable of several heroic deeds in which Captain Hoaz figured was his rescue of 300 passengers and the crews of the Merida and the Admiral Farragut when those steamships came in collision May 12, 1911.

FUNERALS

LIVINGSTON—The funeral of Lauriston B. Livingston took place this morning at 10.30 o'clock from his late residence, 43 Royal street. The services were conducted by Rev. James M. Clark, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. Appropriate selections were sung by Mrs. George E. Burns. The casket was placed in the receiving tomb in the Woodlawn cemetery at Nashua, N. H. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker George W. Bentley.

SHANNON—The funeral of the late Patrick Shannon took place this morning at 8 o'clock from his late home, 3.0 South street. The funeral cortege proceeded to St. Peter's church, where at 9 o'clock a funeral mass of requiem was sung by Rev. John Burns. The bearers were Patrick Hammersley, Charles McNulty, William Burtt, Patrick Maroney, Patrick Dunlavey and Joseph Fox. Burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery, where Rev. Fr. Burns read the final prayers. Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons in charge.

ACT ON TRUST MESSAGE

Five Bills to Carry Out Suggestions of President Being Completed in Congress

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Five bills to carry out the suggestions of President Wilson's trust message were being completed in congress today.

The bills will embrace the following:

An interstate trade commission with inquisitorial powers into corporations and authority to aid the court and keep big business within the law.

A Sherman law definition bill which would define specifically what constitutes conspiracy in restraint of trade.

A general trade relations measure seeking to eliminate cut-throat competition in business and which would provide punishment for individuals and make it possible for firms and individuals injured by unlawful business restraint to avail themselves of findings against combinations and institute suits in equity for relief.

Following a conference last night at the White House members of the house judiciary and senate interstate commerce committees went to the capitol today with the program as outlined in mind and revision of tentative drafts of measures already prepared was undertaken.

Senator Newlands, chairman of the committee which will have charge of the legislation in the senate and Chairman Clayton and Representatives Carlin and Floyd of the house judiciary sub-committee on trust legislation were in conference with the president.

Representative Adamson, chairman of the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce which will have jurisdiction over the bills relating to government supervision of railroad securities and interstate trade commission expects to confer with the president today or tomorrow. There is already pending before his committee a railroad securities bill drawn by himself, which will form the basis for the administration measure.

Senator Newlands was with the president only a short time laying before him a redraft of his bill for an interstate trade commission. Mr. Newlands proposed consolidating the various bills into a single administration measure. The question, however, was not determined finally and perhaps will not be settled until the bills take more definite form and are ready to be reported from the congressional committees.

Senator Newlands also discussed vacancies on the interstate commerce committee with the president. Nominations are expected within a few days.

After the house judiciary committee had taken up its work, Chairman Clayton said they hoped to introduce the trust bills tomorrow or Friday. The question of consolidating the three bills amending the sherman law prohibiting price cutting, making suit personal and defining the limits of the Sherman law in a single measure, was discussed.

4 PERSONS KILLED

Explosion Wrecks Huge Building in Ottawa—Cattle Perished

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 21.—Four persons are known to have been killed and several injured in an explosion which early today wrecked Howick pavilion, a huge cement and steel structure at the exhibition grounds, where Ottawa's winter fair is being held. In the confusion that followed the explosion it was impossible at first to accurately ascertain the number killed and it was feared that some may have been buried in the debris. Many horses and cattle perished. The building caught fire after the explosion in the heating plant, but firemen were able to check the flames.

FIND SUBMARINE

PLYMOUTH, England, Jan. 21.—The British submarine, "A 7," which disappeared on Friday last during maneuvers in Plymouth sound, was located today on the bottom at a depth of 200 feet.

GOLF PROFESSIONALS IN EAST

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Two notable additions to the ranks of the golf professionals resident in the east will be made shortly. It was announced some time ago that Louis Tellier of France had been engaged by the Canoe Country club of Summit, New Jersey, and it has been learned that Tellier intends to sail for New York next Saturday. James M. Barnes, who has been at Tacoma for the last four or five years, will come to the Whitemarsh Valley Country club near Philadelphia.

MAN ROLLED 150 FEET

WAS STRUCK BY TRAIN AT PEABODY—IN CENTER OF SNOWBALL WHEN ASSISTANCE ARRIVED

PEABODY, Jan. 21.—A crowd of commuters on the platform of the Boston & Maine depot here saw Alexander McGregor, an elderly man, struck and probably fatally injured by a train today. McGregor was rolled nearly 150 feet through the wet snow and was in the center of a snowball more than six feet in diameter when assistance reached him.

STRIKE IN FALL RIVER

FALL RIVER, Jan. 21.—Another strike of folders occurred today when the hands employed at the Barnaby mill left their work. They seek an increase in wages. They have been receiving $13.50 per week and want an advance to thirty cents an hour, which would average $16.50 a week for them.

N. E. SHOE INDUSTRY

BOSTON, Jan. 21.—John S. Kent, president of the New England Shoe and Leather Association, declared at the annual meeting of the association despite tariff legislation which was expected to prove a detriment, the shoe business in New England is in a satisfactory condition. He urged the association to use its influence in defeating the so-called pure goods bill now before congress, saying that such legislation would advance the price of shoes to the wearer and offer a serious menace to the manufacturer.

REPEAL CHILD LABOR LAW

Sen. Doyle Says It Was Mistake of the Well-Meaning and a Hardship to the Ambitious

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—Representatives of labor in the textile centers of Massachusetts will urge the legislature to repeal the child labor law which was passed last year.

Senator Andrew P. Doyle of New Bedford has introduced a petition for the repeal of this law and he has been promised the support of all members of the house from the manufacturing cities.

Senator Doyle says the bill was passed last year over the objections of the members who were qualified to speak for labor and the results of the administration of the law have been just what were predicted. The senator says that the income of many deserving families has been reduced to the point of deprivation and the children have not been benefited by the operation of the statute.

"Healthy children should be permitted to work in mills," says the senator. "There was a time when it would have been wise to forbid the employment of children in the textile industry. When I, at the age of 10, went into the mill conditions were deplorable. But now working in a mill is not injurious to a child of 14. The workrooms are sanitary and healthful, the machinery is protected so the hazards are reduced to almost nothing. The work is not exhausting for a child and the influence is not harmful.

"The rooms in a mill are warm, but the children are properly dressed for it and their health does not suffer. There is no more danger of tuberculosis or other disease in a mill than there is in a school room. Children are so safeguarded in our textile industries that very rarely do you hear of injuries.

Mistake of the Well-Meaning

"The child labor law was advocated by well-meaning persons who have taken the cases of parents who exploit their children as typical and conclusive, and they have not had access to the evidence of respectable, ambitious parents who permitted their children of 14 years to enter the mills in order that the younger children might be comfortably housed, properly fed and educated.

"There would be no objection to children of 14 working in the mills if we had an eight-hour day, I believe, but we cannot expect an eight-hour day in the textile industry in Massachusetts so long as direct competitors are permitted to work their operatives longer hours. I believe that the enactment of the child labor law took out of the mills about 1000 children who up to that time had contributed to the support of their families.

Conditions in New Bedford

"Speaking only of conditions that have come under my observation in my own city of New Bedford, I can say that the law has worked a great injustice to many honest, hard-working and well-meaning people, who are as fond of their children and as anxious to have them secure an education as are the men and women who advocated the child labor law.

"In New Bedford we have the highest class of textile operatives in the world, yet in my city there is great opposition to the child labor law among the most respectable operatives. In many families living expenses have had to be reduced. Children who formerly earned as much as $8 a week not only are deprived of this opportunity, but they are not as well fed and as well clothed as before. Moreover, they are running wild in the streets.

"I know of families that lived fairly well on the combined earnings of the father and one or two children in the mills, while the mother was able to remain at home and care for the younger children. Since the passage of the child labor law the mother has been obliged to go into the mill to help support the family, and the children, consequently, have been free of restraint during the day.

Juvenile Crime Increased

"The boy and girl of 14 or 15 years who formerly worked in the mill is now on the street and under no discipline. The police have been complaining of the great growth of the hoodlum element since the law became operative. It is a fact that cases of petty larceny, assaults and other minor crimes have increased 500 per cent in New Bedford since the child labor law went into effect.

"The child labor law was passed through the instrumentality of persons who are honest and earnest, but who have not been in touch with real conditions.

"The people injured by the child labor law are the self-respecting majority of whom the settlement worker and the uplifter never hears. In New Bedford I know of families that depended on the earnings of the children who were able and eager to work in the mills, but unless you lived among them you would never know that they could not live comfortably if the children were idle.

Hardship to the Ambitious

"Working in a textile mill in present conditions is not slavery. A boy who goes into a cotton mill at the age of 14 has a chance to develop, just as a boy who goes into any other business. They talk about the necessity of a technical education, but the executive positions in our textile industries are not held by graduates of the technical schools, they are held by men who went into the mills as boys and worked up.

"By this child labor law you are driving the mothers into the mills instead of keeping them at home to care for their families.

"The opposition to the child labor law comes from the working people of every textile city in Massachusetts. Those who oppose the law are not the parents who wish to live off the earnings of their children, but are the fathers and mothers who have the welfare of their children at heart and realize that the work is not injurious and the earnings of the children are a positive necessity to the family.

"We hope to secure the repeal of the law."

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Henry Siegel of the private banking firm of Henry Siegel & Co. and of the department store enterprises now in the hands of receivers, took the place of his partner, Frank E. Vogel as a witness before Special Examiner George Holt today.

Ex-Judge Holt was recently appointed examiner by the United States circuit court at the request of the receivers of the bank and the stores to obtain information regarding loans by the bank and transactions between the bank and the stores.

Frank E. Vogel testified at the first hearing yesterday and will be again examined two weeks hence, when he is to bring his private banking books and vouchers. His testimony yesterday was to the effect that money deposited in the private bank of Henry Siegel & Co. was used for making loans to various department stores identified with the Siegel corporation and that while his investments in the enterprises amounted to $1,400,000 but a few thousands of this money remains in his possession today.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS

For Evening Social Centre—Plans Discussed at Y.W.C.A. Rooms

The possibility of inaugurating the evening centre movement in Lowell was discussed yesterday afternoon, in one of the Y. W. C. A. class rooms. The meeting was addressed by R. E. Hawley, acting director of the work in Boston. Everybody was interested and heartily in favor of the proposition to extend the use of the public school. School Committeeman Perry D. Thompson was present and agreed to go over the matter with the school committee and report back to a special committee consisting of Rev. C. R. Skinner, Miss Elizabeth Kennedy and Robert F. Marden, at another meeting to be held later.

The meeting yesterday afternoon was called to order by Mr. Skinner. The question of financing the work was agreed to be the most difficult one to overcome. The proposition of going before the legislature for permission to levy a small special tax, as was done in Boston, received favorable consideration. It was agreed that the first step, however, was to obtain from the school committee an expression of opinion in the matter, and a statement of how much the committee would be able and willing to do toward furthering such a movement.

Mr. Hawley said that the movement should be one for men and women of all ages, American and foreign born, and also for the young people over 14 years of age, who do not attend the day school. The idea of the movement seems to be, to make the school a social centre for the community, where all will meet together to enjoy the various clubs organized and entertainments given. When properly under way, it is proposed to have, if the movement is put through, various clubs, for men and women, boys and girls,—not formed by leaders for the people, but by the people themselves; such clubs as any particular group wishes to have, such as musical, dramatic, mothers clubs, sewing clubs, etc. It is not advised by Mr. Hawley that it be in any sense an evening school, but a recreation centre, and a self-governing body. He considers the school committee the best body under which to place the control of the work, and he advises the use of the high school, as being more central than any other, and also better equipped in the matter of room.

In the course of his talk Mr. Hawley touched on the following points: The wider use of public schools offers opportunities for adults, native and foreign born. A place for those whose school days are long past should be provided in the school building. The older people enjoy the illustrated lectures, the discussions of the public forum, the motion picture entertainment; and the help that the men and women past middle life can give, is wanted.

The fact that hundreds of adults attend and take part in the Boston evening centres discredits those psychologists who advanced the idea that older and middle-aged men were unable to get new ideas and consequently were unable to efficiently inaugurate a reform or otherwise lead in any new movement. I would quote A. M. Dalland who made a study of the records of 400 famous men of modern times to learn "the age of the acme of mental activity as shown by the records of these men. The sixth decade has been most prolific in human achievement and may well be designated as the age of the masterwork". "Seventy-eight and a quarter per cent. closed their life work between 50 and 80 years of age, and 85 per cent. after the 50th year."

The daily observations of any one would furnish other proofs if such were necessary to show that adults advanced in years are fully qualified to lead any new movement. All adults have a part in the evening centre. It is the one place where citizens can meet upon common ground and equal terms to discuss civic and economic questions and other subjects pertaining to the common welfare. Here they may get unbiassed information about proposed laws and appropriations. A voter is thus enabled to cast his ballot for what he wants having an intelligent understanding of that for which his vote is asked.

THOUSANDS HAVE KIDNEY TROUBLE AND DON'T KNOW IT

Weak and unhealthy kidneys cause so much sickness and suffering and when through neglect or other causes, kidney trouble is permitted to continue, serious results may be expected.

Your other organs may need attention—but your kidneys should have attention first because their work is most important.

If you feel that your kidneys are the cause of your sickness or run down condition commence taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, because if it proves to be the remedy you need and your kidneys begin to improve they will help all the other organs to health.

Prevalency of Kidney Disease

Most people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalency of kidney disease. While kidney disorders are among the most common diseases that prevail, they are almost the last recognized by patients, who usually content themselves with doctoring the effects, while the original disease constantly undermines the system.

A Trial Will Convince Anyone

Thousands of people have testified that the mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, is soon realized and that it stands the highest for its remarkable results in the most distressing cases.

Symptoms of Kidney Trouble

Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you suffer from annoying bladder troubles, frequently passing water night and day, smarting or irritation in passing, brick-dust or sediment, headache, backache, lame back, dizziness, poor digestion, sleeplessness, nervousness, heart disturbance due to bad kidney trouble, skin eruptions from bad blood, neuralgia, rheumatism, lumbago, bloating, irritability, wornout feeling, lack of ambition, may be loss of flesh or sallow complexion, kidney trouble in its worst form may be stealing upon you.

Swamp-Root is Pleasant to Take

If you are already convinced that Swamp-Root is what you need, you can purchase the regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles at all drug stores.

Sample Size Bottle

SPECIAL NOTE—You may obtain a sample size bottle of Swamp-Root by enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. This gives you the opportunity to prove the remarkable merit of this medicine. They will also send you a book of valuable information, containing many of the thousands of grateful letters received from men and women who say they found Swamp-Root to be just the remedy needed in kidney, liver and bladder troubles. The value and success of Swamp-Root are so well known that our readers are advised to send for a sample size bottle. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular weekly meeting of the young ladies' Mizpah club connected with the Centralville Methodist church was held at the home of Miss Mae Swift in West Tenth street, Wednesday evening. After the business had been transacted a social hour was enjoyed, during which refreshments were served in charge of Mrs. Swift and Mrs. Whiteley, with Miss Swift as waitress. Miss Alice Peard was the pianist of the evening, and Miss Laura Callahan sang several songs.

The mother's department of the Federation of the First Congregational church held a well attended meeting yesterday afternoon at the church vestry. The president, Mrs. Otis Butler, presided, and the usual program of Scripture reading and of singing was carried out. Miss Bowen, superintendent of the Lowell General hospital, read an instructive paper on "Prophylactics; or the Prevention of Contagious Diseases." After the meeting, light refreshments were served by the following hostesses: Mrs. Guy Johnson, Mrs. Ronie Wood and Mrs. O. E. Coon.

The installation of the recently elected officers of Court Wannalancit, No. 171, M. C. O. F., to be held in the North Chelmsford town hall on Sunday afternoon, Feb. 1st, is likely to prove one of the chief events in the annals of this popular organization. The ceremony will be open to the general public at the request of many who have still in mind the success that attended the last public installation. The installing ceremony will be performed by the ladies' degree staff of one of the Boston courts. Vocal and instrumental selections by well known amateurs will precede the installation, which will be followed by the holding of a banquet in the lower hall. The concert and installation is open to the public, but admission to the banquet will be by ticket, the price of which is 50 cents. Tickets can be obtained from Miss Mary Garvey of Princeton street and should be secured by Thursday, Jan. 29.

the criminal ladder. I was stigmatized by the members of San Francisco's so-called polite society as a bloodhound."

Here Mr. Burns alluded in a feeling manner to the support he received at that time from President Roosevelt, who upheld him in a magazine article which under the caption "Murder Is Murder," created countrywide interest.

The McNamara brothers, he stated, were far from being not the greatest offenders against society; for they were but the tools of the men higher up.

"This statement," he said, "is not that I wish to arraign class against class, for that is not my business; yet I may say some things which might sound that way."

Then he described the work which Rudolph Spreckles did for San Francisco, his native city.

"Spreckles, a man of great wealth, has devoted his life to the elimination of graft on the Pacific coast. The sacrifice of life through the intriguing of the bosses had not been enough to stir Mr. Spreckles from the civic lethargy which, as in the cases of so many of his companions, enveloped him. A drop in gas stock, in which company Mr. Spreckles was interested, started that gentleman on an investigation. Hundreds of complimentary, paid-up, gas bills had been slight offerings of the greed of the politicians. Incidentally, the city boss had been retained on the payrolls of the company at $1200 a month, though the only work he did was to draw that money. And on every corporation in the city, the boss held a similar position."

"Once into the investigation," continued Mr. Burns, "Mr. Spreckles continued heart and soul in his work of city uplift. When his efforts began to rouse the fear of his friends, the society people of San Francisco, he was threatened with social ostracism, but he never faltered. Then his work began to have its effect."

Here Mr. Burns described his manner of obtaining confessions, many of which he wrung from the San Francisco grafters. It was a simple matter, he stated. Confessions were procured by securing a previous indubitable evidence, with which the crook was confronted, and in nine cases out of ten, with his nose against the door of the penitentiary these boodlers would tell all and implicate others. This corroboration was obtained. Mr. Burns works no third degree methods.

During his San Francisco investigation, Mr. Burns' life had been threatened a number of times. "And if it had not been for Divine Providence on one occasion," he continued, "I would not be here to address you tonight." This was in reference to the attempt on his life by a hired murderer which was made in a San Francisco court. On that occasion, Attorney Francis J. Heney, the prosecuting attorney, was shot down in the courtroom.

Mr. Burns concluded by expressing the belief that there was only one way to do away with municipal corruption and that is by the election of honest city officials. The San Francisco exposure, he ended, had aroused the whole country, citizens were alive to dangers before them, and would henceforth meet them courageously and conscientously.

His talk was interspersed with numerous stories of his work illustrating the ingenious methods he adopted to catch grafters, crooks and political bosses. His talk was the most entertaining and instructive ever heard here on the subject of municipal corruption.

Charles W. Burrows

Chas. W. Burrows of Cleveland, O., spoke on the feasibility of one cent letter postage, presenting facts and figures to show that it is feasible if the government makes the magazines and other such matter pay its proportionate share. Certain kinds of second class matter, he said, most of which is advertising matter and magazines, has undue advantage. He pleaded for such a change as would place a fair proportion of the expense on second class matter, and thus enable the government to give the people one cent postage.

Gen. Pearson

Adjutant General Pearson gave a talk which was cut short by the lateness of the hour, but which presented moving pictures of militia operations of all kinds in the army and navy. It was greatly enjoyed.

At the head table were President George M. Harrigan, William J. Burns, Mayor Dennis J. Murphy, Charles W. Burrows, General Gardner W. Pearson, Rev. Charles T. Billings, Harvey B. Greene, Commissioner Charles J. Morse, Patrick O'Hearn, Frank Hanchett, William A. Mitchell, Robert F. Marden, Capt. William P. White, Harry Dunlap, E. B. Carney, Clarence H. Nelson, Hon. Henry J. Draper, Supt. Redmond Welch, Hon. Erson B. Barlow, Secretary Daniel N. Casey of the Haverhill board of trade, and George H. Rix, the traffic manager of the Lawrence chamber of commerce, Hon. Edward Fisher and A. J. Norton assistant manager of the Burns agency in Boston.

The military officers who officiated as aids and who were in uniform were, besides Adjt. Gen. Pearson, Major Chas. A. Stevens of the adjutant general's office; Capt. Lewis G. Hunton and Adjt. Harry W. Sheldon, of the Sixth regiment staff; Capt. James H. Greig, of Company K; Capt. George W. Peterson, of Company C; Capt. W. R. Joyes, of Company G, and Capt. Philip McNulty, of Company M; Lieuts. Doyle and Waller, of Company G; Master and Cashin of Company K; Powers and Duffy, of Company C, and Christian, of Company M.

PICTURES OF JUNGLE CREATURES

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—George Shiras, former congressman from Pennsylvania, and A. G. Anthony, an explorer on the staff of the American museum of natural history, will leave next week for Panama, the former to obtain flashlight pictures of the jungle creatures and the explorer to collect mammals and birds.

Gatun lake will be made the basis of operations.

CARD OF THANKS

To our many kind friends, who through their assistance, spiritual and floral offerings and heartfelt sympathy, lessened, in a measure, our sorrow in the loss of our dear mother, we wish to express our sincerest thanks and deep obligation.

Mrs. John J. Pendergast,
Miss Etta Barrett,
Mr. Fred J. Barrett,
Mr. William F. Barrett.

To the Patrons of the Middlesex Steam Laundry

Mr. Geo. H. Russell is no longer connected with this laundry.

MR. EDWARD KEARNS will be pleased to call on the customers, and I respectfully ask a continuance of the patronage so generously given me in the past. If you continue to favor me with same I shall endeavor to give as good if not better service than I have during the thirty years I have been in the laundry business.

F. F. HAINES.

ERA OF IDEALISM

For United States Under Pres. Wilson, Says Sec. Bryan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The United States is entering upon an era of idealism, in the opinion of Secretary Bryan, principal speaker at a democratic dinner last night. Secretary Bryan declared that the commercial ideal has been dominant in this country for years but that under the leadership of President Wilson a change is coming. He said that the country is entering upon a new age of ideals.

"The people were demanding that this country should no longer be used as a tool for the interests," Secretary Bryan continued:

"No man ever took up his difficult task with as brave a heart or has pursued it with more tenerity than has the president."

GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP

OF THE RAILROADS OF THE COUNTRY WILL BE FAVORED BY MINE WORKERS

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 22.—Government ownership of the railroads of the country, it appears, will be favored by the United Mineworkers of America, in convention here this week. The resolutions committee last night refused to report a proposition to call upon congress to pass a law prohibiting railroad and street car companies collecting fares from passengers not provided with seats.

There is before the committee also a resolution submitted by the union at Louisville, Colorado, urging that all available funds on hand be applied to the purchase of mines and that this policy be pursued until all the mines in the country are the property of the miners' organizations.

A co-operative wholesale supply house, under the management of the international union as a means to reduce the cost of living is provided for in a resolution from the Bear Creek, Mont., union.

MATRIMONIAL

The marriage of Mr. Charles Sheehan and Miss Margaret A. Coughlin took place at St. Peter's rectory yesterday at 6 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Fr. Mullin. The couple were attended by Mr. Edward Sheehan, the groom's cousin, and Miss Catherine G. Coughlin, a sister of the bride.

The bride was charmingly gowned in white charmeuse with pearl trimmings; she carried a bouquet of bridal roses. The bridesmaid wore king blue crepe de chine, and carried a bouquet of sweet peas. The bride's gift to her maid was a diamond studded bracelet. The best man received a pearl stickpin from the groom.

After the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride, 948 Central street, where, amid the decorations of palms and potted plants, the happy couple were greeted by relatives and friends from Dorchester, Brookline, Dedham, Brockton and this city. Here the entire party partook of a sumptuous wedding supper. The newly married couple were the recipients of many costly and useful gifts in cut glass, linen and silverware.

Mr. and Mrs. Sheehan, accompanied by their host of friends boarded the 9.41 train for Boston, whence they will journey to New York, Philadelphia and Washington, returning about Feb. 1.

GOVERNMENT OWNED R.R.

PROJECT FOR ONE IN ALASKA UP FOR VOTE IN THE SENATE TODAY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The project for a government owned and operated railroad was up for a vote in the senate today after nearly two weeks of debate. By unanimous consent it had been agreed to begin the roll call at 4 o'clock after Senators Pitman and Dillingham concluded their announced speeches on the bill and senate leaders were confident it would pass by an overwhelming non-partisan vote.

The subject is yet in the first stages of debate in the house, where Delegate Wickersham of Alaska has offered a measure virtually the same as the Chamberlain bill.

NINETEEN HORSES PERISHED

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—Nineteen horses were burned to death in a general alarm fire that destroyed the Lee & Smith stable at 14 Foster street, North Salem, last night.

The horses were valuable draft animals that had just been secured for spring sales.

The cause of the fire was an overheated stove in the harness room that adjoins the main stable. The night watchman had left the premises to use an adjoining telephone. In his absence the heat of the stove set fire to the harness room and spread quickly to the carriage sheds and main office in front.

GUILTY OF FIRING YACHT

CAPT. JOHN A. FISH OF NEW YORK CONVICTED BY JURY IN U. S. DISTRICT COURT

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—Capt. John A. Fish of New York was convicted by a jury in the United States district court yesterday on an indictment charging him with burning his yacht Senta in the harbor of Edgartown, Martha's Vineyard, to get $15,000 insurance money.

The penalty, according to the statute, is "life imprisonment or a term of years." Pending an appeal, sentence was stayed and the captain was released on $10,000 bail.

PERISHED IN HOTEL FIRE

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Jan. 22.—An unidentified man lost his life and three other persons were probably fatally burned in a fire that destroyed the National hotel, a small hostelry here early today. Several persons were injured in jumping from windows. The fire was caused by the explosion of a coal stove in the office of the building.

The Home Beauty Parlor
by Betty Dean

Marie: Your shortsightedness and squinting are probably caused by a weak and overworked condition of the eyes. I do not think your eye troubles are serious; they can be relieved with the daily application of two or three drops at a time of this simple tonic: Dissolve an ounce of crystos in a pint of water. This will be a great comfort as well as a beautifier and will prevent that squinting which is apt to make crow's-feet and lines about the eyes. Take my advice; don't worry.

Hilda: There are many methods advocated for reducing the chin; but after all, there is nothing so good as to keep down the general flesh. And this does not require any vigorous dieting or exercising if you will take this simple remedy which you can mix at home. Get four ounces of parnotis at the drugstore, and dissolve it in 1½ pints water. Take a tablespoonful before meals. It will work magic with the "dreadful double chin" and you will experience no bad effects. High collars should be worn as little as possible. They increase the tendency to flabby throat.

Miss L. G.: Here is a hair tonic which you can prepare at home at small expense and which is a genuine hair grower of the best and simplest kind. Be sure to keep your scalp clean by frequent shampooing with canthrox and then rub into your scalp this tonic, made by dissolving an ounce of quinzoin in a half pint of alcohol and adding one-half pint cold water. For all scalp troubles and badly nourished hair this is an unequalled remedy.

Olive: I never recommend a hair dye but unless I am much mistaken about your age, you should not have trouble with faded or gray hair for a long while yet. The best way in the world to stop your hair troubles is to wash with canthrox occasionally. Use a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. It is the best thing I know of to remove dandruff and prevent brittleness, split hairs, and the irritation caused by excess oil. It cleanses thoroughly, and has none of the objectionable qualities of soap or ordinary shampoos. This is very economical and easy to use, lries quickly and can be used with the very least waste of time.

Miss H. O.: Your skin trouble sounds as if it were caused by your use of ordinary face powders. They give an artificial look—especially if one is inclined to be sallow or pimpled. The very thing for you is spirmax—the best liquid lotion I know about. It is economical because you mix it yourself at home. Get 1 ounces spirmax (at any drugstore) and mix it with ½ pint hot water, add 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine, apply it to face, neck and arms. The effect will surprise you with its beauty and naturalness. It will cling as if a part of your skin, and last during an entire evening. It will not only disguise cold sores, blemishes, etc., but in time it will relieve them entirely.

Lily Dale: For your hollow cheeks and sallow, colorless skin, there is nothing better in the world than this greaseless complexion jelly which you can easily prepare at home. Get one ounce of almozoin, put it in a fruit jar, add half a pint cold water and two teaspoonfuls glycerine. Stir briskly and let stand over night. The use of this with careful massaging will improve skin-nutrition and give transparency and loveliness to the complexion. It is fine to correct pimples.

Isabel: I was glad to read of your enthusiasm about the canthrox shampoo and gladly respond also to your request for this old fashioned tonic prescription. Dissolve one-half cup sugar and one ounce kardene in one-half pint alcohol; then add enough boiling water to make a full quart. Take a tablespoonful before each meal. I think your sudden distaste for work is as you say, physical, and this tonic will, by purging the system of impurities, restore your flagging energies and spirits. MANY MEN AT WORK REMOVING THE SNOW

Charlie Morse Will Make Clean Sweep of Business Section—St. Ry. Co., Supplies Teams—Other City Hall News

Commissioner Charlie Morse put 389 men to work this morning and though it isn't snowing in Lowell today the snow is flying just the same, for a big majority of the 389 men are wielding the shovel. Others are swinging the American anchor, sometimes called pick, and a few bosses, not many, are looking on.

"Yes, siree, we are making the snow fly today," said Charlie as he unbuckled his tall overshoes and bit a cigar. "I have 389 men and 60 double teams at work and they are moving some snow, believe me. Eighteen of the sixty teams are supplied by the Bay State Street railway. Mr. Farrington told me last night that his company would supply eighteen teams for the removal of snow, but I must confess that up to the noon hour I hadn't succeeded in locating more than 13 of the eighteen teams. There are streets that I didn't get to, however, and I was told there were teams in streets not visited by me. I know Mr. Farrington is a man of his word and I am satisfied that the 18 teams have been placed all right. There won't be much snow left in the busy parts of the city when we get through today.

"The removal of the snow, as I told you yesterday, does not constitute the big cost of a snow storm. The gutters represent a greater cost than does the removal of the show. You can imagine the condition the gutters would be in if it should rain today or tomorrow. It is practically impossible to keep all the gutters clean and when the rain comes—good night! If you haven't got your gutters in good shape before the rain comes there's going to be something doing and it's going to cost a whole lot of money. But we must make up our minds to take things as they come and let it go at that."

Storage of Gasoline

At the meeting of the municipal council yesterday Commissioner Carmichael spoke about the storage of gasoline, the possibility of danger and the great necessity of the use and storage of it being looked after very carefully. He thought it would be a good plan to have the fire chief examine, at intervals, places where gasoline is kept and also to have the chief or somebody appointed by him examine, monthly, places where large amounts of paints, oils, varnish and other inflammable matedials are kept. Mr. Carmichael's suggestion received the unanimous approval of the board and he has addressed the following letter to the chief of the fire department:

Jan. 22, 1914.

Mr. Edward F. Saunders, Chief Fire Department, Lowell, Mass.:

My Dear Mr. Saunders—I wish you would examine with regularity, either by yourself or some official of the fire department, places where gasoline is kept, and report to me, and also keep a report on file with whatever recommendation you may think necessary for the safety of the neighborhood where gasoline is kept.

I would also like to have you or an officinl appointed by you examine monthly places where large amounts of paints, oils, varnish and other inflammable material are kept in the city of Lowell. Send a report of the condition of places to me, and keep a report on file at your office, with any recommendation you may believe will lessen the cause of fire in or about the premises where such goods are kept.

Yours very truly,
(Signed)
James H. Carmichael,
Commissioner of Water Works and Fire Protection.

Hard Lines There

There's a man in New Hampshire, a man of the cloth, too, who would make an Oriental trip if he could prove his title clear to American citizenship, but up to date it doesn't look very good for him. He wants to set sail Feb. 2 and having failed to obtain the necessary passports, because of lack of evidence of citizenship, he addressed a letter to City Clerk Flynn, asking for his assistance. The good man of the gospel lived in Lowell some 40 odd years ago and his father, he states in the letter, took out his naturalization papers here. The man in New Hampshire says that he and his father lived here about 16 years and that his father worked in Dugdale's mill. It is very evident that the man from the Granite state came to this country as a boy and has never been naturalized for had he been naturalized it is argued that he would not require his father's naturalization papers in order to obtain passports. The city clerk has looked up hill and down dale for the much-needed naturalization papers, but has failed to find them. His has been a diligent but useless search and, being a very kind-hearted man, he feels rather badly about it. There is food for reflection, however, in this little story. There's many a man in Lowell who would like to make the oriental trip if he had the money. They could prove their title clear to citizenship all right, but the long green—that's the rub. On the other hand, the New Hampshire man has the long green, but "sans" on the other paper. Ischkabibble!

MAYOR BARRY TO QUIT

BOSTON, Jan. 22—Mayor J. Edward Barry of Cambridge is silent when asked to talk about the Charlestown prison and his opinion on the desirability of becoming the successor to Warden Bridges. He did announce yesterday noon that he will not be a candidate for re-election for a fourth term in the mayor's chair.

This was considered by some to be an indication that he had come to some definite agreement with the democratic powers that be.

GAMBLING CAUSED DOWNFALL

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—Thomas L. Milstead of Philadelphia, who surrendered to the Boston police Tuesday night, in the city prison yesterday told the officials that gambling had caused his downfall.

Milstead is held waiting the arrival of the Philadelphia police. His story to the police officers is like an allegory on the lure of the gaming table.

HENRY SIEGEL SAYS THAT HE IS PENNILESS

Head of Chain of Dry Goods Enterprises, Which Failed Recently, Testifies That He Has No Income and No Money—Forced to Sell Mansion

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Henry Siegel, head of a chain of drygoods enterprises, most of which failed recently, took the witness stand this afternoon before a special master appointed in the receivership proceedings and testified that he was practically penniless.

"I used to draw $4000 salary every month from my stores," he said. "Now I have no income. I haven't a cent."

Siegel told of the organization of the Siegel stores corporation which he and Frank Vogel formed as a holding company to take over the Siegel stores in Chicago, New York and Boston. He said the common stock of the company owned in most part by myself and Vogel was given them for their share in the stores. The preferred stock—$2,000,000 in all and paying seven per cent—was sold for cash in England and Scotland, very little being retained in America.

He was asked where this $2,000,000 in cash went. He could positively account for only $500,000 of it. Of this $330,595 went to the Fourteenth store, $62,000 to the Boston store and $68,324 to the Simpson Crawford Co., all of which failed.

Siegel related how he had been forced to quit his magnificent home in Madison avenue, mortgaging it for $145,000, and how he sold his country estate.

FLASHLIGHT PICTURE OF PORTION OF BANQUET HALL

The New Year banquet of the board of trade held at the armory last night was a record-breaker, not only in point of attendance but in the entertainment furnished, for the address of William J. Burns, the world famed detective, was of the most absorbing interest, dealing as it did with the detection and conviction of criminals, and he has accomplished more in this line than any other man now living.

This was followed by an address by Charles W. Burrows, president of the Association for One Cent Postage, and by an illustrated talk by Adjt.-Gen. Pearson, which was highly instructive.

Rev. C. T. Billings invoked the divine blessing the members and their friends sat down to a bountiful supper served by the D. L. Page Co. The tables covered practically the entire floor of the great drill shed, yet despite the record number in attendance the affair was carried out without a hitch, due to the antecedent hard work of Secretary John H. Murphy and his assistant committees.

There were nearly 500 men arranged at the tables. President Harrigan did not waste any time in his introductory remarks, but simply stated the main objects of the board of trade, the lines of endeavor followed for the uplift of the city. He then called upon Mayor Murphy to respond to the toast, "The City of Lowell."

Mayor Murphy

Mayor Murphy, in a short address, expressed the appreciation which he felt on behalf of the city at having such a patriotic citizen as Mr. Burns addressing the board of trade of Lowell. He commended that body for its progressive work in city building, re-

MORTON MILLS CLOSED

The Morton Mill Co., manufacturers of narrow silk fabrics, a firm that has been doing business in Lowell for over a year, with a payroll of about $2500 a week and a force of about 150 employes, has suspended all operations and now the superintendent of the plant, Richard Godfrey, is the only man about the premises and his duties are to liquidate and sell out the machinery as fast as purchasers can be found. The financial condition, according to the superintendent, is good and the liquidation is a voluntary one, the cause of it being, that a suitable plant for the manufacturing of silk fabrics could not be located in Lowell.

The company decided to liquidate last November and immediately the force of employes was reduced and as fast as the remaining orders were filled in more help was released. The last clerk and laborer in the employ of the company were discharged Tuesday and now when a lot of machinery is sold, outsiders are hired to pack it in cars for shipment under the supervision of the superintendent.

The company owns a large manufacturing building in Paterson, N. J., where its headquarters were formerly located. The plant while located at Paterson was running full time and the company had no trouble in securing experienced help. Labor troubles arose, however, and finally it was decided to move the machinery to Lowell and accordingly a spare building of the Hamilton Mfg. Co., in Jackson street was secured. Several experienced hands were brought to this city and local help was hired and at one time when the plant was under the direction of Former Superintendent B. J. Clark, about 150 people were employed and the payroll was about $2500 a week.

The company had a hard problem to solve, and that was the dyeing of the silk, for no plant that could do the work properly could be found in this vicinity and the goods had to be shipped to Paterson and then returned to Lowell, and that meant considerable expense. The Lowell plant, according to the present superintendent, has not the required daylight for silk manufacturing and the result was that the help would work a few weeks and as soon as they became efficient, their eyesight troubled them and most of them would seek employment elsewhere.

Richard Godfrey, the present superintendent, took charge last August, when Supt. Clark went to Worcester, and three months later he was given orders to refuse all new orders and close up the business. Mr. Godfrey stated this morning that the company was doing excellent business but the profits were very small.

SUDDEN DEATH OF FAMOUS AVIATOR

During Career C. K. Hamilton Had Collarbone Broken Twice, Ribs Fractured, Arm Dislocated, Knee Fractured and Legs Broken

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Charles K. Hamilton, who gained fame as an aviator by flying from New York to Philadelphia and return, died suddenly today at his home in this city. His wife was aroused by Hamilton's groaning and she hurriedly summoned a physician. But the aviator was dead before the doctor reached the house. The cause of death was internal hemorrhage. Hamilton was 28 years old.

Hamilton has been in poor health for more than two years and recently suffered a nervous breakdown. His former home was New Britain, Conn. During his career as an aviator he had many accidents. His collarbone was broken twice, two ribs were fractured, his left arm was dislocated, his right knee cap fractured, both legs dislocated and he suffered other minor hurts. He began first with flights on kites and dirigible balloons and then took up the aeroplane.

STEAMER PICKS UP CREW

Members of Crew of Five Masted Schooner, Which Was Abandoned During Storm, Rescued

PORTLAND, Me., Jan. 22—The crew of the missing five-masted schooner Prescott Palmer were picked up by a steamer which landed them at Bermuda today, according to a telegram received by the owners today. The schooner was abandoned during the severe storm last week. The cablegram was sent by Captain George A. Carlisle of Boothbay Harbor, master of the Palmer.

The cablegram contained no indication of the position of the schooner when abandoned and did not state whether all of the crew were saved, but it was assumed they were.

The Prescott Palmer is the last of the missing vessels to be accounted for. Of the others the five-masted Fuller Palmer was abandoned and the crew rescued and taken to Boston by the steamer Marina, the five-master Grace A. Martin sank off Matinicus Rock and the crew were picked up 24 hours later and taken into Boston by the steamer A. W. Perry and the four-masted schooner Northland was found in distress off the entrance to Penobscot bay and towed into Rockland with all hands safe.

MRS. GOELET ASKS DIVORCE

NEWPORT, R. I., Jan. 22.—Mrs. Robert Goelet, formerly Miss Elsie Whelan of Philadelphia, is seeking a divorce from her husband on the grounds of extreme cruelty, which is permissible under the laws of this state.

The petition asking for the divorce was filed with Sydney D. Harvey, clerk of the superior court for Newport county, just before 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Goelet was married to Mr. Goelet on June 14, 1904, at Wayne, Pa. Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, then Miss Alice Roosevelt, was among the bridesmaids.

OFFICER GIVEN HEARING

The hearing of Patrolman John W. Mahan before the special board appointed by the mayor to hear the complaints preferred by Supt. Welch and witnesses occurred last night in the court of special sessions. The trial board is composed of Captain Atkinson and Sergeants Duncan and Maguire.

It was charged that Officer Mahan was guilty of violating rule 19 of the police manual and the bill of particulars set forth in the complaint stated that "on Sunday evening, Jan. 11, said officer, while on duty, drank intoxicating liquor; that on the same evening, while off duty, he used harsh, vile and profane language toward Michael Malowicz, in a house located in East Merrimack street, and that said officer while in said house at or about the same time did unlawfully take hold of Annie Sukolosky and push her twice, the first push causing her to fall against the table; that on the same evening and on the same premises he engaged in conversation with Michael Malowicz and others without any cause thereof."

Michael Malowicz was the first witness and it was found necessary to employ an interpreter. Malowicz stated that he lived at 22 Howe street and that on the evening named in the complaint, he was in a house on East Merrimack street where a party was being given in his honor. Witness said that he was to be married and his friends had arranged the affair for this reason.

Witness testified that while he was in the house, Officer Mahan entered in uniform and went into a sideroom where he partook of one bottle and three glasses of beer. This was before 6 o'clock. That night, said the witness the officer came back, this time in citizen's clothes, and had several more drinks. While the officer was there, trouble occurred and the witness ordered the defendant to leave the premises. Instead, said Malowicz, Officer Mahan swore at him and made threats to "get him." During the argument the officer pushed Annie Sukolosky in the face and she fell to the floor. Later, said the witness, Officer Maloney appeared upon the scene and quieted the disturbance.

The witness was put through a rigid cross examination by Lawyer William A. Hogan, counsel for Officer Mahan. Witness acknowledged that he had drunk heavily of intoxicants on the night in question, but refused to admit that he was drunk.

The next witness was a fifteen year old girl named Sofia Lutowski. She was also present at the festivities described by Malowicz and her story was practically the same as that told by the former witness. Officer Mahan, she added, brought a bunch of roses for a girl named Stella when he made his second call on the merry makers. At this time he drank seven or eight glasses of beer, said the girl. She said the affair was one of the pre-nuptial feasts which are always celebrated by the Polish people and that twenty kegs of beer and a large amount of whiskey was in the house for the guests to partake of. Witness said that Malowicz was not drunk.

Officer Maloney, who has the beat where the trouble occurred, was the next witness. He testified that when he went to work on the Sunday night in question Officer Wilson apprised him of the fact that a wedding feast was in progress in the house already referred to. The feast had been going on for 24 hours at that time, the officer said, and advised Patrolman Maloney to keep a watch on the actions of the merry makers.

The cuteries of children called the witness' attention to the house and witness immediately entered. Inside the house he found a "rough house" in progress and the defendant was in the centre of it. Witness said he asked officer Mahan what the trouble was and that the latter replied that one of the girls wished him, Mahan, to take her home and that her parents and friends then interferred. While Officer Maloney was talking over the affair a tonic bottle was heaved at his head or at least thrown close to the officer's cranium. Witness then grabbed a woman and restrained her from throwing a beer glass at the defendant. He then advised Officer Mahan to leave the premises and left himself. Lieut. Freeman testified that he had called at Officer Mahan's house later on the same night and asked him about the affair. The defendant said that he had been to the house in citizen's clothes but not in uniform. While there defendant admitted that he had taken one glass of beer.

Annie Sokolsky corroborated the statements of the other witnesses. She said that Patrolman Mahan had pushed her violently and that at the time she carried a baby in her arms. She was cross-examined for a short time by Mr. Hogan. The hearing was adjourned at 10.30 o'clock and continued until Thursday night.

THE BANK OF ENGLAND

ENABLED TODAY TO REDUCE ITS MINIMUM RATE OF DISCOUNT TO FOUR PERCENT

LONDON, Jan. 22.—The bank of England was enabled today to reduce its minimum rate of discount to four per cent, owing to the improvement in the monetary situation both here and abroad and to the settlement of the South African general strike. The fact that the German bank rate also was lowered today and the belief that the French bank rate will soon follow suit make market experts confidently anticipate a further reduction of the English bank rate in a week or two.

A HAPPY CHILD IN JUST A FEW HOURS

Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs" because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, and they become tightly packed, liver gets sluggish and stomach disordered.

When cross, feverish, restless, see if tongue is coated, then give this delicious "fruit laxative." Children love it, and it cannot cause injury. No difference what ails your little one—if full of cold, or a sore throat, diarrhoea, stomach-ache, bad breath, remember, a gentle "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." We make no smaller size. Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

A SLEIGH RIDE

Enjoyed Last Night by Choir of Immaculate Conception Church

Members of the choir of the Immaculate Conception church, the ushers and others actively engaged in the affairs of the parish, numbering about 70 in all, met last evening at the parochial residence at 7.30 o'clock and enjoyed a sleighride to North Billerica where dancing was enjoyed in the town hall after all the jolly company had partaken of a hearty supper.

The evening was ideal for sleighing. The snow lay deep and even on the roads and the temperature was not low enough to make riding uncomfortable, yet cold enough to make the many blankets and fur robes provided desirable. All who lived along the roads traversed going and coming must have known easily that the passengers on the two sleighs were members of a church choir, by the excellence of the music that floated out on the night air. One moment there would be a strain of operatic song and the next a lively lilting tune appropriate to the delights of sleighing. Occasionally there was a rollicking bit of ragtime such as one never hears in church choirs. But then they were out for a good time and they were determined to find it. That they succeeded goes without question.

Rev. Lawrence Tighe, O. M. I., the pastor, and Rev. Owen McQuaid, O. M. I., accompanied the merrymakers and Mrs. Hugh Walker, organist and Mr. Charles P. Courtney, director of the choir, did much to keep things moving briskly. After the turkey supper which was as complete regarding fixin's as it was hearty, Rev. Fr. Tighe spoke briefly, thanking all who had given so generously of their services to the church during the year. He referred to the treat of the evening not as payment in any way, but as a slight token of appreciation.

The dancing which continued until midnight was of an informal nature, the company joining hands frequently in a large circle and playing games of childhood or otherwise giving expression to the happiness that they all seemed to feel. There was no "younger" or "older," but all entered into the spirit of the occasion and played and danced with the zest of children. Before the party piled into the sleighs for the return trip, rousing cheers were given for Fr. Tighe, Fr. McQuaid and the others present who had charge of the party, together with the Rev. E. J. Fox, O. M. I., an invited guest.

CALLS GAFFNEY 'BAGMAN'

SULZER TESTIFIED AT GRAFT INQUIRY—SENATOR O'GORMAN IMPLICATED

NEW YORK, Jan. 22—Senator O'Gorman declined today to make any comment on the testimony given by ex-Gov. Sulzer at the John Doe inquiry.

"The senator wishes to refrain from making any statement at present because he may be called upon later to appear in the proceedings," his secretary said.

Sulzer yesterday testified that Senator O'Gorman advised him at a meeting in Washington in March, 1913, not to appoint James E. Gaffney as commissioner of highways and told him that Gaffney was the "bagman" for Charles F. Murphy, the Tammany leader.

The John Doe inquiry with Sulzer again on the stand will be resumed tomorrow. The former governor will have an opportunity today to tell his story to the grand jury.

MURDER CHARGE

Capt. Matroni Adjudged Probably Guilty of Barge Murder

NEW BEDFORD, Jan. 21.—After a preliminary hearing yesterday, Chas. Matroni, captain of the barge Snipe, was adjudged probably guilty of the murder of Annie Walsh, and was held without bail for the February term of the superior court.

Louis Therrien, the principal witness, was held in the sum of $500 for his appearance and Flora Therrien and Mrs. Mary Keough, two government witnesses, were allowed to go on their personal recognizance.

Women Everywhere

Praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Women from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from all sections of this great country, no city so large, no village so small but that some woman has written words of thanks for health restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. No woman who is suffering from the ills peculiar to her sex should rest until she has given this famous remedy a trial. Is it not reasonable to believe that what it did for these women it will do for any sick woman?

Wonderful Case of Mrs. Stephenson, on the Pacific Coast.

INDEPENDENCE, OREGON.—"I was sick with what four doctors called Nervous Prostration, was treated by them for several years, would be better for a while then back in the old way again. I had palpitation of the heart very bad, fainting spells, and was so nervous that a spoon dropping to the floor would nearly kill me, could not lift the lightest weight without making me sick; in fact was about as sick and miserable as a person could be. I saw your medicines advertised and thought I would try them, and am so thankful I did for they helped me at once. I took about a dozen bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and also used the Sanative Wash. Since then I have used them whenever I felt sick. Your remedies are the only doctor I employ. You are at liberty to publish this letter."—Mrs. W. STEPHENSON, Independence, Oregon.

A Grateful Atlantic Coast Woman.

HODGDON, ME.—"I feel it a duty I owe to all suffering women to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. One year ago I found myself a terrible sufferer. I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely straighten up at times. My back ached, I had no appetite and was so nervous I could not sleep, then I would be so tired mornings that I could scarcely get around. It seemed almost impossible to move or do a bit of work and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation. I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman. I had no pains, slept well, had good appetite and was fat and could do almost all my own work for a family of four. I shall always feel that I owe my good health to your medicine."—Mrs. HAYWARD SOWERS, Hodgdon, Maine.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justice to herself if she does not try this famous medicine made from roots and herbs, which contains no narcotics or harmful drugs; it has restored to many suffering women to health.

CIRCUIT AN EXPERIMENT

The new circuit of the New England league which will go into effect with the first league game of 1911 will be an experiment in a way. Lewiston and Fitchburg, the two unknowns, will be tried out and Haverhill, which was given a rest last season, will be practically the same as an experiment. If Haverhill doesn't show some real signs of baseball enthusiasm this coming season it will probably be the last team that will be seen here for years to come.

French Players for Lewiston

Lewiston ought to prove a good city for the league at least for two or three years. Baseball has been nothing but a hearsay sport down there for so long that the real things should draw big especially if the team which represents them is passing strong.

Lewiston has a large French population and if the management of the club are wise they will import a couple of French ball players. In all the amateur games which have been played there during the time since the league departed the town the best drawing cards, individually, have been of French extraction. Give Lewiston a team with one or two Frenchmen in the lineup and the ball yard will attract more people.

The baseball atmosphere out Fitchburg way has cleared up appreciably since the street car company and business men took a hand in proceedings. Now all they are asking for is a first division team and this Fred Lake intends to produce. If Lake tries to make money with a mediocre club in Fitchburg he will lose out and, not only that, but he will spoil the town irrevocably for anyone else. Fitchburg, however, at best will never develop any gold mine properties to the owners of a franchise.

Murnane Backs Up Ban

Our old friend, Tim Murnane, who really is president of the New England league whether the fans ever see him or not, rises to remark that Ban Johnson is right when he says that there is little or no money in baseball for the magnates. Here is what Timothy has to say on the subject:

"I think Ban Johnson of the American league uttered words of wisdom when he declared that an outsider breaking into the game at this late date could do no harm to organized baseball and eventually would show the great baseball public how little money is made in the sport. Not two dozen clubs in the 42 leagues comprising the major and minor organizations of this country have made money, taking the last five years to figure on. The minors are in perfect accord with the majors. Any organization that goes against this cemented structure will need a stick of dynamite to make an impression on the baseball combinations."

If it wouldn't be impertinent, Mr. Murnane, we would like to inquire whether or not there is any financial succor to be gleaned by guiding the destinies of the "little old league?" Of course; we heard a few rumors to the effect that the two league presidents grabbed off a big slice of the Lowell-Hartford series, but we wouldn't confirm it after this frank statement!

McBreen at Haverhill

The latest development in the Haverhill baseball situation, with which Daniel F. Clohecy is dallying, is the report that Hugh McBreen, former secretary of the Boston American league club, is to take an interest in the local franchise. No apparent progress has been made in the matter of the 30 days' option on the proposed Hillsdale avenue grounds. In the minds of those personally interested, the new site is beyond the grasp of Clohecy and his associates, although in justice to Clohecy it should be borne in mind that he has in the past accomplished many feats of magic in the baseball world and there is at least a ghost of a chance that he may repeat. The rental of Cashman's field for baseball purposes would be $350 a month, $50 more than Athletic park has cost, while the cost of installing a baseball plant would greatly exceed the cost of repairing the River street grounds.—Haverhill Gazette.

LOWELL WOMAN ARRAIGNED

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—In the city police court 12 persons were arraigned on charges of larceny from downtown department stores, all of them being women, whose ages ranged from 18 to 27 years. In ten cases fines, aggregating $115, were imposed, and in the other two cases suspended sentences of a month were given.

Dora E. Lawrence and Florence Martin, who live in Myrtle street, West End, but whose homes are in Lowell and Lawrence, respectively, were given the suspended sentences. They were warned to leave the city and not to repeat what was shown to have been a deliberate attempt to steal from the stores.

RIGHT LEG BROKEN

After attending the evening performance at the Lowell Opera House, Mrs. Mary McShea of West Third street, fell on the sidewalk on Central street and sustained a fractured right leg. She was removed to her home in an automobile and medical aid summoned and after examination was removed to St. John's hospital for treatment. In was stated at the hospital this morning that the woman was resting comfortably.

NEWS OF LEGISLATURE

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—The council chamber was the center of attraction at the state house yesterday afternoon, for in that room Frank J. Donahue of Boston took the oath of office for another term of service as secretary of the commonwealth, and the following recently elected executive officers of the state were sworn in for the first time: Frederick W. Mansfield of Boston, treasurer and receiver general; Frank B. Pope of Leominster, auditor, and Thomas J. Boynton of Everett, attorney general.

The ceremony came soon after 3 o'clock. The retiring officers, Treasurer Stevens, Auditor White and Attorney General Swift, escorted their successors to the council chamber, where Gov. Walsh administered the oath of office to the new men. The lieutenant governor and all the members of the council were present, and Mrs. Mansfield, Mrs. Donahue and the latter's sister also were in the room.

New Assistants to Atty. Gen

Atty. Gen. Boynton announced the appointment of the following assistants in his office: Thomas F. Riley of Malden, Roger Sherman Hoar of Concord, Leon R. Eyges of Boston and Arthur Seagrove of Uxbridge. These men take the places respectively of F. E. Greenhalge, Andrew Marshall, Henry M. Hutchins and Walter A. Powers, who have been assistants in the office for periods varying from 12 years in the case of Mr. Greenhalge down to two years or less in the case of Mr. Powers. The only assistant who will hold over under the new attorney general is Thomas O. Jenkins, who was appointed not long ago by Atty. Gen. Swift.

Nominations Sent In

The governor sent in yesterday the following nominations:

Dr. Henry P. Walcott of Cambridge, to be chairman of the Metropolitan Water and Sewerage board, a reappointment.

Thomas E. Dwyer of Wakefield, to be a member of the Metropolitan Water and Sewerage board in place of Hon. H. H. Sprague, resigned.

Wallace R. Heady of Springfield, to be justice of the police court of that city in place of William Hamilton, who was recently promoted to the superior court.

Gilman Osgood of Rockland and J. Frank Curtin of Abington, to be, respectively, medical examiner and associate medical examiner of Plymouth county.

Nelson B. Vanderhoof of Newton, to make the table of changes in the general laws.

Edward F. Hamlin of Newton, to be executive secretary.

Thomas M. Connelly of Boston, to be assistant executive secretary.

Roger Wolcott of Milton, to be a member of the state board of insanity, in place of W. J. Whittemore, resigned.

Private Sessions

The executive council confirmed yesterday under a suspension of the rule all these appointments except that of the new judge of the Springfield court, and confirmed also the nominations which Gov. Walsh sent in a week ago with the exception of that of a judge for the Charlestown municipal court.

The council did one other important thing yesterday; it voted, in spite of the opposition of Lieut. Gov. Barry, that its meetings should continue to be, as they always have been, secret. The vote on the adoption of the old rules which provided for the exclusion of the public was: Yeas, Councillors Keith, Guy, McGregor, Frothingham, Mortimer and Bowles, 6; nays, the lieutenant governor and Councillors Buckley and Hogan. Political lines were not drawn very sharply on this question, as Mr. Guy, a democrat, and Messrs. Mortimer and Bowles, who were elected as democrats and progressives, voted against the lieutenant governor.

House Session

The state house of representatives had a short session yesterday and did not do much business except to reject an order offered by Mr. Carr of Hopkinton that there should be published annually in the legislative manual a complete record of the votes cast for candidates for governor since the adoption of the state constitution.

The bank commissioner reported that the total assets of the various savings banks, co-operative banks and other institutions under his supervision was last year $1,499,648,870; this amount is $12,356,312 more than it was last year.

Representative McManus of Boston has filed a petition that the number of signatures required on the nomination paper of a candidate for mayor or the city council in Boston shall be 1000, not more than 100 of which shall come from any one ward.

Senate Session

The time of the state senate was taken up yesterday almost exclusively with the reading of bills and petitions, the most important of which are here outlined:

By Senator Nichols of Boston—That the gas and electric light, the public service and the taxation commissioners with the attorney general be created a commission to consider the advisability of taxing signs and to report to the next general court.

By Senator Burbank of Bridgewater—For a survey of the Taunton river from Weir Village to the junction of the Wenatuxet river in Halifax; also for dredging a channel 700 feet long, 50 feet wide and 5 feet deep in Scituate harbor; also for dredging a channel 50 feet deep in Duxbury bay, for 1200 feet at an expense not exceeding $13,000.

By Senator Dean of Wakefield—That the harbor and land commissioners be directed to expend $30,000 in dredging and improving Lake Quannapowitt in Wakefield; also for a constitutional amendment to permit the general court of Massachusetts to levy an income tax on persons and corporations.

The house and senate concurred in extending to Feb. 7 the time within which the so-called "white slave commission" may file its report.

The committee on the judiciary reported in the senate an act giving to the appellate division of the Boston municipal court all the powers in civil litigation which were given by an act of last year to the supreme judicial court.

Committee on Rules

The house committee on rules gave a hearing at the state house yesterday afternoon on an order offered by Representative Carr of Hopkinton that no newspaper reporter employed by any person or corporation having business before the legislature shall be admitted to the floor or newspaper gallery of the house.

Mr. Carr and Representatives Davenport and Tilden of Malden and Niland and Doyle of East Boston spoke in favor of the order. Representative Washburn of Worcester made a characteristic speech in which he said that it was impossible to bring the millenium by legislation and that the best way to accomplish the desired result was to place on the newspapers the responsibility for their representatives at the state house.

At the request of Speaker Cushing, some of the newspaper reporters themselves made suggestions about the order. The reporters expressed their complete sympathy with the purpose of the proposed change in the house rules, but they proposed certain changes in the order as presented.

LOWELL MAN HAD LUMBAGO 25 YEARS

Gyarcol Gave Prompt Relief Where Many Other Medicines Failed

Mr. E. J. Comerford, who lives at 25 Pawtucket street, Lowell, says: For 25 years I was troubled with lumbago. I tried a great many medicines but did not get relief. A friend recommended Gyarcol to me and I am pleased to say that it relieved me at once and I continued to take it until I was entirely cured. (Signed) E. J. Comerford.

Lumbago is a form of rheumatism and is caused by uric acid poison in the blood. Gyarcol cures lumbago as it does rheumatism by driving out the uric acid poison. It stimulates the kidneys the better to perform their work. Gyarcol is sold by all druggists either in liquid or tablet form, 50 cents and $1.00. The chocolate coated tablets are easy to take and quickly effective.

COMMON SENSE ABOUT COLDS

With a Little Care No One Need Ever Have a Cold

No. 3

If people could just get a plentiful supply of fresh air and enough exercise to keep the blood circulating properly there would not be any such thing as a cold.

But we don't get the fresh air—

And we don't take enough exercise—

We live in over-heated houses—

We ride in badly ventilated street cars—

We dress too warmly—

Our skin and the membranes of our throat and nose become over sensitive—

We are not able to resist the attacks of the cold microbes—

The first little unusual exposure to cold or dampness starts the shivers.

We begin to cough and sneeze—

Then is the time when delay is dangerous—

When you feel these first shivery indications of a cold go to your druggist at once.

Ask him for a box of Hill's Cascara Bromide Quinine Tablets.

A few doses will knock out the cold in twenty-four hours.

La Grippe will be cured in three days.

We guarantee this—you can have your money back if it fails.

Hill's Cascara Bromide Quinine Tablets have been used by cold sufferers all over the world by fifteen years.

It is a standard remedy made by the W. H. Hill company of Detroit—all druggists have it—the price is 25 cents.

REVIVE OLD BALLADS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Convinced that many of the English and Scottish popular ballads of olden times which still survive in the United States are threatened with extinction unless steps are at once taken to revive them, the federal bureau of education announced today that it has instituted a nation-wide search for versions of these old ballads.

Prof. C. Alphonso Smith of the University of Virginia, a prominent folklore investigator, has been commissioned to conduct the search.

Among the ballads for which survivals are sought are: Robin Hood, The Beggar Laddie, Bonny Barbara Allan, The Crafty Farmer, Durham Field, The Earl Mare's Daughter, Fair Annie, Johnny's Armstrong's Last Good Night, Lady Isabelle and the Elf Knight, Child Maurice, the Lass of Roch Royal, The Mermaid, Rob Roy, The Three Ravens, Trooper and Maid, and The Wife of Usher's Well.

REWARD OF $5000

Offered for the Apprehension of a Murderer, Wanted by the Police of Winnipeg

Do you know John Krafcenko, alias Peart Smith, a wrestler of wide reputation. If so, try and locate him and then turn him over to the Winnipeg Manitoba, police and collect a reward of $5000, for your trouble.

Krafcenko is wanted by the Canadian police for the murder of H. M. Arnold of Plum Coulee, Manitoba, who, it is alleged he murdered last December after robbing the Bank of Montreal. He was arrested at the time, but on Jan. 10 he made good his escape. An additional reward of $2000 is offered for the conviction of persons who aided him in his escape. It is believed that the so much sought murderer has wrestled in this state under the name of Smith.

Make Hairs Disappear Almost Like Magic

(Toilet Tips)

Advocates of the electric needle for removing stubborn hairy growths now concede that a simple paste made with powdered delatone and water is fully as efficacious and is devoid of pain, while the cost is trifling. The delatone paste is left on the hairy surface about two minutes and when it is rubbed off all traces of hair vanish. Washing leaves the skin soft, smooth and spotless. Be careful to see that it is delatone you get or you may be disappointed with the result.

OPP. CITY HALL

FEDERAL LEAGUE

Threatens Invasion Into Cinn., Headquarters of Organized Baseball

CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 22.—This city, the headquarters of organized baseball, inasmuch as the office of the national commission is located here, is seriously threatened by an invasion of the Federal league. At a secret meeting held last night in the office of a law firm, it was almost finally decided to switch the franchise of the Toronto Federal League club to Cincinnati.

Present at the meeting were President James A. Gilmore of the Federal league; E. E. Gates, counsel for the league; Joseph Dixon, president of the newly organized City league, and Paul Connelly, an attorney.

Dixon, who is prominent in amateur sports, particularly outlined the local situation to Gilmore and Gates. A site for a new baseball park within 15 minutes of the city was considered but nothing positive was determined except that Dixon would direct the new club if the invision is decided upon.

It is understood that Gilmore and Gates will return to this city soon to go deeper into the matter and arrange financial details. President Gilmore repeated today his statement made yesterday that he will fight for the services of Catcher Killifer and Pitcher Brennan, who yesterday signed with the Philadelphia National League club to which they belonged previous to singing contracts with the Federal league.

When or where he will begin action or what course he would take was not disclosed by Mr. Gilmore.

POLICE COURT SESSION

Sergt. David Petrie made a very clever capture late yesterday afternoon when he brought Frank Roach to the station and locked him up on the charge of larceny. Roach, the police claim, stole several articles of clothing from the store of the Greenhouse Sales Co. on Merrimack street.

Roach is wanted by the Providence, R. I. police for the larceny of several suits of clothes in that city. It is probable that before his trial is over here that other cities may send in word to hold Roach for them after the disposition of his case here.

Frank Roach pleaded guilty to the larceny of three suits of clothes from the Greenhouse Sales Co. Sergt. Petrie told the court that the defendant worked for the complainants and had wrapped the stolen clothes under his coat when he left the store at night. An overcoat which Roach stole in Providence was found in his possession by Sergt. Petrie and the defendant admitted that he stole this garment also. Roach was sent to the house of correction for five months.

Illegal Liquor Selling

Arthur Frechette pleaded guilty to the unlawful sale of a half pint of whiskey to Patrick Horgan. Frechette works as a bartender for L. P. Turcotte. He was fined $50.

Simeon Chaput pleaded not guilty to the charge of drunkenness and his case was continued. George Dunn was fined $5 for the same offence. John McFarland charged with non-support had his case continued for a month.

James McKiernan made his fourth appearance for drunkenness within a year this morning. He was in very bad physical condition. Judge Enright ordered him committed to the state farm.

James A. Riley pleaded not guilty to the charge of drunkenness. Officer Paige, the arresting officer, said that the defendant was drunk and very boisterous at city hall. Riley put the officer through a cross-examination which was rather rambling in character.

When the defendant was asked if he wished to tell his story, he announced in a loud voice: "You bet your life."

He had not been drinking, he said, but had been taking two ounces of alcohol, two ounces of glycerine and one ounce of honey as medicine.

"Why," said the defendant to Supt. Welch, "I could throw three or four men like him," indicating Officer Paige, "down the stairs, but I respected his gray hairs. He reminded me of my dear old dad and for that reason I wouldn't break the chain when he put the twisters on my wrists. I wasn't drunk and that is all there is to it."

Judge Enright fined the defendant $2 and Riley promptly appealed and was held in $200 bail for superior court.

George W. Collins, of Boston, pleaded not guilty to the larceny of an automobile tire and chains from Dr. Gatsopoulos. James S. Murphy, Esq., appeared for the prosecution and Lawyer Creed for the defence.

It seems that the complainant bought a car from the defendant and paid $300 of the $650, the purchase price, at the time he received the car. The lease existing between the two interested parties was introduced.

Dr. Gatsopoulos and his wife testified that they bought a new tire for the machine and also some new chains. Collins came to Lowell and took possession of the car and took the new tire and chains to Boston with him. It was about these chains and the tire that the case hinged.

The defence claimed that, inasmuch as the conditions of the lease called for the complainant's proper upkeep of the car, he was entitled to the tire and the chains as the doctor had bought the tire to take the place of one which had been damaged while the care was in his possession. Collins said that he furnished chains for the car and that the chains which he took away with the car were a substitute for those he left with the car.

Both attorneys spent some time in summing up their respective sides of the case and court did not adjourn until nearly one o'clock. Judge Enright found the defendant guilty of the larceny of chains and not guilty on the charge of stealing the tire. Collins was fined $50.

BURIAL OF LORD STRATHCONA

LONDON, Jan. 22.—The body of the late Lord Strathcona, late high commissioner for Canada, in all probability will be interred in Westminster Abbey as a recognition of his eminence in the double capacity of empire builder and philanthropist. Lord Strathcona's one wish was to be buried beside his wife in Highgate cemetery, north of London, but in view of the public desire that the dead man should find a resting place either in the abbey or in St. Paul's cathedral, his relatives are likely to yield.

DANGER OF SEX PLAYS

FORMER PRESIDENT TAFT HITS AT "PURER" DEMOCRACY IN SPEECH AT PHILADELPHIA

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 22.—Former President Taft called a halt last night in the movement toward "purer democracy" and greater social and individual freedom. In a speech at the commencement exercises of a local business college he arraigned "impractical reformers" and "demagogues" who seek to arouse class consciousness.

He took issue with the tendency to inject more democracy into educational methods and declared that the spread of "lubricity" in literature, on the stage, and indirectly in education, was a danger to the young men and women of the country.

Mr. Taft admitted the benefits of many modern crusades, but added:

"The people are sufficiently aroused. Now let common sense prevail to distinguish between what is good and practical and what is luring, but deceitful in its promise. . . . This greater social consciousness, beneficial as it is, has produced some hysterical excesses."

Speaking of attempts to cure defects in education by more democracy, he said:

"We have had the ridiculous exhibition of school children striking because some favorite principal was transferred to another school, and we find the newspapers stimulating such movements and weak-minded parents looking with pride upon the courage and enterprise of their offspring. In my day, and that is not so long ago, such children if they had come home would have been 'properly treated with a spanking.'"

The former president dwelt at length upon the dangers of sex literature and sex plays, which, he says, "spread lubricity under the plea that vice may be avoided by teaching its awful consequences.

"By dwelling on its details and explaining its penalties, sexual subjects are obtruded into discussion between the sexes, lectures are delivered on them, and text books are written, and former restraints of modesty are abandoned."

CHURCHES AS MONEY LENDERS

WATERVILLE, Me., Jan. 22.—Ralph J. Patterson, superintendent of local street railways, advocated last night at the Churchmen's Federation banquet that churches should do a banking business and conduct employment agencies to get in touch with the estimated 50,000,000 people not affiliated with churches in any way, or "prospects" as he called them.

OUIMET GOES SOUTH

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—Francis Ouimet, the American open golf champion, started south today for two weeks' practice at Pinehurst, N. C. He expects to play on several courses in the Middle Atlantic states before sailing in April to participate in the British amateur and open title events.

To Keep the Skin Velvety In Winter

The skin is very susceptible to the harsh winds of winter, yet a complexion of velvety softness and divine fairness is easily attained in the coldest weather by using a plain mayatone lotion. This lotion should be used night and morning after cleansing and drying the skin carefully. It is made at little cost—just dissolve an original package of mayatone in one-half pint witch hazel. This is ideal for banishing sallowness, blotches, skin roughness and all discolorations.

CARABOA BANQUET DID IT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—An echo of the Carabao banquet, at which the administration's Philippine policy was ridiculed here last month, was heard at the navy department yesterday, when Secretary Daniels revoked an order assigning Rear Admiral Thomas B. Howard to command the Asiatic fleet, succeeding Rear Admiral Reginald F. Nicholson.

Instead Admiral Howard will relieve Rear Admiral W. C. Cowles, commanding the American squadron off the Pacific Mexican coast, and Admiral Cowles will take command of the Asiatic fleet.

Admiral Howard was chairman of the Carabao dinner committee and with the other members, high army and navy officers, was reprimanded at the direction of President Wilson after an investigation of the travesties and songs which featured the military society's banquet.

"Under the circumstances we did not want to send Admiral Howard to the Philippines," said Secretary Daniels yesterday. "But as we have every confidence in him, we did not want to give him a command that would in any way appear to be a punishment, so we decided to send him to the Pacific Mexican squadron. The arrangement is entirely satisfactory to Admiral Howard."

HUERTA GOVERNMENT CRUMBLING

CHIHUAHUA, Mex., Jan. 22.—"It will soon be shown that the United States has not waited in vain in the belief that the Huerta government is slowly crumbling," said Gen. Francisco Villa, yesterday. "With the northern division of the Huerta army imprisoned in the United States and with Gen. Jose Refugio Velasco's Federal troops trembling at Torreon, the only point they now hold in the north, it will not be long before the usurper Huerta will be swept away by public opinion. At first it was only our arms that brought us victories but now the people of Mexico are convinced of the seriousness of the revolution. We are finding that popular approval is as effective as bullets.

"But we are not forgetting that bullets are still necessary. The fighting will continue."

PARCEL POST EXPENSIVE

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—Representative George H. Ellis, chairman of the legislative committee on railroads, said last night that the parcel post had cost the Boston & Maine railroad $700,000 a year. He was addressing the Massachusetts Wholesale Lumber association on the railroad situation in the state. The association re-elected William E. Litchfield of Boston as its president.

CHARGES AGAINST JUDGE

MACON, Ga., Jan. 22.—Witnesses yesterday before the congressional subcommittee here investigating charges of official misconduct against Judge Emory Speer accused the jurist of permitting the dissipation of a bankrupt estate; of high handed and tyrannical methods; of favoritism, of a free use of contempt citations; of discourtesy to members of the bar; and of having a deputation for being approachable by "underground, wireless" routes.

Col. W. A. Huff, an octogenarian, testified that his estate had been thrown into bankruptcy in Judge Speer's court more than 14 years ago; that excessive fees had been allowed to various special masters and others; that a sum in excess of $90,000 derived from the sale of certain parts of his estate had been placed without interest in a bank of which Judge Speer's business partner was president, and his brother-in-law vice president, where it had remained for more than three years.

FLAGMAN PLEADS GUILTY

WAS MEMBER OF CREW ON ILL-FATED BAR HARBOR EXPRESS WHEN 21 WERE KILLED

NEW HAVEN, Jan. 22.—Charles H. Murray, of Holyoke, Mass., flagman of the ill-fated Bar Harbor express on the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad which was wrecked at North Haven last September, exacting a toll of 21 lives, pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the superior court late yesterday afternoon. Judge Milton A. Shumway deferred sentence until a later date.

EX-SENATOR CULLOM BETTER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Shelby M. Cullom, former senator from Illinois and chairman of the Lincoln Memorial committee, dangerously ill at his home here, was more improved today than at any time since he took to his bed more than a week ago.

If heart and lungs continue in favorable condition, it was said he might live a week or a month.

Although he is practically helpless physically, Mr. Cullom's mental faculties are not impaired and his constant wish is that he may live to see the completion of the national memorial to Lincoln, who was his personal friend.

FINANCES OF NAVAL PROGRAM

LONDON, Jan. 22.—The cabinet will hold an important meeting today to decide upon the financial feature of the naval program for the coming year. Since Winston Spencer Churchill has been head of the admiralty he has spent money lavishly in speeding up construction. David Lloyd-George for the first time since he has been chancellor of the exchequer is faced with a budget deficit. Hence his anxiety to bring about a halt in naval expenditure.

Mr. Churchill, however, insists upon four new dreadnoughts being laid down the coming year.

ANTI-TRUST LEGISLATION

The most casual reading of the president's message to congress on the trust question will convince the reader that what is intended by the administration is a sane and moderate system of business reorganization that shall bring offending firms and corporations within the terms of existing law, do away with the doubts that have prevented specific action in the past, inaugurate a system of cooperation between the government and business, and do all this without in any way causing hardship or depression. As in past messages, principles rather than concrete instances of illustration are emphasized, but where specific things are urged, as in the case of interlocking directorates, the railroad problems and the forming of an interstate trade commission, the policy outlined is in no way antagonistic to the best interests of business in a national sense.

It may be that the temperate tone of the president's message is due to the presence of two important measures in the tariff and currency bill but this fact throws his judgment into stronger relief instead of in any way detracting from it. Yet anyone who has followed the trend of recent important events in the business world will not accuse him of indulging in empty platitudes when he speaks of the "atmosphere of accommodation and mutual understanding which we now breathe with so much refreshment.

It has become apparent that this president who has been in a large manner responsible for the most important national laws regarding business, that have been placed on the statute books for many years, has gained the confidence of the business interests of the country in an unprecedented degree. His latest message will strengthen that confidence while adding to his reputation for sincerity, ability and leadership.

"The antagonism between business and government," says the president, "is over. We are now about to give expression to the best business judgment of America." And lest this should mean that there is not urgent need for federal activity and supervision he continues:

"The best informed men of the business world condemn the methods and processes and consequences of monopoly as we condemn them; and the instinctive judgment of the vast majority of business men everywhere goes with them. We shall now be their spokesmen. That is the strength of our position and the sure prophecy of what will ensue when our reasonable work is done."

The leading points in the program for the abolition and control of private monopoly which he calls "indefensible and intolerable" may be summed up briefly as follows: "Prohibition of the interlocking of directorates of banks, railroads, and all industrial, commercial and public service bodies; a new law to give the Interstate Commerce commission power over the financial operations of railroads, in other words the making mandatory of what were formerly only their recommendations—usually made in vain; definition of what constitutes "restraints of trade" so that there may be no technical difficulties in enforcing the law; the creation of a commission to aid the courts and make the requirements of the government known to business in a spirit of co-operation instead of persistent hounding; the personal responsibility of individuals for unlawful business practices; prohibition of holding companies and a suggestion to restrict the voting power of individuals holding shares in corporations; giving to private individuals the right to found suits for redress on facts and judgments proven in government suits.

Since the reading of the message it has been commented on favorably by men representing all shades of business and political opinion and commendation of its purpose and constructive policy is universal. The idealistic schoolmaster bids fair to go down in history as the great business president of a progressive age.

THE RADIUM CURE

The discovery of radium by the gifted Madame Curie a few years ago was one of the most fascinating of the "fairy tales of science" of modern years, and it seems that the wonders of the strange element are as yet little understood. Of fabulous value and almost boundless energy the uses to which it may be put are manifold, but its extreme rarity and the difficulty of making use of its mysterious forces have prevented its application to the problems of humanity to any degree.

Great interest has been aroused by the declaration of many leaders in the medical profession to the effect that in radium is the long sought remedy for cancer, and there are examples of alleged cures. Like tuberculosis this disease has baffled medical skill for years and it is being studied by all the advanced colleges and institutions of medical research. In some cases surgical operations have been successful in removing external cancer when the disease was discovered in time, but where the roots had spread, there was right hope of remedy. The reports of the radium cures read like the application of magic and undoubtedly hopes have been raised in hundreds of human hearts.

Greed and desire for financial gain which thrives on the needs of the afflicted has always shown itself in the exploitation of the "radium cures" and remedies are offered which are said to contain the rare substance. This is absolute fraud for there is less than two grams in the entire country—scarcely enough to be perceptible. In the ores of Colorado, however, there are strata from which the precious element may be extracted and at the present time there is a hearing before the house committee on mines in Washington for the purpose of urging the government to take over the radium producing lands that the substance may be used for the good of humanity.

Radium has not been used long enough to determine positively whether it is a cure for cancer or not, but the high character of those who so state disarms suspicion. The Friedmann serum for tuberculosis, however, is but one of many which prove that there is more danger in too great confidence than in too great skepticism.

SAFETY AT SEA

Those who go down to the sea in ships have been regarding with supreme contempt blended no doubt with a good garniture of oaths carrying a salt-water flavor,—such as we meet in Conrad and Masefield,—the attempts of some land lubber politicians of America to force the international enactment of laws which would make travelling by sea less dangerous. Earnest legislators of the type of him who introduced a little comedy into the tragic Titanic hearing in Washington by grilling the English ship officials mercilessly on the subject of water tight compartments—believing the while that they were parts of the ship where passengers might lock themselves in and keep the water out—have been urging all kinds of technical laws governing tackle and steering gear and lifeboats while protests have been pouring in from real sailors and ship owners. And yet when the good politicians have retired from public life again and are engaged in steering their mowing machines through the stormy seas of the western prairies, they may feel assured that notwithstanding the impracticability of their schemes and the laughter that greeted them, travelling at sea will have become safer.

This seems assured by the reports of an international congress in London which has been in conference for many days with the delegates of 14 nations in attendance. In the closing speech Lord Mersey, the president, ran briefly over the many points touched on during the conference such as greater care in construction, greater application of preventive measures, the providing of lifeboats and other safety appliances, and the requirement of inspection and drills to keep the crew vigilant and active. This conference was in great measure due to the earnestness of our prairie sailors for though they blundered sadly in their recommendations, they were human and felt misfortune keenly and by starting the humanitarian spirit of the nations working, they roused the attention of others better able to handle the subject than they. The laws for sea safety already in force or put in force since the loss of the Titanic have hampered the ship owners to a needless degree and it is probable that the laws to follow the recent conference will remedy the existing wrong while wiping out much that is unnecessary.

EUGENIC LAW VOID

The supreme court will soon consider the question of the constitutionality of the eugenic law of Wisconsin which has aroused so much discussion, because the circuit court there has declared it contrary to American institutions.

The Wisconsin law stipulated that all who were to be married must present a clean bill of health signed by a delegated physician, and this official permission was to be given only after a severe physical test, including the Wasserman blood test. The matter was taken to the courts because of the protest of a young man who applied for permission to marry, the day the law went into operation and was refused because he did not present the required health certificate. Thus far he has beaten the state. However the supreme court may decree eventually, he will be married without the application of the new fangled eugenic doctrines.

The court objections are of a technical nature as befits an unemotional judicial decision, but the judge laid especial emphasis on the impracticability of the law. Its aim was praised, but the means of putting these aims into practice were not considered just or adequate. Putting aside the legal aspect of the case the Wisconsin finding seems like an admission of the truth that though the law may make stringent regulations regarding marriage, it cannot compel men and women to marry nor prevent them from marrying on account of the prescribed disabilities.

LORD STRATHCONA

In the passing of Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal high commissioner for Canada at the age of 93, the British empire has lost one of its greatest men. With the natural dignity of years, the artificial honors of title and the greater distinction of noble achievement he stood before the world as the embodiment of nobility, the personification of perseverance. Of sturdy Scotch parentage he emigrated to Canada at the age of 18 and became associated with the famous Hudson Bay company, the record of which reads like chapters of vivid romance. The change from the simple Donald Smith to Lord Strathcona is stranger reading than many a fairy tale, but during it came out the great qualities that made the Scotch emigrant the pioneer of progress in the Northern Dominion. Unlike many another, the dead statesman fitted into the niche of nobility as though he were descended from a noble line instead of having spent his early days amid the rigors of the snowy north. England may mourn for the departed lord but Canada will feel more acutely the loss of Donald Smith.

BAD EGGS

Two of the greatest food storing packing houses in New York have just been fined $500 each, because in their warehouses were found eggs unfit for human food. Eggs such as these were sold for years with impunity, but with the passing of the pure food law the government became vigilant and there is now some measure of protection against the greedy interest that would sell poison to humanity for gain. These confiscated eggs would have found their way into puddings, cakes and pastries as they have for years were it not for the new government activity in this direction. The cost of good food is a burden sufficiently heavy without laying on the shoulders of the poor the national disgrace of extortion for food which is unfit for human consumption.

Now how would you feel if after studying all manner of authorities on censorships of plays, and working yourself up into a fever of righteousness on behalf of public decency, and giving interviews to the press accompanied by your noble-expressioned photograph, you found it was none of your business? Wouldn't it just rattle you?

"And then," future historians will say, "after the cold spell came the nicest snow storm that was ever seen with great coasting and sleighing and skating galore. It was surely a fine winter."

If we're not mistaken there's something about the rights of the Locks and Canals to the Merrimack river in the book of Genesis.

The "A 7" submarine has been found with its drowned crew. What of it? "They've but to do and die."

Seen and Heard

It seems to snow these days almost as readily as a girl can cry—some girls.

City Messenger Owen Monahan says there was never a better looking alderman in his time than Col. James H. Carmichael.

Commissioner Donnelly made three distinct speeches at the meeting of the municipal council on Tuesday and he allowed that was going some.

Charlie Morse has put his foot down on men hanging around the corridors at city hall looking for a job. "They can see me at the stable. I refuse to talk jobs to them at city hall," said Charlie.

Commissioner Donnelly is getting on to the curves in the lands and buildings department and he allows that he will like the job all right. In the person of "Joe" Rourke, Mr. Donnelly has one of the very best clerks at city hall. There's a reason. Joe graduated from The Sun office.

Lawrence Cummings is authority for the statement that he enjoys meetings of the council more from the standpoint of a newspaperman than that of commissioner. Sitting at the reporters' table the other day, Mr. Cummings said: "I would rather sit here and report the meeting than to take part in it, but I must confess that I rather enjoyed my two years as commissioner."

In the current issue of Farm and Fireside a contributor gives the following advice to farmers which they might well avail themselves of when it comes to advertising their products.

"In farm advertising, like all other advertising, the first principle is to have the goods. It doesn't pay to advertise a poor article as a good one. The next thing is to reach the people who are likely to want it and who are able to pay for it. In advertising it is best to give a little description of the article. Say something about it to make people want it. 'Fine black cherries, uniformly sound and delicious' is worth a great deal more than 'Cherries for sale.' 'Some particularly choice Jonathan apples' is worth ten times more than 'Apples for sale.'

"In advertising to reach a certain class of customers, describe the article in the way they will like it; that is, describe the things about the article that will appeal to that class. For instance, the man who sold the cow to the banker was wise in mentioning that she was a beautiful cow. He knew that a town man with a nice yard and a nice barn would want a good-looking animal. Use a little judgment in advertising, and it is almost sure to make you money."

Senator Augustus O. Bacon of Georgia chuckled at a recent dinner when the talk topic turned to boomerangs. He said he was reminded of a young woman acquaintance.

The young woman was walking through a park when she saw a small boy in the act of robbing a bird's nest. In his hat were a couple of eggs and on his face a guilty expression.

"You naughty, cruel boy!" indignantly exclaimed the young woman. "How can you be so terribly heartless as to take those eggs?

"What do you think the mother bird will say when she comes back and finds them gone?"

"She won't say nothin'," answered the boy, looking at the agitated party before him. "She is dead."

"Dead!" wonderingly cried the young woman. "How do you know that she is dead?"

"Because you've got her sewed fast in yer hat!" was the youngster's startling rejoinder.

Dams that may be rolled up out of streams in order to provide an unobstructed channel for the passage of flood flows are beginning to come into favor in the United States.

They were first used in Germany in 1902, and since that date have been adopted, extensively in Europe, but American engineers, until recently, have regarded them with scepticism. It is significant, therefore, that the United States reclamation service has installed a rolling dam on the Boise irrigation project in Idaho, and others are in the course of construction in this country.

These dams, instead of being solid barriers of masonry, are hollow cylindrical steel shells which look very much like elongated boilers. Each end is fitted with a gear which engages in an inclined rack, and hoisting machinery is provided so that the dam may be rolled up on its inclined guides clear of the stream. Of course, the rolling type of dam is not suitable under conditions which call for a very high structure to impound water.—Engineering Record.

A delicate operation in engineering surgery was performed recently at Cleveland when one end of the draw-span of the Cuyahoga river viaduct was amputated in order to shorten its length. The piers which supported the bridge developed an uncontrollable wanderlust and moved out of place in some instances as much as two feet. Since the bridge was built in 1887 the average longitudinal movement was one inch every year. It soon became impossible to revolve the draw-span so the engineers were forced to lop off a section of the draw so that it could be swung open to pass ships.—Engineering Record.

LIFE GAME OF CARDS

This life is but a game of cards
That mortals have to learn;
Each shuffles, cuts and deals the pack,
And each a trump doth turn.
Some bring a high card to the top,
While others bring a low;
Some hold their hands quite flush with trumps,
While others none can show.
Some deal them with a practiced hand,
And pack their cards with care,
That they may know when they are dealt,
Where all the players are.
Thus fools are made the dupes of rogues,
And rogues each other cheat,
And he is very wise indeed,
Who never meets defeat.
In playing some throw out the Ace,
Their counting cards to save;
Some play the Nine and some the Ten,
But many play the Knave.
Some play for money, some for fun,
But more for worldly fame;
And not until the game's played out,
Can they count up their gain.
When Hearts are trumps, we play for love,
And beauty rules the hour,
No thoughts of sorrow check our joy,
In Beauty's rosy bower.
We dance, we sing, sweet verses make,
Our cards at random play,
And while our trump remains on top,
Why, Life's a holiday.
When Diamonds chance to crown the pack,
The players stake their gold;
And heavy sums are won and lost
By gamblers young and old.
Intent on winning, each the game,
Both watch with eager eye,
That he may see his neighbor's hand,
And beat him on the sly.
When Clubs are trumps look out for war
On ocean and on land,
For bloody honors always come
When clubs are held in hand.
Then lives are staked instead of gold,
The dogs of war are freed;
On the other side of the Pacific late,
The Clubs have had their lead.
Last game of all is when the Spade,
Is turned by Hand of Time,
It always plays the winning hand
In every land and clime.
No matter how much each man wins,
Nor how much each man saves,
The Spade will finish up the game

OLD-TIME COLD CURE—DRINK TEA!

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburg Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

Senator Bacon of Georgia is a strong democrat, but he is not afraid to criticise his own party when he thinks it is wrong. He is against the Huerta plan to default interest on Mexican bonds comes, very properly, from France, the most thrifty of all. The foreign office is instructed to tell the dictator what it thinks of this business, though it specifically mentions that the government will not now exercise its privilege of forced collection of the Mexican custom duties. In fact, the whole document is said to be framed in such a way as to imply tacit support of the Mexican policy of the United States.

ANTI-TRUST MESSAGE

Fall River Herald: The long awaited special message of President Wilson on the anti-trust question has been delivered to congress and to the people. Like the messages that had preceded it from the pen of Woodrow Wilson, it breathes the spirit of peace and goodwill in all parts of our national life. There is nothing in the message to disturb even the most timid, while, on the other hand, there is much to encourage and hearten all the people. As the president himself happily expresses it: "What we are proposing to do is not to hamper or interfere with business as enlightened business men prefer to do it, or in any way to put it under the ban. The antagonism between business and government is over."

GRAFTING

Woonsocket Call: Governor Glynn wants all grafters sent to jail. And why not? Grafting is respectable only because grafters have insisted that it is so. In reality it is only thieving of an especially detestable kind.

SUPPORTS U. S. POLICY

Boston Post: The first protest from any of the European nations against the Huerta plan to default interest on Mexican bonds comes, very properly, from France, the most thrifty of all. The foreign office is instructed to tell the dictator what it thinks of this business, though it specifically mentions that the government will not now exercise its privilege of forced collection of the Mexican custom duties. CAN TEDDY COME BACK?

New Bedford Times: Jacob Riis seems to think that Roosevelt has the republican party thoroughly bottled up. He says:

"Theodore Roosevelt will be a candidate for the presidency in 1916 if the people want him, but a condition precedent to his acceptance of the nomination by the republican party must be its adoption of the principles Roosevelt stood for in the last election."

The colonel smashed the G. O. P. in 1912, and may be he is the only man who can put the pieces together. Many republicans, however, would rather see the old party in the junk heap than in control of the colonel.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

THE LOST CREW

Lynn News: What must be the experience of the men on these boats? Air enough is carried to last for some hours, but then comes inevitable death. The records left by members of a crew who perished on a Japanese boat a year or two ago show what this may mean. To die caged is not particularly glorious, but men seem to think it worth taking the chance for their country. No nation reports difficulty in getting crews, a sure proof of men's bravery and of their desire to be pioneers in a new work or task. Except in actual warfare, there is every reason, however, why governments should be considerate of the men who man these frail crafts.

STRANGLED TO DEATH

Man Wanted in Connection With Murder Walked Into N .Y. Station and Gave Himself up

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—A young man giving the name of Harry Schaefer walked into a police station today and said:

"I understand you are looking for me in connection with the Martin murder. I want to give myself up."

He was held on a technical charge of homicide.

On August 27 last the police sent out a general alarm all over the United States for the arrest of two men sought for the murder of William G. Martin, a milliner of Toronto, Canada, who came to New York to buy stock and who was strangled to death in a boarding house. His hands were tied behind his back and his watch and chain, two diamond rings, scarf pin and money were missing. Circulars sent out at the time described the men sought as Harry Schaefer alias Schafer, alias Murray, 20 years old, a painter, ironworker or bartender, and Michael Sirocco, alias Sargo. The police advanced the theory that these men met Martin in front of a baseball scoreboard and lured him to the house where he met death.

The police announced this afternoon that the prisoner had confessed to complicity in the crime. He placed the blame on his alleged accomplice, Sargo, saying that Sargo had thrown Martin down and gagged him. When they left the apartment, said the prisoner, they did not know that the man was dead. They fled first to Baltimore, then to St. Louis and then to Denver, where they parted. Subsequently the prisoner made his way to South America and returned here only recently.

The bearers were Michael Mone, James Gallagher, John O'Donnell, Edward Tredwell, Frank Kelly and Joseph Carter. Burial was in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery where committal prayers were read by Rev. Fr. Heffernan. Undertaker John J. O'Connell in charge.

CHIEF SAUNDERS

Fire Chief Edward F. Saunders attended a meeting of the Fire Chiefs club of Massachusetts at Clark's hotel, Washington st., Boston, yesterday afternoon. He is a member of the club and Chief Frank H. Gunther of the Dracut fire department was made a member yesterday. It is customary for newly made members to make a speech and Mr. Gunther was called upon. Mr. Gunther said he was not a speech maker and that if oratory was a necessary essential he said he never would have been appointed to his very lucrative position.

The chiefs were addressed by Commissioner Cole of Boston. He spoke on "Fire Protection" and told of measures which he has had brought before the legislature this year asking that fire chiefs be given greater power and authority along certain lines than they have had in the past. He said there are powers invested in other city officials at the present time that properly belong to police chiefs.

Other speakers included John Mullin, chief of the Boston fire department. He told of the work accomplished during the last two years under Mr. Cole and he honed that within a few years every bit of apparatus would be motorized. He said that the Boston fire department has attained a greater degree of efficiency than has any other fire department in New England.

ST. COLUMBA'S PARISH REUNION

The general committee in charge of St. Columba's parish reunion met last evening and elected the following officers to take charge of the affair:

Miss Jennie Dunfey will have charge of the children's entertainment, which will be held in Associate hall the Saturday following the reunion. Reports from the various sub-committees were read and the affair, judging from the program already outlined, gives promise of being one of the most successful events in the history of the parish.

If the members of Branch St. Andre, A. C. F. ever conduct another whist or entertainment for the benefit of the church a larger hall than Associate will have to be looked for, for if one is to judge by the success obtained last night this hall will be inadequate to hold the crowd. Last night's event consisted of a whist and entertainment for the reconstruction of St. Jean Baptiste church and the spacious hall was filled to its utmost.

To be exact, there were 185 whist and 140 men and women enjoyed the game while many others who could not be supplied with tables sat in the gallery and waited for the speeches and entertainment program, that alone being worth the price of admission. The gathering was honored by the presence of many high dignitaries of the Artisans from the states and Canada, among whom were Ludger Gravel of Montreal, Que., president general; Charles E. Bazin, Worcester, organizer general; Rev. J. A. Pelletier, Salem, diocesan chaplain; Joseph M. Dupont, Nashua, director general; Joseph Lavoie, Nashua, president of Branch 87, while many prominent Lowell people were also present including Mayor D. J. Murphy, Commissioner Charles J. Morse, School Committeeman W. P. Caisse, Jr., Rev. J. H. Racette, O. M. I., Ph. D., Rev. E. J. A. Chaput, O. M. I., and Rev. Arthur Berneche, O. M. I., all of St. Joseph's parish, as well as the president and other officers of the other branches of the A. C. F. in this city.

Charles Normandin, chairman of the organizing committee, opened the meeting by delivering a short address of welcome and called attention to the fact that the president general of the society had traveled from Montreal to Lowell purposely to attend this gathering, and he concluded by thanking the large assembly for the generous support they are giving the Oblate Fathers for the reconstruction of St. Jean Baptiste church.

The chairman of the evening was L. J. Cornellier, president of the branch, who proved a very efficient master of ceremonies. Nine deals of whist were enjoyed and at the close of the contest a varied entertainment program, consisting of selections by the following, was given: Miss Blanche Larue, Master Leo Lesieur, Mrs. Blanche Roussin-Fredette, Louis N. Guilbault, Miss Stella Lepine, Ludger Gravel, Charles E. Bazin, W. P. Caisse, Jr., and others.

Those who addressed the gathering were Mayor Murphy, Commissioner Morse, School Committeeman Caisse, Ludger Gravel, C. E. Bazin, Rev. J. H. Pelletier, Rev. J. H. Racette, O. M. I., Ph. D., Rev. E. J. A. Chaput, O. M. I., Rev. Arthur Berneche, O. M. I., J. M. Dupont and others.

Mr. Frank Ricard presided over the entertainment program. Over 50 valuable prizes were awarded the winners at whist, the judges being Albert Morin, president of Branch St. Marie; J. Arsene Trudel, secretary treasurer of Branch St. Louis; Albert Gelinas of Court St. Paul, C. O. F.; and John B. Racette.

The committee in charge of the affair consisted of the following: President, Charles Normandin; secretary, Azarie Thibault; treasurer, Origene Descoteaux; Frank Ricard, Alfred Lalendresse, H. Ouellette, William Brautigan, Calixte Boucher, Tancrede L. Blanchette, Damien Descoteaux, J. N. Gregoire, Joseph Dion, Ferdinand Theriault, J. L. Cornellier, ex-officio.

REPEAL CHILD LABOR LAW

Sen. Doyle Says It Was Mistake of the Well-Meaning and a Hardship to the Ambitious

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—Representatives of labor in the textile centers of Massachusetts will urge the legislature to repeal the child labor law which was passed last year.

Senator Andrew F. Doyle of New Bedford has introduced a petition for the repeal of this law and he has been promised the support of all members of the house from the manufacturing cities.

Senator Doyle says the bill was passed last year over the objections of the members who were qualified to speak for labor and the results of the administration of the law have been just what were predicted. The senator says that the income of many deserving families has been reduced to the point of deprivation and the children have not been benefited by the operation of the statute.

"Healthy children should be permitted to work in mills," says the senator. "There was a time when it would have been wise to forbid the employment of children in the textile industry. When I, at the age of 10, went into the mill conditions were deplorable. But now working in a mill is not injurious to a child of 14. The workrooms are sanitary and healthful, the machinery is protected so the hazards are reduced to almost nothing. The work is not exhausting for a child and the influence is not harmful.

"The rooms in a mill are warm, but the children are properly dressed for it and their health does not suffer. There is no more danger of tuberculosis or other disease in a mill than there is in a school room. Children are so safeguarded in our textile industries that very rarely do you hear of injuries.

Mistake of the Well-Meaning

"The child labor law was advocated by well-meaning persons who have taken the cases of parents who exploit their children as typical and conclusive, and they have not had access to the evidence of respectable, ambitious parents who permitted their children of 14 years to enter the mills in order that the younger children might be comfortably housed, properly fed and educated.

Conditions in New Bedford

"Speaking only of conditions that have come under my observation in my own city of New Bedford, I can say that the law has worked a great injustice to many honest, hard-working and well-meaning people, who are as fond of their children and as anxious to have them secure an education as are the men and women who advocated the child labor law.

"In New Bedford we have the highest class of textile operatives in the world, yet in my city there is great opposition to the child labor law among the most respectable operatives. In many families living expenses have had to be reduced. Children, who formerly earned as much as $8 a week not only are deprived of this opportunity, but they are not as well fed and as well clothed as before. Moreover, they are running wild in the streets.

"I know of families that lived fairly well on the combined earnings of the father and one or two children in the mills, while the mother was able to remain at home and care for the younger children. Since the passage of the child labor law the mother has been obliged to go into the mill to help support the family, and the children, consequently, have been free of restraint during the day.

Juvenile Crime Increased

"The boy and girl of 11 or 15 years who formerly worked in the mill is now on the street and under no discipline. The police have been complainers of the great growth of the hoodlum element since the law became operative. It is a fact that cases of petty larceny, assaults and other minor crimes have increased 500 per cent in New Bedford since the child labor law went into effect.

"The child labor law was passed through the instrumentality of persons who are honest and earnest, but who have not been in touch with real conditions.

"The people injured by the child labor law are the self-respecting majority of whom the settlement worker and the uplifter never hears. In New Bedford I know of families that depended on the earnings of the children who were able and eager to work in the mills, but unless you lived among them you would never know that they could not live comfortably if the children were idle.

Hardship to the Ambitious

"Working in a textile mill in present conditions is not slavery. A boy who goes into a cotton mill at the age of 14 has a chance to develop, just as a boy who goes into any other business. They talk about the necessity of a technical education, but the executive positions in our textile industries are not held by graduates of the technical schools, they are held by men who went into the mills as boys and worked up.

"By this child labor law you are driving the mothers into the mills instead of keeping them at home to care for their families.

"The opposition to the child labor law comes from the working people of every textile city in Massachusetts. Those who oppose the law are not the parents who wish to live off the earnings of their children, but are the fathers and mothers who have the welfare of their children at heart and realize that the work is not injurious and the earnings of the children are a positive necessity to the family.

"We hope to secure the repeal of the law."

GERMAN INVENTOR DEAD

BERLIN, Jan. 22.—Robert Zahn, director general of the Vogtlandische Maschinen-Fabrik of Plauen, Saxony, and inventor of the Zahn Automat, a device universally used in embroidery making, died yesterday in Leipsic after an operation. He was one of the leading German manufacturers.

MAY PARDON MURDERESS

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 22.—From the drift of the proceedings before the state board of pardons here yesterday, it is believed that Mrs. Kate Edwards, who has been in the Berks county jail for more than 12 years under sentence of death for the murder of her husband, will be set free.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS

For Evening Social Centre—Plans Discussed at Y.W.C.A. Rooms

The possibility of inaugurating the evening centre movement in Lowell was discussed yesterday afternoon, in one of the Y. W. C. A. class rooms. The meeting was addressed by R. E. Hawley, acting director of the work in Boston. Everybody was interested and heartily in favor of the proposition to extend the use of the public school. School Committeeman Perry D. Thompson was present and agreed to go over the matter with the school committee and report back to a special committee consisting of Rev. C. R. Skinner, Miss Elizabeth Kennedy and Robert F. Marden, at another meeting to be held later.

The meeting yesterday afternoon was called to order by Mr. Skinner. The question of financing the work was agreed to be the most difficult one to overcome. The proposition of going before the legislature for permission to levy a small special tax, as was done in Boston, received favorable consideration. It was agreed that the first step, however, was to obtain from the school committee an expression of opinion in the matter and a statement of how much the committee would be able and willing to do toward furthering such a movement.

Mr. Hawley said that the movement should be one for men and women of all ages, American and foreign born, and also for the young people over 14 years of age, who do not attend the day school. The idea of the movement seems to be, to make the school a social centre for the community, where all will meet together to enjoy the various clubs organized and entertainments given. When properly under way, it is proposed to have, if the movement is put through, various clubs, for men and women, boys and girls,—not formed by leaders for the people, but by the people themselves; such clubs as any particular group wishes to have, such as musical, dramatic, mothers clubs, sewing clubs, etc. It is not advised by Mr. Hawley that it be in any sense an evening school, but a recreation centre, and a self-governing body. He considers the school committee the best body under which to place the control of the work, and he advises the use of the high school, as being more central than any other, and also better equipped in the matter of room.

In the course of his talk Mr. Hawley touched on the following points: The wider use of public schools offers opportunities for adults, native and foreign born. A place for those whose school days are long past should be provided in the school building. The older people enjoy the illustrated lectures, the discussions of the public forum, the motion picture entertainment, and the help that the men and women past middle life can give, is wanted.

The fact that hundreds of adults attend and take part in the Boston evening centres discredits those psychologists who advanced the idea that older and middle-aged men were unable to get new ideas and consequently were unable to efficiently inaugurate a reform or otherwise lead in any new movement. I would quote A. M. Dorland who made a study of the records of 400 famous men of modern times to learn "the age of the acme of mental activity as shown by the records of these men. The sixth decade has been most prolific in human achievement and may well be designated as the age of the masterwork" . . . "Seventy-eight and a quarter per cent. closed their life work between 50 and 60 years of age, and 55 per cent. after the 50th year."

The daily observations of any one would furnish other proofs if such were necessary to show that adults advanced in years are fully qualified to lead any new movement. All adults have a part in the evening centre. It is the one place where citizens can meet upon common ground and equal terms to discuss civic and economic questions and other subjects pertaining to the common welfare. Here they may get unbiased information about proposed laws and appropriations. A voter is thus enabled to cast his ballot for what he wants having an intelligent understanding of that for which his vote is asked.

SIEGEL ON STAND

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Henry Siegel of the private banking firm of Henry Siegel & Co. and of the department store enterprises now in the hands of receivers, took the place of his partner, Frank E. Vogel as a witness before Special Examiner George Holt today.

Ex-Judge Holt was recently appointed examiner by the United States circuit court at the request of the receivers of the bank and the stores to obtain information regarding loans by the bank and transactions between the bank and the stores.

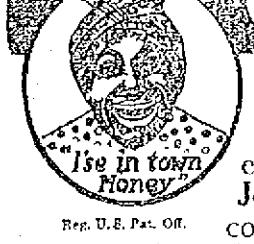
Frank E. Vogel testified at the first hearing yesterday and will be again examined two weeks hence, when he is to bring his private banking books and vouchers. His testimony yesterday was to the effect that money deposited in the private bank of Henry Siegel & Co. was used for making loans to various department stores identified with the Siegel corporation and that while his investments in the enterprises amounted to $1,400,000 but a few thousands of this money remains in his possession today.

STORY OF SWITZERLAND

Dr. James B. Field, one of Lowell's leading physicians, gave a very interesting lecture on Switzerland, last evening, at the Pawtucket Congregational church. He addressed the members of the Pawtucket Brotherhood.

The speaker was introduced by President C. B. Stoddard. Besides telling of Switzerland, Dr. Field told of his experiences in London and Paris and his impressions formed in these two cities. He displayed some very fine pictures and described them. Interestingly and entertainingly. He displayed some beautiful views taken in Switzerland. Rev. E. C. Ramette, pastor of the French Baptist church, sang several selections. Refreshments were served and the evening proved an exceptionally pleasant one.

Say! These are Great!



Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.

"Great"—you'll hear that from almost everybody at the table every time a plate of Aunt Jemima's delicious pancakes comes in piping hot from the kitchen. Aunt Jemima's makes the finest cakes that ever went into your mouth—the plump, tender kind—light as a feather—temptingly browned, and Um! so delicious to taste. Spread thick with good, fresh butter and lots of syrup, they are great.

Have Aunt Jemima's for tomorrow's breakfast. Takes just a minute to stir 'em up. Good for waffles and muffins, too.

Your grocer has Aunt Jemima's in a bright red package. (Read what it says on the top about the funny Rag Dolls for the kiddies.)

INSTALLATION AND BANQUET

Of Industry Council, R. A. Held With Large Attendance

Alex. Rountree, New Regent — Jewel Presented to Past Regent

The annual installation of officers and banquet of Industry council, No. 1722, R. A., took place in Odd Fellows hall last evening.

At 7.30 about 200 members and invited guests sat down to a sumptuous banquet. After the entire route from turkey to coffee had been traversed, the members, headed by the officers of the council, repaired to the meeting chambers, where the newly elected officers were inducted into office. Here the installing officers were introduced by Past Regent Michael Sullivan, who presided. These were Supreme Deputy Grand Regent John T. Friary, assisted by Albert E. Helman of Boston, Grand guide of the order, Hon. John J. Hogan of Lowell, supreme trustee; Wm. L. Kelt of Boston, grand secretary; Horace Williams of Boston, grand treasurer, and Fred E. Jones of Lowell, grand warden.

The newly elected officers installed were Alex. E. Rountree, regent; Thos. A. J. Dowd, vice regent; Geo. L. Stafford, orator; Michael J. Sullivan, past regent; John W. Sharkey, secretary; James E. Gorman, collector; Chas. H. O'Donnell, treasurer; Thomas H. Wilson, chaplain; Patrick Higgins, guide; Geo. H. Desrochers, warden; James W. Tully, sentry; James Dunn and Thos. M. Reedy, trustees.

S. D. G. R. John T. Friary in the course of the meeting gave an interesting talk on affairs of the order. Last year over 3900 new members were admitted, while over a million dollars was paid in sick benefits. The death claims amounted up to several millions of dollars.

ALEXANDER ROUNTREE
Regent

Remarks were also made by Albert J. Nehnan, grand guide; John W. Sharkey, secretary, and Dr. Joseph Meehan.

Past Regent M. J. Sullivan was presented a past regent's jewel. In a fitting response he thanked the brothers for their kind remembrance.

The visiting members, in addition to the supreme officers were from Highland, Lowell S. and North Billerica councils.

After the regular meeting a social session was held, during which music was furnished by McSweeney's orchestra, with singing by local talent.

Athletes and Athletics

Lebrun of the Crescent bowling team rolled in form last night which would give him an entree into any pin tournament in the country. His total of 350 for three strings is a record which is very seldom eclipsed in these parts.

Alec McLean is making negotiations for Gilbert Gallant with the best boys of his weight along the Pacific coast. Since Gallant defeated "One Round" Hogan in 20 rounds at Salt Lake City, McLean has rushed him right along. It would not be surprising at any time to hear of McLean challenging Willie Richie for the championship, which remark reflects in no disparaging way upon Gallant's ability as a ring artist, but simply comments upon the assurance of said Alec McLean and his protege, who are still in 'Frisco.

Manager Jimmy Gray of the local baseball club has finally traded Pete Clemens. Pete will go to Wichita, Kansas, and in exchange the Lowell club will receive two players, Burke, a second baseman, and Waycob, a catcher. Burke batted for .267 last season and Waycob hit for .254. Wichita is a class A team and the calibre of the two men should help out the local club to a great degree. Burke was originally an outfielder and has played every position in the infield as well as the pastures.

There will be some great high jumping at the B. A. A. games this year. Alma Richards, the winner of the event at the last Olympiad, sent in his entry yesterday. Against him will be pitted such men as Johnstone, the Harvard jumper, who has been seen on several occasions here in Lowell, and Barwise of the Unicorn club.

It looks as though Catcher Killifer has at last started the row between organized ball and the outlaws. Killifer was signed up by the Federals, but last night attached himself to the Philadelphia Nationals for three years. It will now be a battle royal between the two leagues. Gilmore and his band of Federal league managers are roaring like so many enraged bulls and threatening dire revenge upon the Phillies.

Manager Bill Carrigan of the Boston Red Sox will start on the southern training trip in about a month. The round will not go in a body at that time, although Bill will take along his pitching staff. The Red Sox will make the Hot Springs their first stopping place. The "Pride of Lewiston" says that he is certain that the Red Sox will be close to the top this season and that, barring accidents, they should win the pennant. Before the season opens we will hear seven other tales of like nature from American league managers.

President of Mass. Society For the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals Issues New Order

The agents of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals have been ordered by President Rowley of the society to arrest on sight any drivers of overloaded teams. It is stated that many complaints have been sent to the various humane society offices of animals struggling in futile efforts to draw heavily loaded wagons, and this is the reason the new order was issued.

Agent Richardson of the Lowell Humane society said: "Although we are always on the watch for drivers who abuse their horses by overloading their wagons, we have very little trouble in Lowell. All of the steep hills in the city are particularly well looked after, especially during the poor traveling weather, but local men show very little carelessness in loading their wagons. What trouble we have met with has been with the coal teamsters who start out with heavy loads and when they reach a bad spot become stuck. We have always tried to educate the people by advice instead of prosecuting them."

Y. W. C. A. GYM

Scene of the Riverlook Circus an Enjoyable Entertainment by Girls' Summer Camping Club

The gymnasium of the Y. W. C. A. in John street was the scene of a large gathering last night, the occasion being a "real" circus representation given under the auspices of the Riverlook club, those in charge being the Grin and Bearem Sisters. The affair was very pleasing throughout and caused much merriment for the many onlookers, who later congratulated both the organizers and performers for the success achieved.

Gray's orchestra was in attendance, and after a few selections had been played, a real circus parade was held, the line of parade being composed of clowns, wild animals, daring bareback riders and chariots. This was followed by a varied exhibition of tight-rope walking and other amusing and hair raising stunts. Those who took part were as follows: Misses Addie Clough, Esther Mulgrave, Florence Archibald, Juna Sleeper, Ruth Gegenheimer, Eva Armstrong, Eva Henderson, Virginia Cutler, Gertrude Libbee, Charles Barton, Ted Pearson, Misses Lillian Butler, Lillian and Elizabeth Mooney, Winifred Nelson, Evelyn Lee, Addie Clough, May Cluin, Charles Stanton, Miss Mabel Stanton, Miss Harriet Jarvis, Miss Maude R. Plumstead, Miss Mildred French, Miss Grace McClurie, Alfaretta Morris, Eleanor Clifford, Anna McKinley, and others.

A small admission fee was charged, and the proceeds of the circus will go to the Riverlook club. The lemonade, peanut, ice cream and popcorn booths, in charge of Misses Alice Handley, Grace Perley, Vera Wood and Sadie Lees, also received excellent patronage.

The ringmaster was Miss Ida Woodles, and Miss Ida Walker was her assistant.

Cured His RUPTURE

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation. If you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 989 Marcellus avenue, Manasquan, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

After the guest performance of "Damaged Goods" for members of congress in Washington last spring, Senator John W. Kern of Indiana was interviewed by one of the Washington newspapers. He said of the play and of its interpretation:

"I was especially gratified to hear all the distinguished people in the Washington audience at 'Damaged Goods'—cabinet officers, senators and congressmen—sound Richard Bennett's praises on every hand and warmly commending the play, and all agreeing that the crusade in which the gifted actor was enlisted would certainly be productive of great good to his fellowmen. I hope that Mr. Bennett may be able to carry this great work forward, and have the chance to give hundreds of audiences the same 'thrill' that his Washington audience experienced."

Representative Thomas L. Reilly of Connecticut, after the performance, gave his view of the play in a bon mot that is worth remembering. He said: "The more we have of 'Damaged Goods' on the stage, the less damaged goods we will have in actual life."

O'BRIEN'S MINSTRELS

Neil O'Brien and his great American Minstrels, all new and better than ever, will be the attraction at the Lowell Opera House Friday evening, Jan. 30th. This is the second season for this organization, which is again under the direction of Oscar F. Hodge. Manager Hodge has surrounded his star with an amazing array of talent, including many of the highest salaried comedians, singers and special feature acts on the minstrel stage. Neil O'Brien needs no indorsement. The company is the largest minstrel organization traveling and includes in addition to the star such notable comedians as Eddie Ross, Eddie Mazier, Pete Detzel, Major Nowak, Georgie Faust and a score of others. The vocal corps consists of several soloists, who have won distinction and fame, notably Ward Barton, the famous yodler; Al. Fontaine, James Barardi, Leslie Berry, Georgie Hagen and Walter Lindsey, in addition to a large chorus.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Interest in "The Merchant of Venice," the attraction to be presented at the Merrimack Square theatre the coming week, has increased ten-fold since the announcement came that it was to be the last offering in which the Players were to be seen in Lowell. An unusual amount of comment had already been aroused that the greatest of the immortal bard's works was to be given production and surely no better vehicle could be secured than this for the Players to make their farewell appearance.

The last performance of the current week's attraction, "The Rosary," are being given and capacity audiences are daily witnessing this wholesome play. Seats for all performances on sale one week in advance. "Goodby" night of the stock company Saturday, Jan. 31. Seats on sale at 10 a. m., Jan. 24. Special feature program of photo-play on Sunday, matinee and night. "Roundy" Roane and other soloists. Prices, 5 and 10 cents.

OWL THEATRE

"Brennan of the Moors" was well received at the Owl last night. A beautiful Pathe play was favorably spoken of. "Bill's Board Bill," a Vitagraph comedy, took well. Other good pictures were also given. The healthful house is getting more popular every day.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Regular attendants at the B. F. Keith theatre are getting their money's worth these days, the bill of the current week being one of much strength. The protean sketch, "The Third Degree," which is being played by Frank Mayne and company, is the biggest attraction of the week. The methods of the police in some of the larger cities in extracting confessions from accused prisoners, the arrangement of circumstantial evidence with the idea in mind of securing a conviction, and the tortures which are devised to break down the prisoner are some of the things graphically shown. Mr. Mayne plays the part of the witnesses, six in number, and also of the prisoner. It is a great playlet. "Surgeon Louder, U. S. A.," a travesty on military life, by Imhof, Conn & Corcene, is diverting. On the bill are a number of other good things, including: Frawley & Hunt, gymnasts; Britt Wood, comedian; the Glockers, water jugglers; Leona Stephens, singer; Burns & Klisen, funsters, and the Pathe Weekly. Good seats may be secured in advance at the box office.—Phone 28.

THE KASINO

The Kasino roller sensation is exclusively its own. The moment you begin circling the spacious hall to tuneful band music, you realize that you are having a new experience, and long ere the session is over, you have formed the Kasino habit. For you always come back. Sessions this afternoon and evening, Friday and Saturday, afternoon and evening.

Bowling Organizations Take Night Off—High Score by Crescents

The Crescents rolled a great game against the Tremont and Suffolk team last night and had an easy time of it. Lebrun of the Crescents put up the remarkable high total of 350. His lowest string was 101 while he rolled 132 on his first string. Marquis was high man for the losers with 318. The final score was 1502 to 1391.

The Arlingtons and the Riversides fought it out on the Y. M. C. I. alleys last night in their Concord league contest. The Arlingtons finally pulled out a win by the narrow margin of ten points. O'Connell was high man in both totals and singles. The scores:

CRESCENTS VS. T. & S.

BOWLING CONTEST

Held for Prizes at Crescent Alleys Last Night—Concannon, Devlin and Reynolds Won

An individual bowling contest was held on the Crescent alleys last evening, the winners of which were awarded cash prizes by the management. Concannon pulled off the highest score of 290 and received $5. Devlin took the second prize with 280 and Reynolds won with 270. The totals of the contestants are as follows:

CROSS TO MEET RIVERS

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 22.—Joe Rivers and Leach Cross, lightweights, were matched yesterday to fight 20 rounds here on February 23.

HOW YOU MAY THROW AWAY YOUR GLASSES

The statement is made that thousands wear eyeglasses who do not need them. If you are one of these unfortunates, then these glasses may be ruining your eyes instead of helping them. Thousands who wear "windows" may prove for themselves that they can dispense with glasses if they will get the following prescription filled at once: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Optona; fill a two-ounce bottle with water and drop in one Optona tablet. With this harmless liquid solution bathe the eyes two to four times daily and you are likely to be astonished at the results right from the start. Many who have been told that they have astigmatism, eye-strain, cataract, sore eyelids, weak eyes, conjunctivitis and other eye disorders, report wonderful benefits from the use of this free prescription. Get this prescription filled and use it; you may so strengthen your eyes that glasses will not be necessary. Thousands who are blind or nearly so, or who wear glasses, would never have required them if they had cared for their eyes in time. Save your eyes before it is too late! Do not become one of these victims of neglect. Eyeglasses are only like crutches and every few years they must be changed to fit the ever-increasing weakened condition, so better see if you can, like many others, get clear, healthy, strong, magnetic eyes through the prescription here given.

BOARD OF TRADE BANQUET

marking that there was nothing he could tell its members about Lowell or her affairs. He asked their assistance in looking after city affairs, especially in the pending financial questions which are confronting the city government. He solicited the counsel and assistance of the members, asked them to visit their representatives at city hall, stating that he and his fellow commissioners would always be glad to receive their suggestions and advice. The mayor was liberally applauded.

William J. Burns

William J. Burns, the famous detective whose work sent the San Francisco boodlers to jail and secured the conviction of 31 Indianapolis dynamiters, spoke for nearly two hours on the responsibilities imposed on all citizens to bring about and uphold clean city government.

GEORGE M. HARRIGAN
President

When Mr. Burns was bowing his acknowledgment to the applause which greeted him, the audience saw before them a dapper, slouish man of medium height, sandy complexion, full mustache, dressed as statdly as a physician, and whose pleasant smile invested him with anything but the appearance of a detective. But when he began speaking and warmed up to his subject, the real William J. Burns, shrewd, indomitable, aggressive, appeared in his true characteristics.

Civic duty, that obligation which rests on all men to work for the welfare of their city, was the one idea which Mr. Burns during his two hours' address, sought to impress on his hearers. To emphasize the importance of the performance of this duty and, by contrast, how its neglect will be followed by civic corruption, Mr. Burns

Secretary

centered his remarks on the city government of San Francisco, when its affairs were under the domination of Boss "Abe" Reuf.

Incidentally he said Reuf is now serving 14 years in San Quentin penitentiary.

After paying a high compliment to Mayor Murphy for his stand for clean government and a still higher one to Superintendent Welch, Mr. Burns launched forth into the story of his work all over the country from New York and Philadelphia to Chicago, Indianapolis and San Francisco.

The time has come, he said, when responsibility for graft will be placed where it belongs, on the men higher up and if it is not always possible to convict these men, at least the public will have the satisfaction of knowing who they are. Following hand in hand with these exposures and convictions, however, it was to be deplored that human life must be sacrificed, as in the case of dynamiters and in that of the New York gamblers and gunmen, yet no great reforms ever had been or in all likelihood ever would be brought about without the sacrifice of life. It was the price paid for the arousing of public opinion.

As an instance of the cheapness with which life is held by those of the underworld, Mr. Burns, when this had been doubted by a Chicago business man, arranged a meeting with Chicago gunmen and, within the hearing of the doubter, made a bargain with the desperados to have the business man wounded and sent to a hospital for $250 and killed outright for $500.

This condition of affairs could be wiped out only by the citizens directing and maintaining a scrutinizing eye on their city government.

"If men like you," he said, "take an interest in public affairs all evil can be eliminated even to the gunmen and the men high up in business and financial circles. In my investigations of crime I have always tried to go after the important man. Turn on him the light of publicity and he ceases to be a menace. Point out the men who seek to debauch public office and office holders and you point the real danger. No man, however high, is above the law but in trying to do my duty I have had at my heels the men who were powerful. All this can be stopped if you men help. San Francisco is an example of how rotten a city can become before the public is aroused. The wonder is that citizens do not become aroused earlier."

In an extremely interesting manner Mr. Burns then described how he prevented the dishonest election of a United States senator from West Virginia. This he secured by running what he laughingly termed a "pipe line," or detective, into the office of the prospective senator and others into those of legislators with itching palms, and securing sufficient evidence to convict them.

In speaking of "pipe lines," or detectives, Mr. Burns passingly remarked that it would be well for his hearers not to trust too implicitly in the honesty of the average private detective; nor for that matter in that of the average lawyer. Many private detectives, he stated, were the greatest blackmailers and thieves that ever escaped justice.

"But despite the nature of my profession," he continued, "no man is more averse than myself to send a fellow man to prison, to brand him as a convict, and keep that brand on him when he returns to the outside world. In this connection, it is an auspicious sign, too, that the judges of our courts are in these days dealing very kindly with first offenders and are giving them every opportunity to reform."

Speaking of the affairs in San Francisco, Mr. Burns said that graft had been reduced to such a science that the right to pick pockets was sold to the highest bidder by the political boss. He had himself seen, he said, the man who controlled this privilege, and had seen him walking the streets, keeping a watchful eye on his hired pickpockets to see that they did not loaf on the job. Merchants had been murdered in their stores and bankers shot down before their safes in open daylight in that city and the perpetrators got off scot free. Not even a house could be built unless the ward boss got his rakeoff.

"When I began bringing these men to justice," he continued, "everybody applauded my actions, but when I started after the men on the top of

FACTORY LEAGUE

Standing of Teams in the Manufacturers' League—T. & S. Team in the Lead

The standing in the Manufacturers' Bowling league remains practically the same as when computed the last time. The Tremont & Suffolk bowlers are in the lead with the U. S. Cartridge rollers close behind. F. O'Brien leads in individual averages with Singleton one point in the rear. The figures for the league are as follows:

Teams	Won	Lost	P.C.
Tremont & Suffolk	7	2	77.8
U. S. Cartridge	6	3	66.7
C. S. Bunting	5	4	55.5
Pigelow	4	5	44.5
Hamilton	4	5	44.5
Merrimacks	4	5	44.5
Appletons	3	6	33.4
J. P. S.	3	6	33.4

Individual averages over 85 are as follows:

F. O'Brien 93, Singleton 92, Arnold 91, J. O'Brien 90, Jodoin 89, McKinley 89, Lees 89, Sweeney 88, McDermott 88, Fortier 88, Gleason 88, Burtt 88, Lefleur 87, Buckley 87, Provencher 87, Armstead 87, Hagerman 87, Whalen 86, Mosher 86, Dunning 86, Smith 86, Van Zant 85, Paul 85, Herron 85, Murphy 85.

JOHNNY COULON WON

Coulon's superior boxing entitled him to a margin, but it was a very slight lead. The rugged Rock Islander proved a willing mixer and staggered Coulon repeatedly with heavy swings to the head and face.

IF MEALS HIT BACK AND STOMACH SOURS

"Pape's Diapepsin" Ends Stomach Misery, Indigestion in Five Minutes

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach headache, you can get blessed relief in five minutes.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, plainly printed on these fifty-cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will understand why dyspeptic troubles of all kinds must go, and why they relieve sour, out-of-order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. "Pape's Diapepsin" is harmless; tastes like candy, though each dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but, what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many "Pape's Diapepsin" cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be enthusiastic about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever take it for indigestion, gases, heartburn, sourness, dyspepsia, or any stomach misery.

Get some now, this minute, and rid yourself of stomach trouble and indigestion in five minutes.

FAST TIME ON TRACKS

PATERSON, N. J., Jan. 22.—Abel R. Kiviat, of the Irish-American Athletic club won the Elks' Derby at 1000 yards, the principal event at the Elks' indoor athletic games held here last night. Kiviat finished five yards ahead of O. De Grouch of the New York Athletic club, who was the same distance in front of Oscar Hedlund of the Boston Athletic association. The winner's time was 2.17 2-5.

Jack Eller of the Irish-American A. C., an Olympic runner, equalled the world's indoor record of 7 2-5 seconds in the sixty yard low hurdles. In the 60 yard sprint, Alvah T. Moyer, I. A. A. C., equalled the American indoor record of 6 2-5 seconds.

BASEBALL MEN MEET

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—Selection of a committee to prepare the league's 1914 playing schedule was the principal business for today's meeting of American association club owners and managers. Two new faces were seen at the meeting. They were those of James Sheckard, formerly with the Chicago Cubs, who yesterday signed to manage the Toledo club this season and W. C. McGill, who purchased the Indianapolis club last week.

Nearly all of the managers admitted they were keeping watch for possible trades and despite announcements that the Federal league has not lampered with many association players much interest was shown in any news regarding the new league.

UNIVERSITY ATHLETICS

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 22.—Hereafter faculty members and administrative officers of the University of Wisconsin will have to pay admission to witness university football, baseball, and basketball games and track events. A ruling made by the athletic council today provides that only team managers, players, newspapermen, and wearers of the varsity, will be admitted free.

Millions Now Know MUSTEROLE

They used to put up with the muss and the bother of mustard plasters.

It smarted, and blistered like all get-out, but it surely did the work.

Science now has combined the amazingly curative properties of mustard with other ingredients into a wonderful ointment.

It is called MUSTEROLE. And it does what mustard plasters used to do, without the plaster, and without the blister!

You just rub MUSTEROLE in. That's all. Then watch how soon the pain goes scooting. How the cool, soothing relief comes afterwards.

FORTUNE COMING

To Michael Keefe if He Can Prove His Title Clear

Michael J. Keefe is engaged in the street department at the present time, but it looks as if the day were soon to dawn when, perhaps, he would say au revoir to the position which he now occupies and enjoys. Of course this has all the uncertainty of green fields far away, but it looks pretty good for Michael J. just the same.

Some time ago there came a letter to city hall from Dr. Howard, of Mound City, Ill., in which it was stated that a fortune awaited the heirs of one Johanna Keefe, who lived in Lowell years ago and who was supposed to have relatives still living here. The letter was published in full in The Sun and it caught Michael J. Keefe's eye. He had heard a great deal about a relative, Johanna Keefe by name, and he proceeded to investigate.

Mr. Keefe, after looking up the records and satisfying himself that there was some connection between the Johanna Keefe mentioned in Dr. Howard's letter and his, Mr. Keefe's relative, he turned the matter over to Col. Carmichael, now Commissioner Carmichael, and the latter proceeded to communicate with Dr. Howard. Several letters were received from the doctor and evidence of the fact that he believed he has discovered the rightful heir or heirs was received this morning in a request from him for full power of attorney to complete the investigation and go through with the case in all its details. Mr. Carmichael has taken the matter under consideration.

BANKERS MUST HURRY

APPLICATIONS TO ENTER NEW SYSTEM MUST BE FILED WITHIN 60 DAYS OF PASSAGE

The secretary of the treasury at Washington has issued a statement to the effect that all national banks must signify their acceptance or non-acceptance of the terms of the new currency act within 60 days from the time of its passage. The state banks and trust companies are not compelled to file their intentions within any time limit.

A part of the act reads as follows:

"Under regulations to be prescribed by the organization committee, every national banking association in the United States is hereby required, and every eligible bank in the United States and every trust company within the District of Columbia, is hereby authorized to signify in writing within sixty days after the passage of this act its acceptance of the terms and provisions hereof."

According to reports from Washington over 4600 banks have already made legal application for membership in the new system, and if applications continue to reach the treasury at the present rate there will be close to 6000 by the end of the week. There are 7500 national banks in the United States and present indications point to but few remaining without the system. Since the approval of the act on Dec. 23, 1913, 52 trust companies and state banks have expressed their desire to join the new system.

TO BACK UP ORGANIZER

STATE BRANCH, A. F. OF L. URGES LUTHRINTER TO STICK AT CLAREMONT, N. H.

CLAREMONT, N. H., Jan. 22.—The New Hampshire State branch of the American Federation of Labor yesterday came to the aid of Organizer John Luthrinter, who has been ordered to leave the town by the business men and board of trade. The A. F. of L. leaders urged Organizer Luthrinter to hold his ground and promised both moral and financial backing.

In defiance of the police mandate, Mr. Luthrinter will conduct public meetings outside of the Sullivan Machinery company factory, and declared last night that he would not cease his efforts to unionize all of the 1200 employes of his factory. His first open air meeting will be during the workmen's noon period today.

IMPROVEMENT IN COTTON

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—Improvement in the quality of cotton products in the south was the subject of a conference yesterday between members of the Arkwright club, representing New England cotton mill interests and officials of the department of agriculture. Many cotton brokers also were present. Charles J. Brand, one of the federal officials, emphasized the need, and told of the efforts of the department to secure co-operation between the spinners and the planters in stimulating the growth of a better grade of cotton. Production of long staple cotton cannot be developed, he said, unless grown on a community basis.

FIRE IN PAPER SHED

On the Aiken Street Dump—Probably Started From Spontaneous Combustion—Shed Destroyed

A large quantity of old papers, which were kept in a shed situated on the Aiken street dump was destroyed by fire early this morning. The inside of the building was also badly damaged and it is believed that the loss will be about $200.

The building and contents were owned by Bettencourt and Quados, who make it a business to pick up all the papers that are strewn over the dump and pile them into this shed until a purchaser is found. About 2.30 o'clock this morning the blaze was discovered and an alarm from box 65 rung in but it was only a few seconds before the top of the building was a mass of flames. By quick work on the part of the firemen the blaze was extinguished and the greater part of the structure saved. It is believed that the fire was caused by spontaneous combustion.

This is the second time that a fire has originated in this place during the night. The last time the building was practically destroyed before the alarm was sounded.

The Store For Thrifty People

NOW FOR THE LAST OF THE DEPARTMENT CLEARANCES

With the following departments, the most satisfactory under-price merchandise movement that we have ever held is brought to a close. We have tried to offer better values than at any other previous sale of its kind and feel that we have succeeded, for nearly every section shows a gain over the year before, and in these last departments we still keep up the good work, and we believe the following reductions will interest every man, woman or child with economical tendencies.

SPECIAL—Through the courtesy of E. A. Wilson Co., who are the agents for Atlas Portland Cement, we are exhibiting in our Palmer Street store a model of the Gatun Locks and Dam of the New Panama Canal.

Resolution Demanding Investigation of Fist Fight Defeated

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The offering of a resolution demanding an investigation of the fist fight between Rep. Ben Johnson of Kentuky and John R. Shields, a Washington attorney at the capitol last Tuesday, precipitated a lively scene at the annual meeting of the board of trade here last night.

Order was restored, however, when the motion to investigate was ruled out of order.

The resolution characterized the incident as a "public outrage and a menace to the entire community and deserving of punishment."

FIST FIGHT AT CITY HALL

BOSTON COUNCILMAN POUNDS EX-COUNCILMAN, WHO ASSAILED HIM—"JERRY" WATSON WON

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—After one of the hottest fist fights ever witnessed at city hall, Councilman James A. Watson and Ex-Councilman John T. McCormack of Charlestown were separated yesterday by friends of both men who witnessed the encounter.

The fight took place in the office of Clerk of Committees John F. Dever, where Watson was using a telephone. According to him and several others, McCormack entered the room and annoyed him to such an extent that he warned him until his patience became exhausted.

Blow after blow was struck with such telling effect that the fight soon became one-sided, and friends of the men separated them. Watson was the victor, and witnesses declared him blameless, saying that he acted only in defence.

LOWELL IS OUT

Not Included in Proposed New Salisbury Beach Reservation

It looks as if Lowell, under the terms of the proposed new Salisbury beach reservation, had been eliminated from that reservation and that is as it should be. The terms of the reservation are outlined in a bill introduced by a Lawrence representative. The bill provides for a reservation commission appointed by the governor and council and that its expenses shall be paid by the state. It also limits the reservation to "any or all of the land, or any or all of the rights in any land in that part of the town of Salisbury bounded as follows: Easterly by the Atlantic ocean; northerly by the line between the commonwealth of Massachusetts and the state of New Hampshire; southerly by the Merrimack river and westerly 500 feet from the Atlantic ocean.

This provision makes it a purely ocean reservation and places the burden entirely on the state at large. The Lowell board of trade has already made plans to keep in touch with the progress of this bill and to prevent, if possible, the recurrence of what happened before when the legislature shifted the reservation make-up to include certain cities and towns for the purpose of assessing the cost on them.

BAR FOREIGN SLAVERS

ALIENS WHO HAVE BEEN EXCLUDED FOR "INTENDED CONCUBINAGE" ARE BARRED

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—The ruling of the United States supreme court that "intended concubinage" is ground for the exclusion of aliens was broadened and supplemented by the United States circuit court of appeals in a decision disposing of the habeas corpus proceedings instituted in behalf of Hans Bauer, a Swiss millionaire, who, while belonging to a class excluded, applied for naturalization and obtained first papers in September, 1911.

The decision holds that aliens who have been excluded for "intended concubinage," whether they return singly or together, are forever barred from the United States.

In his statement of the case Judge Henry Wade Rogers, who wrote the opinion, says that Bauer came to this country in June, 1910, and was charged with attempting to bring in a woman for immoral purposes. Bauer and the woman were deported. He returned to New York the following month and was admitted. In 1911 he made a trip to Europe and on his return was again admitted.

In the early part of 1913 the immigration inspectors at Chicago, where Bauer had established a large business, suggested his deportation, the Swiss government at that time having asked for his extradition for alleged fraudulent sales of mining stock in Switzerland. The ensuing extradition proceedings against Bauer failed, but in July last, he was brought to New York for deportation. The habeas corpus proceedings of yesterday resulted.

FOR NEW RED CROSS BUILDING

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The plans and designs of the new Red Cross building to be erected here as a memorial to the women who died in the Civil war have been approved by the commission which has charge of the construction of the building.

The commission chose the plans submitted by Trowbridge & Livingston, architects of New York.

TO DEPORT TEN SLAVERS

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 22.—Ten Kansas City Greeks were ordered deported yesterday following a government investigation of white slavers who are alleged to have operated extensively in the middle west. Most of the men are keepers of coffee houses or saloons.

The syndicate, according to Harry C. Allen, United States immigration inspection here, carried on an organized trade. American girls were enticed into coffee houses and restaurants, held by force, and later distributed among the cities served by the syndicate.

PEARSON HOLDS GOOD

Atty. Gen. Swift Rules on Adjutant General—His Acts as Armory Commissioner Also Valid

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—Atty. Gen. Swift's last official act was an opinion filed yesterday in response to a request by Gov. Walsh ruling that Adjt. Gen. Gardner W. Pearson is holding his office legally and that his acts as armory commissioner are also valid.

The attorney general, however, declares that the militia acts passed since 1908 contain so many inconsistencies in the use of military titles and seemingly haphazard and loosely drawn provisions that this involved situation should be cleared up by more accurate legislation. It is because of these inconsistencies that he adds: "It was with grave doubt I came to any conclusion."

The opinion states that Adjt. Gen. Pearson's acts "as armory commissioner, acting as such, at least de facto, under the familiar principles of a de facto officer, will not be invalid as affecting the title of the state to lands acquired by the armory commission."

He states that strict adherence to the precise phraseology of the different official titles used in the various enactments would lead to an absurd situation of providing for two adjutant generals, one chief of staff commissioned in the department of the adjutant general, the other chief of staff, ex officio, as the adjutant general on the staff of the commander-in-chief. If only the one officer is intended, it would be difficult to say for which of these two positions the commissions should issue.

He finds that the office of adjutant general, with the rank of brigadier general, who shall, ex officio, be chief of staff, was not abolished, whether or not Adjt. Gen. Pearson is the adjutant general qualified to act as the head of the adjutant general's department.

He finds that the law entitles Adjt. Gen. Pearson "to remain at least as the adjutant general on the staff of the commander-in-chief." He adds that the question of the commission held by Adjt. Gen. Pearson did not come before him and it must be determined by the governor upon the production of the commission itself.

TO REFORM SCHOOLS

MAYOR ELECT CURLEY PROPOSES MANY INNOVATIONS—WILL PUT CITY LABORERS ON HONOR

NORTH ADAMS, Jan. 22.—Mayor-elect Curley yesterday had the time of his life in the midst of the Berkshire hills in a howling snow storm. He went sleigh riding, he snowballed, he snowshoed and otherwise revelled in the snowdrifts. Between revels he found time to say a few things concerning the coming administration.

Also he commenced the work of writing his inaugural address. He expects to have the copy in the hands of the printer by Monday. He is still living incog and meeting with some success at it. The incognito was only broken once yesterday. When Mr. Curley was inspecting the Gen. Electric plant he was recognized by the chief of the company's private fire department, who was formerly a lieutenant in the Boston fire department and a voter in ward 17. The fireman promised to maintain a discreet silence in the matter.

Among some of the innovations which the mayor-elect proposes are: Putting city employees on honor, more study of the three Rs and less fads in the public schools, segregation of persons arrested for drunkenness, reduction of sentences for those arrested for drunkenness, the building of a separate institution on Deer Island for the purpose of curing persons suffering from drunkenness, and the establishment of public works modelled along the lines adopted by German municipalities, whereby work may be furnished to those who are unemployed through no fault of their own.

The mayor-elect has decided to hold the inaugural ceremonies in Faneuil hall, and yesterday wired Sees. Dolan and Wilcox to obtain Faneuil hall for Feb. 2. He has also asked Cardinal O'Connell to name the priest who shall make the prayer at the inaugural. The minor details of the ceremonies he has left to his secretaries.

The mayor-elect said the school situation was probably the most important one affecting the city, as upon the public schools rested the foundations of our government. The most difficult problem would probably be the handling of the public works department. His city planning board he deems of the utmost importance, for upon that board will devolve the duty of planning for the city's needs for 50 years to come.

HEARING FOR REGIONAL BANK

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 22—The hearing of St. Louis' claims for a regional bank under the recently enacted currency law which was begun here yesterday before the organization committee, consisting of Secretary of Agriculture Houston and Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo was resumed today.

Late tonight the secretaries will depart for Kansas City, where a one-day hearing of that city's claims to the center of a federal reserve district will be heard.

CARNEGIE HERO MEDALS

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—The Carnegie Hero Fund commission at its 10th annual meeting in Pittsburgh, Pa., yesterday afternoon recognized 30 individual acts of heroism performed during the past year within the United States. In 11 cases silver medals were awarded and in 19 cases bronze medals.

The heroes were residents of 15 states. The greatest number honored in any state was five from Illinois, Pennsylvania came next with four, and New York and Michigan with three each. Massachusetts had one hero and Connecticut one.

BITTER RAP AT TANGO

CARDINAL CAVALLARRI, PATRIARCH OF VENICE, ISSUES AN EPISCOPAL LETTER

VENICE, Jan. 22.—Cardinal Aristide Cavallari, the successor of the present pope as patriarch of Venice, has issued an episcopal letter which is the most energetic of all those so far published with reference to the tango, and acquires even greater importance, as it is reported to have been inspired by the pontiff.

The letters condemn the tango in the strongest terms, referring to it as moral turpitude, and adding: "It is everything that can be imagined. Only those persons who have lost all moral sense can endure it. It is the shame of our days. Whoever persists in it commits a sin."

The cardinal ordered all ecclesiastics to deny absolution to those who, having danced the tango, do not promise to discontinue the practice.

92,406,000 BARRELS OF CEMENT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Production of Portland cement in the United States increased by nearly ten million barrels in 1913 compared with 1912. Estimates by the federal geological survey shows that the production last year was approximately 92,406,000 barrels against 82,432,006 barrels for the preceding year.

The average value per barrel was appreciably higher in 1913 than in 1912.

ARGENTINE BUTTER IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—The first big shipment of Argentine butter, consisting of 2000 boxes of 60 pounds each was put on sale here today. It cost about 29 cents laid down in New York with all charges paid. Four hundred boxes are being shipped to Boston.

GUILTY OF MURDER

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 22.—A verdict of murder with a recommendation of mercy was returned last night in the case of Charles B. Smith of Newport.

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver. Stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system.

They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or disagreeable effects of any kind.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint with the attendant bad breath.

Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 10c and 25c per box. The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, O. All druggists.

The regular weekly meeting of the young ladies' Mizpah club connected with the Centralville Methodist church was held at the home of Miss Mae Swift in West Tenth street, Wednesday evening. After the business had been transacted a social hour was enjoyed, during which refreshments were served in charge of Mrs. Swift and Mrs. Whiteley, with Miss Swift as waitress. Miss Alice Peard was the pianist of the evening, and Miss Laura Callahan sang several songs.

The mother's department of the Federation of the First Congregational church held a well attended meeting yesterday afternoon at the church vestry. The president, Mrs. Otis Butler, presided, and the usual program of Scripture reading and of singing was carried out. Miss Bowen, superintendent of the Lowell General hospital, read an instructive paper on "Phophylactics, or the Prevention of Contagious Diseases." After the meeting, light refreshments were served by the following hostesses: Mrs. Guy Johnson, Mrs. Rorie Weed and Mrs. O. E. Coon.

The installation of the recently elected officers of Court Wannalancit, No. 171, M. C. O. F., to be held in the North Chelmsford town hall on Sunday afternoon, Feb. 1st, is likely to prove one of the chief events in the annals of this popular organization. The ceremony will be open to the general public at the request of many who have still in mind the success that attended the last public installation. The installing ceremony will be performed by the ladies' degree staff of one of the Boston courts. Vocal and instrumental selections by well known amateurs will precede the installation, which will be followed by the holding of a banquet in the lower hall. The concert and installation is open to the public, but admission to the banquet will be by ticket, the price of which is 50 cents. Tickets can be obtained from Miss Mary Garvey of Princeton street and should be secured by Thursday, Jan. 29.

the criminal ladder, I was stigmatized by the members of San Francisco's so-called polite society as a bloodhound."

Here Mr. Burns alluded in a feeling manner to the support he received at that time from President Roosevelt, who upheld him in a magazine article which under the caption "Murder is Murder," created countrywide interest.

The McNamara brothers, he stated, were far from being the greatest offenders against society; for they were but the tools of the men higher up.

"This statement," he said, "is not that I wish to arraign class against class, for that is not my business; yet I may say some things which might sound that way."

Then he described the work which Rudolph Spreckles did for San Francisco, his native city.

"Speckles, a man of great wealth, has devoted his life to the elimination of graft on the Pacific coast. The sacrifice of life through the intriguing of the bosses had not been enough to stir Mr. Spreckles from the civic lethargy which, as in the cases of so many of his companions, enveloped him. A drop in gas stock, in which company Mr. Spreckles was interested, started that gentleman on an investigation. Hundreds of complimentary, paid-up, gas bills had been slight offerings of the greed of the politicians. Incidentally, the city boss had been retained on the payrolls of the company at $1200 a month, though the only work he did was to draw that money. And on every corporation in the city, the boss held a similar position."

"Once into the investigation," continued Mr. Burns, "Mr. Spreckles continued heart and soul in his work of city uplift. When his efforts began to rouse the fear of his friends, the society people of San Francisco, he was threatened with social ostracism, but he never faltered. Then his work began to have its effect."

Here Mr. Burns described his manner of obtaining confessions, many of which he wrung from the San Francisco grafters. It was a simple matter, he stated. Confessions were procured by securing a previous indubitable evidence, with which the crook was confronted, and in nine cases out of ten, with his nose against the door of the penitentiary these boodlers would tell all and implicate others. This corroboration was obtained. Mr. Burns works no third degree methods.

During his San Francisco investigation, Mr. Burns' life had been threatened a number of times. "And if it had not been for Divine Providence on one occasion," he continued, "I would not be here to address you tonight." This was in reference to the attempt on his life by a hired murderer which was made in a San Francisco court. On that occasion, Attorney Francis J. Heney, the prosecuting attorney, was shot down in the courtroom.

Mr. Burns concluded by expressing the belief that there was only one way to do away with municipal corruption and that is by the election of honest city officials. The San Francisco exposure, he ended, had aroused the whole country, citizens were alive to dangers before them, and would henceforth meet them courageously and conscientously.

His talk was interspersed with numerous stories of his work illustrating the ingenious methods he adopted to catch grafters, crooks and political bosses. His talk was the most entertaining and instructive ever heard here on the subject of municipal corruption.

Charles W. Burrows

Chas. W. Burrows of Cleveland, O., spoke on the feasibility of one cent letter postage, presenting facts and figures to show that it is feasible if the government makes the magazines and other such matter pay its proportionate share. Certain kinds of second class matter, he said, most of which is advertising matter and magazines, has undue advantage. He pleaded for such a change as would place a fair proportion of the expense on second class matter, and thus enable the government to give the people one cent postage.

Gen. Pearson

Adjutant General Pearson gave a talk which was cut short by the lateness of the hour, but which presented moving pictures of military operations of all kinds in the army and navy. It was greatly enjoyed.

At the head table were President George M. Harrigan, William J. Burns, Mayor Dennis J. Murphy, Charles W. Burrows, General Gardner W. Pearson, Rev. Charles T. Billings, Harvey B. Greene, Commissioner Charles J. Morse, Patrick O'Hearn, Frank Hanchett, William A. Mitchell, Robert F. Marden, Capt. William P. White, Harry Dunlap, E. B. Carney, Clarence H. Nelson, Hon. Henry J. Edward Fisher and A. J. Norton assistant manager of the Burns agency in Boston.

The military officers who officiated as aids and who were in uniform were, besides Adjt. Gen. Pearson, Major Chas. A. Stevens of the adjutant general's office; Capt. Lewis G. Hunton and Adjt. Harry W. Sheldon, of the Sixth regiment staff; Capt. James H. Greig, of Company K; Capt. George W. Peterson, of Company C; Capt. W. R. Jeyes, of Company G, and Capt. Philip McNulty, of Company M; Lieuts. Doyle and Waller, of Company G; Master and Cashin of Company K; Powers and Duffy, of Company C, and Christian, of Company M.

PICTURES OF JUNGLE CREATURES

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—George Shiras, former congressman from Pennsylvania, and A. G. Anthony, an explorer on the staff of the American museum of natural history, will leave next week for Panama, the former to obtain flashlight pictures of the jungle creatures and the explorer to collect mammals and birds.

Gatun lake will be made the basis of operations.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. William F. Barrett.

For United States Under Pres. Wilson, Says Sec. Bryan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The United States is entering upon an era of idealism, in the opinion of Secretary Bryan, principal speaker at a democratic dinner last night. Secretary Bryan declared that the commercial ideal has been dominant in this country for years but that under the leadership of President Wilson a change is coming. He said that the country is entering upon a new age of ideals.

"The people were demanding that this country should no longer be used as a tool for the interests." Secretary Bryan continued:

"No man ever took up his difficult task with as brave a heart or has pursued it with more temerity than has the president."

GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP

OF THE RAILROADS OF THE COUNTRY WILL BE FAVORED BY MINE WORKERS

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 22.—Government ownership of the railroads of the country, it appears, will be favored by the United Mineworkers of America, in convention here this week. The resolutions committee last night refused to report a proposition to call upon congress to pass a law prohibiting railroad and street car companies collecting fares from passengers not provided with seats.

There is before the committee also a resolution submitted by the union at Louisville, Colorado, urging that all available funds on hand be applied to the purchase of mines and that this policy be pursued until all the mines in the country are the property of the miners' organizations.

A co-operative wholesale supply house, under the management of the international union as a means to reduce the cost of living is provided for in a resolution from the Bear Creek, Mont., union.

MATRIMONIAL

The marriage of Mr. Charles Sheehan and Miss Margaret A. Coughlin took place at St. Peter's rectory yesterday at 8 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Fr. Mullin. The couple were attended by Mr. Edward Sheehan, the groom's cousin, and Miss Catherine G. Coughlin, a sister of the bride.

The bride was charmingly gowned in white charmeuse with pearl trimmings; she carried a bouquet of bridal roses. The bridesmaid wore king blue crepe de chine, and carried a bouquet of sweet peas. The bride's gift to her maid was a diamond studded bracelet. The best man received a pearl stickpin from the groom.

After the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride, 948 Central street, where, amid the decorations of palms and potted plants, the happy couple were greeted by relatives and friends from Dorchester, Brookline, Dedham, Brockton and this city. Here the entire party partook of a sumptuous wedding supper. The newly married couple were the recipients of many costly and useful gifts in cut glass, linen and silverware.

Mr. and Mrs. Sheehan, accompanied by their host of friends boarded the 9.11 train for Boston, whence they will journey to New York, Philadelphia and Washington, returning about Feb. 1.

GOVERNMENT OWNED R.R.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The project for a government owned and operated railroad was up for a vote in the senate today after nearly two weeks of debate. By unanimous consent it had been agreed to begin the roll call at 4 o'clock after Senators Pitman and Dillingham concluded their announced speeches on the bill and senate leaders were confident it would pass by an overwhelming non-partisan vote.

The subject is yet in the first stages of debate in the house, where Delegate Wickersham of Alaska has offered a measure virtually the same as the Chamberlain bill.

NINETEEN HORSES PERISHED

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—Nineteen horses were burned to death in a general alarm fire that destroyed the Lee & Smith stable at 14 Foster street, North Salem, last night.

The horses were valuable draft animals that had just been secured for spring sales.

The cause of the fire was an overheated stove in the harness room that adjoins the main stable. The night watchman had left the premises to use an adjoining telephone. In his absence the heat of the stove set fire to the harness room and spread quickly to the carriage sheds and main office in front.

GUILTY OF FIRING YACHT

CAPT. JOHN A. FISH OF NEW YORK CONVICTED BY JURY IN U. S. DISTRICT COURT

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—Capt. John A. Fish of New York was convicted by a jury in the United States district court yesterday on an indictment charging him with burning his yacht Senta in the harbor of Edgartown, Martha's Vineyard, to get $15,000 insurance money.

The penalty, according to the statute, is "life imprisonment or a term of years." Pending an appeal, sentence was stayed and the captain was released on $10,000 bail.

PERISHED IN HOTEL FIRE

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Jan. 22.—An unidentified man lost his life and three other persons were probably fatally burned in a fire that destroyed the National hotel, a small hostelry here early today. Several persons were injured in jumping from windows. The fire was caused by the explosion of a coal stove in the office of the building.

The Home Beauty Parlor

by Betty Dean

Marie: Your shortsightedness and squinting are probably caused by a weak and overworked condition of the eyes. I do not think your eye troubles are serious; they can be relieved with the daily application of two or three drops at a time, of this simple tonic: Dissolve an ounce of crystos in a pint of water. This will be a great comfort as well as a beautifier and will prevent that squinting which is apt to make crow's-feet and lines about the eyes. Take my advice; don't worry.

Hilda: There are many methods advocated for reducing the chin; but after all, there is nothing so good as to keep down the general flesh. And this does not require any vigorous dieting or exercising if you will take this simple remedy which you can mix at home. Get four ounces of parnotis at the drugstore, and dissolve it in 1½ pints water. Take a tablespoonful before meals. It will work magic with the "dreadful double chin" and you will experience no bad effects. High collars should be worn as little as possible. They increase the tendency to flabby throat.

Miss L. G.: Here is a hair tonic which you can prepare at home at small expense and which is a genuine hair grower of the best and simplest kind. Be sure to keep your scalp clean by frequent shampooing with canthrox and then rub into your scalp this tonic, made by dissolving an ounce of quinzoin in a half pint of alcohol and adding one-half pint cold water. For all scalp troubles and badly nourished hair this is an unequalled remedy.

Olive: I never recommend a hair dye but unless I am much mistaken about your age, you should not have trouble with faded or gray hair for a long while yet. The best way in the world to stop your hair troubles is to wash with canthrox occasionally. Use a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. It is the best thing I know of to remove dandruff and prevent brittleness, split hairs, and the irritation caused by excess oil. It cleanses thoroughly, and has none of the objectionable qualities of soap or ordinary shampoos. This is very economical and easy to use. Dries quickly and can be used with the very least waste of time.

Miss H. O.: Your skin trouble sounds as if it were caused by your use of ordinary face powders. They give an artificial look—especially if one is inclined to be sallow or pimpled. The very thing for you is spurnax—the best liquid lotion I know about. It is economical because you mix it yourself at home. Get 4 ounces spurnax (at any drugstore) and mix it with ½ pint hot water, add 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine, apply it to face, neck and arms. The effect will surprise you with its beauty and naturalness. It will cling as if a part of your skin, and last during an entire evening. It will not only disguise cold sores, blemishes, etc., but in time it will relieve them entirely.

Lily Dale: For your hollow cheeks and sallow, colorless skin, there is nothing better in the world than this greaseless complexion jelly which you can easily prepare at home. Get one ounce of almozoin, put it in a fruit jar, add half a pint cold water and two teaspoonfuls glycerine. Stir briskly and let stand over night. The use of this with careful massaging will improve skin-nutrition and give transparency and loveliness to the complexion. It is fine to correct pimples.

Isabel: I was glad to read of your enthusiasm about the canthrox shampoo and gladly respond also to your request for this old fashioned tonic prescription. Dissolve one-half cup sugar and one ounce kardene in one-half pint alcohol; then add enough boiling water to make a full quart. Take a tablespoonful before each meal. I think your sudden distaste for work is as you say, physical, and this tonic will, by purging the system of impurities, restore your dangling energies and spirits. For a good complexion beautifier see answer to Miss H. O.

MANY MEN AT WORK REMOVING THE SNOW

Charlie Morse Will Make Clean Sweep of Business Section—St. Ry. Co., Supplies Teams—Other City Hall News

Commissioner Charlie Morse put 389 men to work this morning and though it isn't snowing in Lowell today the snow is flying just the same, for a big majority of the 389 men are wielding the shovel. Others are swinging the American anchor, sometimes called pick, and a few bosses, not many, are looking on.

"Yes, siree, we are making the snow fly today," said Charlie as he unbuckled his tall overshoes and lit a cigar. "I have 382 men and 60 double teams at work and they are moving some snow, believe me. Eighteen of the sixty teams are supplied by the Bay State Street railway, Mr. Farrington told me last night that his company would supply eighteen teams for the removal of snow, but I must confess that up to the noon hour I hadn't succeeded in locating more than 12 of the eighteen teams. There are streets that I didn't get to, however, and I was told there were teams in streets not visited by me. I know Mr. Farrington is a man of his word and I am satisfied that the 18 teams have been placed all right. There won't be much snow left in the busy parts of the city when we get through today.

"The removal of the snow, as I told you yesterday, does not constitute the big cost of a snow storm. The gutters represent a greater cost than does the removal of the snow. You can imagine the condition the gutters would be in if it should rain today or tomorrow. It is practically impossible to keep all the gutters clean and when the rain comes—good night! If you haven't got your gutters in good shape before the rain comes there's going to be something doing and it's going to cost a whole lot of money. But we must make up our minds to take things as they come and let it go at that."

Storage of Gasoline

At the meeting of the municipal council yesterday Commissioner Carmichael spoke about the storage of gasoline, the possibility of danger and the great necessity of the use and storage of it being looked after very carefully. He thought it would be a good plan to have the fire chief examine, at intervals, places where gasoline is kept and also to have the chief or somebody appointed by him examine, monthly, places where large amounts of paints, oils, varnish and other inflammable materials are kept. Mr. Carmichael's suggestion received the unanimous approval of the board and he has addressed the following letter to the chief of the fire department:

Jan. 22, 1914.

Mr. Edward F. Saunders, Chief Fire Department, Lowell, Mass.:

My Dear Mr. Saunders—I wish you would examine with regularity, either by yourself or some official of the fire department, places where gasoline is kept, and report to me, and also keep a report on file with whatever recommendation you may think necessary for the safety of the neighborhood where gasoline is kept.

I would also like to have you or an official appointed by you examine monthly places where large amounts of paints, oils, varnish and other inflammable material are kept in the city of Lowell. Send a report of the condition of places to me, and keep a report on file at your office, with any recommendation you may believe will lessen the cause of fire in or about the premises where such goods are kept.

Yours very truly,
(Signed)
James H. Carmichael,
Commissioner of Water Works and Fire Protection.

Hard Lines These

There's a man in New Hampshire, a man of the cloth, too, who would make an Oriental trip if he could prove his title clear to American citizenship, but up to date it doesn't look very good for him. He wants to set sail Feb. 2 and having failed to obtain the necessary passports, because of lack of evidence of citizenship, he addressed a letter to City Clerk Flynn, asking for his assistance. The good man of the gospel lived in Lowell some 40 odd years ago and his father, he states in the letter, took out his naturalization papers here. The man in New Hampshire says that he and his father lived here about 15 years and that his father worked in Dugdale's mill. It is very evident that the man from the Granite state came to this country as a boy and has never been naturalized for had he been naturalized it is argued that he would not require his father's naturalization papers in order to obtain passports. The city clerk has looked up hill and down dale for the much-needed naturalization papers, but has failed to find them. His has been a diligent but useless search and, being a very kind-hearted man, he feels rather badly about it. There is food for reflection, however, in this little story. There's many a man in Lowell who would like to make the oriental trip if he had the money. They could prove their title clear to citizenship all right, but the long green—that's the rub. On the other hand, the New Hampshire man has the long green, but "sans" on the other paper. Ischkabibble!

Industrial Accident Board

The industrial accident board will give a hearing in the councilmanic chamber at city hall tomorrow morning at 10.30 o'clock. It will be an arbitration hearing under the Workmen's Compensation act and Commissioner James H. Carmichael has been selected as one of the arbitrators. Mr. Dickinson will appear for the board. When the board wants to hold a hearing in Lowell it addresses a letter to City Messenger Monahan asking him to please arrange for the use, by the board, of the councilmanic chamber. The letter never contains any details as to the nature of the case to be heard, but all cases under the Workmen's Compensation act are, in a way, quite similar.

DIED AT HOSPITAL

Joseph Sullivan Died of Injuries Received at Lowell Bleachery

The many friends of Joseph Sullivan, the well known bricklayer, will be grieved to learn of his death which occurred this afternoon at St. John's hospital, where he had been confined for the past two weeks, after being injured in an accident at the Lowell Bleachery Co.

Mr. Sullivan was accidentally thrown from a brick wall and in his fall both his wrists were fractured and he also received internal injuries. The accident occurred two weeks ago last Monday and the man was taken to St. John's hospital, where he passed away this afternoon. Deceased was 42 years of age and resided at 15 Bassett street. He is survived by a wife and child. He was a member of the Bricklayers' union.

HENRY SIEGEL SAYS HE IS BROKE

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Henry Siegel, head of a chain of drygoods enterprises, most of which failed recently, took the witness stand this afternoon before a special master appointed in the receivership proceedings and testified that he was practically penniless.

"I used to draw $4000 salary every month from my stores," he said. "Now I have no income. I haven't a cent."

Siegel told of the organization of the Siegel stores corporation which he and Frank Vogel formed as a holding company to take over the Siegel stores in Chicago, New York and Boston. He said the common stock of the company owned in most part by myself and Vogel was given them for their share in the stores. The preferred stock—$2,000,000 in all and paying seven per cent—was sold for cash in England and Scotland, very little being retained in America.

He was asked where this $2,000,000 in cash went. He could positively account for only $500,000 of it. Of this $330,595 went to the Fourteenth store, $62,000 to the Boston store and $68,524 to the Simpson Crawford Co., all of which failed.

Siegel related how he had been forced to quit his magnificent home in Madison avenue, mortgaging it for $145,000, and how he sold his country estate.

BOARD OF TRADE BANQUET AT ARMORY GREATEST EVER

The New Year banquet of the board of trade held at the armory last night was a record-breaker, not only in point of attendance but in the entertainment furnished, for the address of William J. Burns, the world famed detective, was of the most absorbing interest, dealing as it did with the detection and conviction of criminals, and he has accomplished more in this line than any other man now living.

This was followed by an address by Charles W. Burrows, president of the Association for One Cent Postage, and by an illustrated talk by Adjt.-Gen. Pearson, which was highly instructive.

Rev. C. T. Billings invoked the divine blessing the members and their friends sat down to a bountiful supper served by the D. L. Page Co. The tables covered practically the entire floor of the great drill shed, yet despite the record number in attendance the affair was carried out without a hitch, due to the antecedent hard work of Secretary John H. Murphy and his assistant committees.

There were nearly 500 men arranged at the tables. President Harrigan did not waste any time in his introductory remarks, but simply stated the main objects of the board of trade, the lines of endeavor followed for the uplift of the city. He then called upon Mayor Murphy to respond to the toast, "The City of Lowell."

Mayor Murphy

Mayor Murphy, in a short address, expressed the appreciation which he felt on behalf of the city at having such a patriotic citizen as Mr. Burns addressing the board of trade of Lowell. He commended that body for its progressive work in city building, re-

LOWELL PROBE

Dist. Attorney Corcoran Has Started on the Lowell Case

CAMBRIDGE, Jan. 22.—Dist. Atty. Corcoran announced yesterday at the East Cambridge court house that his office force was starting a thorough investigation of the affairs of the Lowell city government, and should any evidence of wrong-doing on the part of any of the officials be discovered, the evidence will be presented to the grand jury at its session in March.

NO SKATING AT "SHEDD"

The snow spoiled the skating at Shedd park and just for that a great many skaters were disappointed. The rink was flooded today and just how good a skating surface the flooding will develop remains to be seen. There are several inches of snow on the ice that should have been scraped away before the rink was flooded, but Supt. Kernan says it costs money to scrape a seven-acre pond and the park department, he says, isn't very rich. "I do not know what the surface will be like," he said, "but I decided to make a try at flooding over the snow. The surface wasn't very smooth anyway."

CHICAGO GIRL MISSING

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—Judith Klausener, daughter of a wealthy manufacturer of Duesseldorf, Germany, disappeared six days ago, according to information given the police today by her uncle Henry Ritter, with whom she was residing here.

Miss Klausener, according to Ritter, is 17 years old and an artist in water colors. She has several relatives in Chicago and left home to visit one of them.

TWO INDICTED

For Collecting Political Contributions From Civil Service Employes

CORTLANDT, N. Y., Jan. 22.—W. H. Kelley of Syracuse, democratic state committeeman and Fay C. Parsons, chairman of the democratic committee of Cortlandt county, were jointly indicted by the grand jury here today for violating the civil service law in collecting political contributions from civil service employes. Parsons was separately indicted also on 14 counts for collecting political assessments from state employes.

District Attorney Tobin recommended that the next grand jury conduct a John Doe investigation into the construction, maintenance and repair and oiling of state roads in Cortlandt county.

TO REIMBURSE B. & M.

PRES. WILLIAMS OF FITCHBURG R. R., BEFORE THE PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—Moses Williams, president of the Fitchburg R. R. Co. appeared before the public service commission today in support a petition for the approval of an issue of $1,250,000 of bonds, principally to reimburse the Boston & Maine for improvements on the property. The Fitchburg owns the Boston & Maine $1,400,000 and has $500,000 of its own bonds maturing on May 1, 1914. There was no opposition to the petition.

SUDDEN DEATH OF FAMOUS AVIATOR

During Career C. K. Hamilton Had Collarbone Broken Twice, Ribs Fractured, Arm Dislocated, Knee Fractured and Legs Broken

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Charles K. Hamilton, who gained fame as an aviator by flying from New York to Philadelphia and return, died suddenly today at his home in this city. His wife was aroused by Hamilton's groaning and she hurriedly summoned a physician. But the aviator was dead before the doctor reached the house. The cause of death was internal hemorrhage. Hamilton was 28 years old.

Hamilton has been in poor health for more than two years and recently suffered a nervous breakdown. His former home was New Britain, Conn. During his career as an aviator he had many accidents. His collarbone was broken twice, two ribs were fractured, his left arm was dislocated, his right knee cap fractured, both legs dislocated and he suffered other minor hurts. He began first with flights on kites and dirigible balloons and then took up the aeroplane.

OFFICER GIVEN HEARING

The hearing of Patrolman John W. Mahan before the special board appointed by the mayor to hear the complaints preferred by Supt. Welch and witnesses occurred last night in the court of special sessions. The trial board is composed of Captain Atkinson and Sergeants Duncan and Manning.

It was charged that Officer Mahan was guilty of violating rule 19 of the police manual and the bill of particulars set forth in the complaint stated that "on Sunday evening, Jan. 11, said officer, while on duty, drank intoxicating liquor; that on the same evening, while on duty, he used harsh, vile and profane language toward Michael Malowicz, in a house located in East Merrimack street, and that said officer while in said house at or about the same time did unlawfully take hold of Annie Sokolosky and push her twice, the first push causing her to fall against the table; that on the same evening and on the same premises he engaged in conversation with Michael Malowicz and others without just cause thereof."

Michael Malowicz was the first witness and it was found necessary to employ an interpreter. Malowicz stated that he lived at 22 Howe street and that on the evening named in the complaint, he was in a house on East Merrimack street where a party was being given in his honor. Witness said that he was to be married and his friends had arranged the affair for this reason.

Witness testified that while he was in the house, Officer Mahan entered in uniform and went into a sideroom where he partook of one bottle and three glasses of beer. This was before 6 o'clock. That night, said the witness, the officer came back, this time in citizen's clothes, and had several more drinks. While the officer was there, trouble occurred and the witness ordered the defendant to leave the premises. Instead, said Malowicz, Officer Mahan swore at him and made threats to "get him." During the argument the officer pushed Annie Sokolosky in the face and she fell to the floor. Later, said the witness, Officer Maloney appeared upon the scene and quieted the disturbance.

The witness was put through a rigid cross examination by Lawyer William A. Hogan, counsel for Officer Mahan. Witness acknowledged that he had drank heavily of intoxicants on the night in question, but refused to admit that he was drunk.

The next witness was a fifteen year old girl named Sofia Latowski. She was also present at the festivities described by Malowicz and her story was practically the same as that told by the former witness. Officer Mahan, she added, brought a bunch of roses for a girl named Stella, when he made his second call on the merry makers. At this time he drank seven or eight glasses of beer, said the girl. She said the affair was one of the pre-nuptial feasts which are always celebrated by the Polish people and that twenty kegs of beer and a large amount of whiskey was in the house for the guests to partake of. Witness said that Malowicz was not drunk.

Officer Maloney, who has the beat where the trouble occurred, was the next witness. He testified that when he went to work on the Sunday night in question Officer Wilson apprised him of the fact that a wedding feast was in progress in the house already referred to. The feast had been going on for 24 hours at that time, the officer said, and advised Patrolman Maloney to keep a watch on the actions of the merry makers.

The outcries of children called the witness' attention to the house and witness immediately entered. Inside the house he found a "rough house" in progress and the defendant was in the centre of it. Witness said he asked Officer Mahan what the trouble was and that the latter replied that one of the girls wished him, Mahan, to take her home and that her parents and friends then interfered. While Officer Maloney was talking over the affair a tonic bottle was heaved at his head or at least thrown close to the officer's cranium. Witness then grabbed a woman and restrained her from throwing a beer glass at the defendant. He then advised Officer Mahan to leave the premises and left himself. Lieut. Freeman testified that he had called at Officer Mahan's house later on the same night and asked him about the affair. The defendant said that he had been to the house in citizen's clothes but not in uniform. While there defendant admitted that he had taken one glass of beer.

Annie Sokolsky corroborated the statements of the other witnesses. She said that Patrolman Mahan had pushed her violently and that at the time she carried a baby in her arms. She was cross-examined for a short time by Mr. Hogan. The hearing was adjourned at 10.30 o'clock and continued until Thursday night.

THE BANK OF ENGLAND

ENABLED TODAY TO REDUCE ITS MINIMUM RATE OF DISCOUNT TO FOUR PERCENT

LONDON, Jan. 22.—The bank of England was enabled today to reduce its minimum rate of discount to four per cent, owing to the improvement in the monetary situation both here and abroad and to the settlement of the South African general strike. The fact that the German bank rate also was lowered today and the belief that the French bank rate will soon follow, suit make market experts confidently anticipate a further reduction of the English bank rate in a week or two.

A HAPPY CHILD IN JUST A FEW HOURS

Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs" because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, and they become tightly packed, liver gets sluggish and stomach disordered.

When cross, feverish, restless, see if tongue is coated, then give this delicious "fruit laxative." Children love it, and it cannot cause injury. No difference what ails your little one—if full of cold, or a sore throat, diarrhoea, stomach-ache, bad breath, remember, a gentle "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." We make no smaller size. Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

A SLEIGH RIDE

Enjoyed Last Night by Choir of Immaculate Conception Church

Members of the choir of the Immaculate Conception church, the ushers and others actively engaged in the affairs of the parish, numbering about 70 in all, met last evening at the parochial residence at 7.30 o'clock and enjoyed a sleighride to North Billerica where dancing was enjoyed in the town hall after all the jolly company had partaken of a hearty supper.

The evening was ideal for sleighing. The snow lay deep and even on the roads and the temperature was not low enough to make riding uncomfortable, yet cold enough to make the many blankets and fur robes provided desirable. All who lived along the roads traversed going and coming must have known easily that the passengers on the two sleighs were members of a church choir, by the excellence of the music that floated out on the night air. One moment there would be a strain of operatic song and the next a lively lilting tune appropriate to the delights of sleighing. Occasionally there was a rollicking bit of ragtime such as one never hears in church choirs. But then they were out for a good time and they were determined to find it. That they succeeded goes without question.

Rev. Lawrence Tighe, O. M. I., the pastor, and Rev. Owen McQuaid, O. M. I., accompanied the merrymakers and Mrs. Hugh Walker, organist and Mr. Charles P. Courtney, director of the choir, did much to keep things moving briskly. After the turkey supper which was as complete regarding fixin's as it was hearty, Rev. Fr. Tighe spoke briefly, thanking all who had given so generously of their services to the church during the year. He referred to the treat of the evening not as payment in any way, but as a slight token of appreciation.

The dancing which continued until midnight was of an informal nature, the company joining hands frequently in a large circle and playing games of childhood or otherwise giving expression to the happiness that they all seemed to feel. There was no "younger" or "older," but all entered into the spirit of the occasion and played and danced with the zest of children. Before the party piled into the sleighs for the return trip, rousing cheers were given for Fr. Tighe, Fr. McQuaid and the others present who had charge of the party, together with the Rev. E. J. Fox, O. M. I., an invited guest.

CALLS GAFFNEY 'BAGMAN'

NEW YORK, Jan. 22—Senator O'Gorman declined today to make any comment on the testimony given by ex-Gov. Sulzer at the John Doe inquiry.

"The senator wishes to refrain from making any statement at present because he may be called upon later to appear in the proceedings," his secretary said.

Sulzer yesterday testified that Senator O'Gorman advised him at a meeting in Washington in March, 1913, not to appoint James E. Gaffney as commissioner of highways and told him that Gaffney was the "bagman" for Charles F. Murphy, the Tammany leader.

The John Doe inquiry with Sulzer again on the stand will be resumed tomorrow. The former governor will have an opportunity today to tell his story to the grand jury.

MURDER CHARGE

Capt. Matroni Adjudged Probably Guilty of Barge Murder

NEW BEDFORD, Jan. 21.—After a preliminary hearing yesterday, Capt. Matroni, captain of the barge Skipe was adjudged probably guilty of the murder of Annie Walsh, and was held without bail for the February term of the superior court.

Louis Therrien, the principal witness, was held in the sum of $500 for his appearance and Flora Therrien and Mrs. Mary Keough, two government witnesses, were allowed to go on their personal recognizance.

Women Everywhere

Praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Women from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from all sections of this great country, no city so large, no village so small but that some woman has written words of thanks for health restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. No woman who is suffering from the ills peculiar to her sex should rest until she has given this famous remedy a trial. Is it not reasonable to believe that what it did for these women it will do for any sick woman?

Wonderful Case of Mrs. Stephenson, on the Pacific Coast.

INDEPENDENCE, OREGON.—"I was sick with what four doctors called Nervous Prostration, was treated by them for several years, would be better for a while then back in the old way again. I had palpitation of the heart very bad, fainting spells, and was so nervous that a spoon dropping to the floor would nearly kill me, could not lift the lightest weight without making me sick; in fact was about as sick and miserable as a person could be. I saw your medicines advertised and thought I would try them, and am so thankful I did for they helped me at once. I took about a dozen bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and also used the Sanative Wash. Since then I have used them whenever I felt sick. Your remedies are the only doctor I employ. You are at liberty to publish this letter."—Mrs. W. STEPHENSON, Independence, Oregon.

A Grateful Atlantic Coast Woman.

HOPKINTON, MD.—"I feel it a duty I owe to all suffering women to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. One year ago I found myself a terrible sufferer. I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely straighten up at times. My back ached, I had no appetite and was so nervous I could not sleep. Then I would be so tired mornings that I could scarcely get around. It seemed almost impossible to move or do a bit of work and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation. I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman. I had no pains, slept well, had good appetite and was fat and could do almost all my own work for a family of four. I shall always feel that I owe my good health to your medicine."—Mrs. HAYWARD SOWERS, Hodgdon, Maine.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justice to herself if she does not try this famous medicine made from roots and herbs, which contains no narcotics or harmful drugs; it has restored so many suffering women to health.

CIRCUIT AN EXPERIMENT

The new circuit of the New England league which will go into effect with the first league game of 1914 will be an experiment in a way. Lewiston and Fitchburg, the two unknowns, will be tried out and Haverhill, which was given a rest last season, will be practically the same an an experiment. If Haverhill doesn't show some real signs of baseball enthusiasm this coming season it will probably be the last team that will be seen here for years to come.

French Players for Lewiston

Lewiston ought to prove a good city for the league at least for two or three years. Baseball has been nothing but a hearsay sport down there for so long that the real things should draw big especially if the team which represents them is passing strong.

Lewiston has a large French population and if the management of the club are wise they will import a couple of French ball players. In all the amateur games which have been played there during the time since the league departed the town the best drawing cards, individually, have been of French extraction. Give Lewiston a team with one or two Frenchmen in the lineup and the ball yard will attract more people.

The baseball atmosphere out Fitchburg way has cleared up appreciably since the street car company and business men took a hand in proceedings. Now all they are asking for is a first division team and this Fred Lake intends to produce. If Lake tries to make money with a mediocre club in Fitchburg he will lose out and, not only that, but he will spoil the town irrevocably for anyone else. Fitchburg, however, at best will never develop any gold mine properties to the owners of a franchise.

Murnane Backs Up Ban

Our old friend, Tim Murnane, who really is president of the New England league whether the fans ever see him or not, rises to remark that Ban Johnson is right when he says that there is little or no money in baseball for the magnates. Here is what Timothy has to say on the subject:

"I think Ban Johnson of the American league uttered words of wisdom when he declared that an outsider breaking into the game at this late date could do no harm to organized baseball and eventually would show the great baseball public how little money is made in the sport. Not two dozen clubs in the 42 leagues comprising the major and minor organizations of this country have made money, taking the last five years to figure on. The minors are in perfect accord with the majors. Any organization that goes against this cemented structure will need a stick of dynamite to make an impression on the baseball combinations."

If it wouldn't be impertinent, Mr. Murnane, we would like to inquire whether or not there is any financial succor to be gleaned by guiding the destinies of the "little old league?" Of course, we heard a few rumors to the effect that the two league presidents grabbed off a big slice of the Lowell-Hartford series, but we wouldn't confirm it after this frank statement!

McBreen at Haverhill

The latest development in the Haverhill baseball situation, with which Daniel F. Clohecy is dallying, is the report that Hugh McBreen, former secretary of the Boston American league club, is to take an interest in the local franchise. No apparent progress has been made in the matter of the 30 days' option on the proposed Hilldale avenue grounds. In the minds of those personally interested, the new site is beyond the grasp of Clohecy and his associates, although in justice to Clohecy it should be borne in mind that he has in the past accomplished many feats of magic in the baseball world and there is at least a ghost of a chance that he may repeat. The rental of Cashman's field for baseball purposes would be $350 a month, $50 more than Athletic park has cost, while the cost of installing a baseball plant would greatly exceed the cost of repairing the River street grounds.—Haverhill Gazette.

LOWELL WOMAN ARRAIGNED

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—In the city police court 13 persons were arraigned on charges of larceny from downtown department stores, all of them being women, whose ages ranged from 18 to 27 years. In ten cases fines, aggregating $115, were imposed, and in the other two cases suspended sentences of a month were given.

Dora E. Lawrence and Florence Martin, who live in Myrtle street, West End, but whose homes are in Lowell and Lawrence, respectively, were given the suspended sentences. They were warned to leave the city and not to repeat what was shown to have been a deliberate attempt to steal from the stores.

RIGHT LEG BROKEN

After attending the evening performance at the Lowell Opera House, Mrs. Mary McShea of West Third street, fell on the sidewalk on Central street and sustained a fractured right leg. She was removed to her home in an automobile and medical aid summoned and after examination was removed to St. John's hospital for treatment. It was stated at the hospital this morning that the woman was resting comfortably.

CALLS MAYOR "A FAILURE"

Finance Commission Blames Ex-Mayor Fitzgerald for the High Tax Rate in Boston

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—In the annual report of the finance commission to the state legislature Mayor Fitzgerald is called "a failure" as far as his appointments under the new charter amendments are concerned. He is blamed for a too-high tax rate; for a heavy and unnecessary increase in the city payrolls; for decreased efficiency in the engineering departments; for attempting to break down the civil service system, and for not providing a more exact budget of expenses of the departments.

The city council also comes in for its share of blame for the increased burden of taxation for not assuming its full responsibility under the law in making the budget; but on the whole the finance commission concludes that "the work of the city council during the past four years has shown a distinct improvement over that of its immediate predecessors."

The commission points out that $350,000 a year could be saved in the public works department "and not reduce the number or compensation of the employes." And if the consolidation of the street, water and engineering departments had been effected in a business manner the saving to the city would be $1,000,000 annually.

The commission recommends some changes in the election laws: that the election commissioners be authorized to issue nomination papers for only 10,000 names, so that all the city employes can't be corralled by one candidate; a penalty of some kind for the forgery of names; and a law to prevent the signing of papers for more than one candidate for the same office.

It is shown that the growth of the city debt has been checked under the charter amendments. Many other good things are also credited to these charter amendments and the commission is satisfied that "The administration of the mayor first elected under the charter amendments, as contrasted with his administration under the old charter, affords conclusive proof of the efficacy of the charter amendments."

The commission calls attention to the fact that it has saved the city about $500,000 in the building and equipping of the new city hall annex.

The report opens with a statement of the cost of the commission for the past five years. In that time its expenses have been $134,342.22, a sum less than the appropriation by $28,657.78, which has been returned to the treasury.

During the past year the commission held 53 meetings and 217 hearings, has examined 258 witnesses and published 37 reports. The commission has also made six reports that were not published.

After contrasting the political system that existed under the old charter with the system that has existed since 1909 under the charter amendments, the commission concludes that "the present system of nominations and elections possesses great advantages over the system which it superseded."

MATRIMONIAL

The marriage of Mr. Joseph Wilber Hall and Miss Therese Racicot took place yesterday afternoon at Notre Dame de Lourdes rectory in Branch street, the ceremony being performed by the pastor, Rev. Leon Lamothe, O. M. I. The happy couple were attended by Messrs. Joseph Racicot and Henry Hall, father of the bride and brother of the bridegroom respectively. At the close of the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents in East Pine street.

TRANSPORTATION OF MACHINISTS

At a meeting of the Lowell machinists to be held this evening some action will be taken in regard to transportation facilities for machinists who are coming here to work in the big shops at Billerica. It was stated this afternoon that resolutions would be drawn up and presented to the Bay State Street railway.

ON CHARGE OF LARCENY

Lieut. Martin Maher arrested a middle aged woman named Niland this afternoon on a warrant charging her with the larceny of a ladies' suit worth $25 and other minor articles. Complaints were made at the station about the loss of the suit by Miss Nellie Hamilton of Webster street and also of an alarm clock from the same house. Inspector Maher located the woman on Middlesex street.

FIRE IN FORT WORTH, TEX.

FORT WORTH, Texas, Jan. 22.—Fire starting in the plant of the Fort Worth Cotton Compress company shortly before 2 o'clock this afternoon in a high wind appeared to be beyond control. It spread to the Fort Worth & Denver freight house adjoining and threatened $100,000 worth of compressed cotton in the warehouse.

Best Treatment for All Complexion Ills

(From Woman's Tribune)

I'll tell you my panacea for all complexion troubles. If the skin be colorless, sallow, muddy, over-red, if it be rough, chapped, blotchy, or pimply, there's nothing that will so surely overcome the condition as ordinary mercolized wax. The wax literally takes off a bad complexion—absorbs the dead and near-dead particles of surface skin, so gently, gradually, you experience no inconvenience at all. A new complexion is then in evidence, one so clear, spotless, delicately soft and beautiful you look many years younger. One ounce of this wax, procurable at any drug store, will rejuvenate even the worst complexion. It is smeared on like cold cream before retiring and removed mornings with warm water. The mercolized wax habit is a healthier and more economical one than the cosmetic habit.

If the skin be wrinkled or creased, bathe it daily in a solution made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint witch hazel. This acts immediately, affecting even the deepest wrinkles.—Elsie Desmond.

REBATES ON SHIPMENTS

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—Investigation of charges that Swift & Co., packers, of Chicago, profited to the extent of $60,000 by what is said to have been in effect a rebating arrangement with the Ann Arbor R. R. Co., was begun by the federal grand jury here today. A dozen packing houses and railroad men were among the witnesses before the inquisitorial body. The shipments involved in the inquiry are said to have been carried by other roads not involved in the charges to points on the Ann Arbor road, the main line of which runs from Toledo, O., to Frankfort, Mich. This road is alleged to have hauled consignments of beef of less than a carload at carload rates. The beef was "peddled" from town to town along the line, it is alleged.

Most of the beef was consigned to the Saginaw Beef Co. at Saginaw, Mich. One shipment to Owosso, Mich., has been closely investigated by government agents.

Attorney Edward Egan of the interstate commerce commission is acting with District Attorney Wilkerson in the case. The inquiry may require a week or more.

RECEPTION TO LUDGER GRAVEL

President General of Les Artisans Canadiens—Entertainment by Frank Ricard

Ludger Gravel of Montreal, Que., president general of the Artisans Canadiens Francais, the largest French mutual benefit organization in America, with headquarters in Montreal, who came to this city purposely to attend the whist and social which was conducted last night under the auspices of Branch St. Andre of this city for the benefit of the reconstruction of St. Jean Baptiste church, was last night tendered a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ricard in Fletcher street. The gathering took place after the closing of the successful event at Associate hall and was attended by officers of the local branches of the Artisans.

The reunion took place shortly after 11 o'clock and the gathering consisted of 20 men, all friends of the visitor, and indeed it was a pleasant affair. A varied musical program was rendered and a dainty luncheon was served by Mrs. Ricard, who was highly complimented for the excellent menu prepared. In the course of the night interesting demarks were made by Mr. Gravel, W. P. Caisse, Jr., of the school board, Frank Ricard and others, while musical numbers were given by Messrs. Gravel, Caisse and E. J. Larochelle.

Mr. Gravel is one of the busiest men in the Canadian metropolis, for he conducts a large hardware wholesale and retail house and is a member of 51 different social and mutual organizations. He has the distinction of being the first French-Canadian to join the Knights of Columbus in Canada, he being the father of the K. of C. in the Dominion. He organized Canada council, which now counts over a thousand members and a few years ago he was transferred to Lafontaine council, which has a membership of 1400. To the writer Mr. Gravel said that when he arrived in Lowell yesterday he purchased a copy of The Sun and the first item he set eyes upon was the account of the banquet of the fourth degree, K. of C., which was held in this city Tuesday night, and he was really pleased to learn there was a Knights of Columbus council in this city.

LOCAL NEWS

Collins & Hogan carried the insurance on the household goods belonging to Frederick J. Welch, 5 Floyd street damaged by fire last night.

Melvin Horton, the oldest resident of Tyngsboro, was warmly congratulated yesterday on the occasion of his 90th birthday anniversary. His sons, Melvin of Nashua and Frank of Somerville, accompanied by their wives, took dinner with him and a most pleasant afternoon was spent.

Hon. Herbert E. Fletcher of Westford delivered a very interesting illustrated lecture on "The Panama Canal" last night at the Unitarian church in Chelmsford. The attendance was very large and all enjoyed the evening to its fullest extent. Preceding the lecture selections were sung by Herbert F. Whipple, accompanied by Miss E. L. Parkhurst. The stereopticon machine was operated by Walter Perham.

Mrs. Charles Sheehan of 37 Oak street suffered a painful accident last night when she fell over her kitchen stove while working at her home. She was badly burned about the chest, elbow and hand. The ambulance was summoned and the woman was removed to St. John's hospital.

Mr. Edouard D'Oize of the Merrimack Square theatre players addressed about 150 pupils of the state normal school in the assembly hall this afternoon at 1 o'clock. Mr. D'Oize took for his subject "Shakespeare and the Drama," and spoke at some length on the life of Shakespeare and during the course of his talk quoted from several of his plays, including "The Merchant of Venice," "Hamlet" and "Henry V."

The Merrimack Square Theatre Players, headed by Miss Grace Young and Howard Sidney, will end their engagement at the Merrimack Square theatre, after the performance of "The Merchant of Venice," on Saturday evening, January 31.

At a meeting of Lowell lodge, 615, Loyal Order of Moose, held last evening in Odd Fellows hall, over 30 applications for membership were received and a class initiation will be held at the next meeting. The deputy supreme dictator and suite made their second official visit and gave several suggestions for future advancement of the order. James Callahan, a former Lowell boy who is now living in Toronto, Canada, was present at the meeting. Considerable routine business was transacted and the meeting adjourned shortly after 10 o'clock.

At the last meeting of Branch 58 Marie, A. C. F., in South Lowell, the election of officers took place with the following result: Zotique Sauvageau, president; Arthur Dumont, first vice president; Rosimond Degagne, second vice president; Joseph A. Plante, secretary-treasurer; Azarie Theriault and Emile Lacombe, marshals; Pierre Masse, Joseph Masicotte, Sr., Joseph Grimard, auditors; Dr. G. E. Caisse, physician; Rev. Avite Amyot, O. M. I., chaplain; Albert Morin, representative to the executive council. The installation of officers will take place at a public meeting which will be held on Feb. 15, and all members of other local branches are invited to attend.

The members of the Bay State Street Railway Men's union are wearing black bows on their coat lapels as a tribute of respect to the memory of their late brother, Michael Anthony, who for several years was employed as a conductor on the local division of the railroad. The charter in the union rooms in the Runels building has also been draped and will remain so for 30 days.

NOMINATION OF PINDELL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The nomination of H. M. Pindell of Peoria to be ambassador to Russia was expected favorably reported today by the senate foreign relations committee.

ARREST ALLEGED SLAVER

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22.—Emil G. Ducoin, said by the police to be the leader of a white slave ring that has operated in San Francisco in the last two years was arrested here early today in his handsomely furnished residence. The police refused to permit him to ride to jail in his automobile. He was booked on two charges of white slavery.

Ducoin is said to have amassed a fortune of $300,000 in a short time.

He is alleged to have traded extensively in European women, preventing their deportation by marrying them to impecunious men who willingly sold their names to the women for $100.

ROSENTHAL FINED $10,000

NEW YORK, Jan. 22—Abraham S. Rosenthal, a silk importer, returned today from 12 years self-imposed exile in Japan and pleaded guilty on an indictment resulting from the so-called Japanese silk frauds investigation of 1902. He was fined $10,000, which he immediately paid.

THE STORE FOR THRIFTY PEOPLE

A Stupendous Movement

OF

BEGINS FRIDAY MORNING

And while we do not pose as philanthropists we firmly believe that the offerings below give you more money's worth than any other store in New England would present at this season of the year.

$8000.00 Worth of Heavy, Medium and Light Grades for Men, Women and Children to Be Sold at Half Price

This stock of many thousand dozens was purchased from the Underwriters' Salvage Co. after the settlement of a big fire loss with a prominent selling house, and we consider it the "best buy" of our store year. The garments and hose, while they have been "in a fire," are subject only to slight discolorations caused by the smoke and water, and we find hundreds of boxes that show no markings.

ANTI-TRUST LEGISLATION

The most casual reading of the president's message to congress on the trust question will convince the reader that what is intended by the administration is a sane and moderate system of business reorganization that shall bring offending firms and corporations within the terms of existing law, do away with the doubts that have prevented specific action in the past. Inaugurate a system of cooperation between the government and business, and do all this without in any way causing hardship or depression. As in past messages, principles rather than concrete instances of illustration are emphasized, but where specific things are urged, as in the case of interlocking directorates, the railroad problems and the forming of an interstate trade commission, the policy outlined is in no way antagonistic to the best interests of business in a national sense.

It may be that the temperate tone of the president's message is due to the presence of two important measures in the tariff and currency bill but this fact throws his judgment into stronger relief instead of in any way detracting from it. Yet anyone who has followed the trend of recent important events in the business world will not accuse him of indulging in empty platitudes when he speaks of the "atmosphere of accommodation and mutual understanding which we now breathe with so much refreshment.

It has become apparent that this president who has been in a large manner responsible for the most important national laws regarding business, that have been placed on the statute books for many years, has gained the confidence of the business interests of the country in an unprecedented degree. His latest message will strengthen that confidence while adding to his reputation for sincerity, ability and leadership.

"The antagonism between business and government," says the president, "is over. We are now about to give expression to the best business judgment of America." And lest this should mean that there is not urgent need for federal activity and supervision he continues:

"The best informed men of the business world condemn the methods and processes and consequences of monopoly as we condemn them; and the instinctive judgment of the vast majority of business men everywhere goes with them. We shall now be their spokesmen. That is the strength of our position and the sure prophecy of what will ensue when our reasonable work is done."

The leading points in the program for the abolition and control of private monopoly which he calls "indefensible and intolerable" may be summed up briefly as follows: "Prohibition of the interlocking of directorates of banks, railroads, and all industrial, commercial and public service bodies; a new law to give the Interstate Commerce commission power over the financial operations of railroads, in other words the making mandatory of what were formerly only their recommendations—usually made in vain; definition of what constitutes "restraints of trade" so that there may be no technical difficulties in enforcing the law; the creation of a commission to aid the courts and make the requirements of the governments known to business in a spirit of co-operation instead of persistent hounding; the personal responsibility of individuals for unlawful business practices; prohibition of holding companies and a suggestion to restrict the voting power of individuals holding shares in corporations; giving to private individuals the right to found cites for redress on facts and judgments proven in government suits.

Since the reading of the message it has been commented on favorably by men representing all shades of business and political opinion and commendation of its purpose and constructive policy is universal. The idealistic schoolmaster bids fair to go down in history as the great business president of a progressive age.

THE RADIUM CURE

The discovery of radium by the gifted Madame Curie a few years ago was one of the most fascinating of the "fairy tales of science" of modern years, and it seems that the wonders of the strange element are as yet little understood. Of fabulous value and almost boundless energy the uses to which it may be put are manifold, but its extreme rarity and the difficulty of making use of its mysterious forces have prevented its application to the problems of humanity to any degree.

Great interest has been aroused by the declaration of many leaders in the medical profession to the effect that in radium is the long sought remedy for cancer, and there are examples of alleged cures. Like tuberculosis this disease has baffled medical skill for years and it is being studied by all the advanced colleges and institutions of medical research. In some cases surgical operations have been successful in removing external cancer when the disease was discovered in time, but where the roots had spread, there was slight hope of remedy. The reports of the radium cures read like the application of magic and undoubtedly hopes have been raised in hundreds of human hearts.

Greed and desire for financial gain which thrives on the needs of the afflicted has always shown itself in the exploitation of the "radium cures" and remedies are offered which are said to contain the rare substance. This is absolute fraud for there is less than two grams in the entire country—scarcely enough to be perceptible. In the ores of Colorado, however, there are strata from which the precious element may be extracted and at the present time there is a hearing before the house committee on mines in Washington for the purpose of urging the government to take over the radium producing lands that the substance may be used for the good of humanity.

Radium has not been used long enough to determine positively whether it is a cure for cancer or not, but the high character of those who so state disarms suspicion. The Friedmann serum for tuberculosis, however, is but one of many which prove that there is more danger in too great confidence than in too great skepticism.

SAFETY AT SEA

Those who go down to the sea in ships have been regarding with supreme contempt blended no doubt with a good garniture of oaths carrying a salt-water flavor,—such as we meet in Conrad and Masefield,—the attempts of some land lubber politicians of America to force the international enactment of laws which would make travelling by sea less dangerous. Earnest legislators of the type of him who introduced a little comedy into the tragic Titanic hearing in Washington by grilling the English ship officials mercilessly on the subject of water tight compartments—believing the while that they were parts of the ship where passengers might lock themselves in and keep the water out—have been urging all kinds of technical laws governing tackle and steering gear and lifeboats while protests have been pouring in from real sailors and ship owners. And yet when the good politicians have retired from public life again and are engaged in steering their mowing machines through the stormy seas of the western prairies, they may feel assured that notwithstanding the impracticability of their schemes and the laughter that greeted them, travelling at sea will have become safer.

This seems assured by the reports of an international congress in London which has been in conference for many days with the delegates of 14 nations in attendance. In the closing speech Lord Mersey, the president, ran briefly over the many points touched on during the conference such as greater care in construction, greater application of preventive measures, the providing of lifeboats and other safety appliances, and the requirement of inspection and drills to keep the crew vigilant and active. This conference was in great measure due to the earnestness of our prairie sailors for though they blundered sadly in their recommendations, they were human and felt misfortune keenly and by starting the humanitarian spirit of the nations working, they roused the attention of others better able to handle the subject than they. The laws for sea safety already in force or put in force since the loss of the Titanic have hampered the ship owners to a needless degree and it is probable that the laws to follow the recent conference will remedy the existing wrong while wiping out much that is unnecessary.

EUGENIC LAW VOID

The supreme court will soon consider the question of the constitutionality of the eugenic law of Wisconsin which has aroused so much discussion, because the circuit court there has declared it contrary to American institutions.

The Wisconsin law stipulated that all who were to be married must present a clean bill of health signed by a delegated physician, and this official permission was to be given only after a severe physical test, including the Wasserman blood test. The matter was taken to the courts because of the protest of a young man who applied for permission to marry, the day the law went into operation and was refused because he did not present the required health certificate. Thus far he has beaten the state. However the supreme court may decree eventually, he will be married without the application of the new fangled eugenic doctrine.

The court objections are of a technical nature as befits an unemotional judicial decision, but the judge laid especial emphasis on the impracticability of the law. Its aim was praised, but the means of putting these aims into practice were not considered just or adequate. Putting aside the legal aspect of the case the Wisconsin finding seems like an admission of the truth that though the law may make stringent regulations regarding marriage, it cannot compel men and women to marry nor prevent them from marrying on account of the prescribed disabilities.

LORD STRATHCONA

In the passing of Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal high commissioner for Canada at the age of 93, the British empire has lost one of its greatest men. With the natural dignity of years, the artificial honors of title and the greater distinction of noble achievement he stood before the world as the embodiment of nobility, the personification of perseverance. Of sturdy Scotch parentage he emigrated to Canada at the age of 18 and became associated with the famous Hudson Bay company, the record of which reads like chapters of vivid romance. The change from the simple Donald Smith to Lord Strathcona is stranger reading than many a fairy tale, but during it came out the great qualities that made the Scotch emigrant the pioneer of progress in the Northern Dominion. Unlike many another, the dead statesman fitted into the niche of nobility as though he were descended from a noble line instead of having spent his early days amid the rigors of the snowy north. England may mourn for the departed lord but Canada will feel more acutely the loss of Donald Smith.

BAD EGGS

Two of the greatest food storing packing houses in New York have just been fined $500 each, because in their warehouses were found eggs unfit for human food. Eggs such as these were sold for years with impunity, but with the passing of the pure food law the government became vigilant and there is now some measure of protection against the greedy interest that would sell poison to humanity for gain. These confiscated eggs would have found their way into puddings, cakes and pastries as they have for years were it not for the new government activity in this direction. The cost of good food is a burden sufficiently heavy without laying on the shoulders of the poor the national disgrace of extortion for food which is unfit for human consumption.

Now how would you feel if after studying all manner of authorities on censorships of plays, and working yourself up into a fever of righteousness on behalf of public decency, and giving interviews to the press accompanied by your noble-expressioned photograph, you found it was none of your business? Wouldn't it just rattle you?

"And then," future historians will say, "after the cold spell came the nicest snow storm that was ever seen with great coasting and sleighing and skating galore. It was surely a fine winter."

If we're not mistaken there's something about the rights of the Locks and Canals to the Merrimack river in the book of Genesis.

The "A 7" submarine has been found with its drowned crew. What of it? "They've but to do and die."

Seen and Heard

It seems to snow these days almost as readily as a girl can cry—some girls.

City Messenger Owen Monahan says there was never a better looking alderman in his time than Col. James H. Carmichael.

Commissioner Donnelly made three distinct speeches at the meeting of the municipal council on Tuesday and he allowed that was going some.

Charlie Morse has put his foot down on men hanging around the corridors at city hall looking for a job. "They can see me at the stable. I refuse to talk jobs to them at city hall," said Charlie.

Commissioner Donnelly is getting on to the curves in the lands and buildings department and he allows that he will like the job all right. In the person of "Joe" Rourke, Mr. Donnelly has one of the very best clerks at city hall. There's a reason. Joe graduated from The Sun office.

Lawrence Cummings is authority for the statement that he enjoys meetings of the council more from the standpoint of a newspaperman than that of commissioner. Sitting at the reporters' table the other day, Mr. Cummings said: "I would rather sit here and report the meeting than to take part in it, but I must confess that I rather enjoyed my two years as commissioner."

In the current issue of Farm and Fireside a contributor gives the following advice to farmers which they might well avail themselves of when it comes to advertising their products.

"In farm advertising, like all other advertising, the first principle is to have the goods. It doesn't pay to advertise a poor article as a good one. The next thing is to reach the people who are likely to want it and who are able to pay for it. In advertising it is best to give a little description of the article. Say something about it to make people want it. 'Fine black cherries, uniformly sound and delicious' is worth a great deal more than 'Cherries for sale.' 'Some particularly choice Jonathan apples' is worth ten times more than 'Apples for sale.'

"In advertising to reach a certain class of customers, describe the article in the way they will like it; that is, describe the things about the article that will appeal to that class. For instance, the man who sold the cow to the banker was wise in mentioning that she was a beautiful cow. He knew that a town man with a nice yard and a nice barn would want a good-looking animal. Use a little judgment in advertising, and it is almost sure to make you money."

Senator Augustus O. Bacon of Georgia chuckled at a recent dinner when the talk topic turned to boomerangs. He said he was reminded of a young woman acquaintance.

The young woman was walking through a park when she saw a small boy in the act of robbing a bird's nest. In his hat were a couple of eggs and on his face a guilty expression.

"You naughty, cruel boy!" indignantly exclaimed the young woman. "How can you be so terribly heartless as to take those eggs?

"What do you think the mother bird will say when she comes back and finds them gone?"

"She won't say nothin'," answered the boy, looking at the agitated party before him. "She is dead."

"Dead!" wonderingly cried the young woman. "How do you know that she is dead?"

"Because you've got her sewed fast in yer hat!" was the youngster's startling rejoinder.

Dams that may be rolled up out of streams in order to provide an unobstructed channel for the passage of flood flows are beginning to come into favor in the United States.

They were first used in Germany in 1903, and since that date have been adopted extensively in Europe, but American engineers, until recently, have regarded them with scepticism. It is significant, therefore, that the United States reclamation service has installed a rolling dam on the Boise irrigation project in Idaho, and others are in the course of construction in this country.

These dams, instead of being solid barriers of masonry, are hollow cylindrical steel shells which look very much like elongated boilers. Each end is fitted with a gear which engages in an inclined rack, and hoisting machinery is provided so that the dam may be rolled up on its inclined guides clear of the stream. Of course, the rolling type of dam is not suitable under conditions which call for a very high structure to impound water.—Engineering Record.

A delicate operation in engineering surgery was performed recently at Cleveland when one end of the draw-span of the Cuyahoga river viaduct was amputated in order to shorten its length. The piers which supported the bridge developed an uncontrollable wanderlust and moved out of place in some instances as much as two feet. Since the bridge was built in 1887 the average longitudinal movement was one inch every year. It soon became impossible to revolve the draw-span so the engineers were forced to lop off a section of the draw so that it could be swung open to pass ships.—Engineering Record.

LIFE GAME OF CARDS

This life is but a game of cards
That mortals have to learn;
Each suffles, cuts and deals the pack,
And each a trump doth turn.
Some bring a high card to the top,
While others bring a low;
Some hold their hands quite flush with trumps,
While others none can show.
Some deal them with a practiced hand,
And pack their cards with care,
That they may know when they are dealt,
Where all the players are.
Thus fools are made the dupes of rogues,
And rogues each other cheat,
And he is very wise indeed,
Who never meets defeat.
In playing some throw out the Ace,
Their counting cards to save;
Some play the Nine and some the Ten,
But many play the Knave.
Some play for money, some for fun,
But more for worldly fame;
And not until the game's played out,
Can they count up their gain.
When Hearts are trumps, we play for love,
And beauty rules the hour,
No thoughts of sorrow check our joy,
In Beauty's rosy bower.
We dance, we sing, sweet verses make,
Our cards at random play,
And while our trump remains on top,
Why, Life's a holiday.
When Diamonds chance to crown the pack,
The players stake their gold,
And heavy sums are won and lost
By gamblers young and old.
Intent on winning, each the game,
Doth watch with eager eye,
That he may see his neighbor's hand,
And beat him on the sly.
When Clubs are trumps look out for war
On ocean and on land,
For bloody honors always come
When clubs are held in hand.
Then lives are staked instead of gold,
The dogs of war are freed;
On the other side of the Pacific late,
The Clubs have had their lead.
Last game of all is when the Spade,
Is turned by Hand of Time,
It always plays the winning hand
In every land and clime.
No matter how much each man wins,
Nor how much each man saves,
The Spade will finish up the game
And dig the players' Graves.

THE LOST CREW

Lynn News: What must be the experience of the men on these boats? Air enough is carried to last for some hours, but then comes inevitable death. The records left by members of a crew who perished on a Japanese boat a year or two ago show what this may mean. To die caged is not particularly glorious, but men seem to think it worth taking the chance for their country. No nation reports difficulty in getting crews, a sure proof of men's bravery and of their desire to be pioneers in a new work or task. Except in actual warfare, there is every reason, however, why governments should be considerate of the men who man these frail crafts.

CAN TEDDY COME BACK?

New Bedford Times: Jacob Riis seems to think that Roosevelt has the republican party thoroughly bottled up. He says:

"Theodore Roosevelt will be a candidate for the presidency in 1916 if the people want him, but a condition precedent to his acceptance of the nomination by the republican party must be the adoption of the principles Roosevelt stood for in the last election."

The colonel smashed the G. O. P. in 1912, and may be he is the only man who can put the pieces together. Many republicans, however, would rather see the old party in the junk heap than in control of the colonel.

GRAFTING

Woonsocket Call: Governor Glynn wants all grafters sent to jail. And why not? Grafting is respectable only because grafters have insisted that it is so. In reality it is only thieving of an especially detestable kind.

SUPPORTS U. S. POLICY

Boston Post: The first protest from any of the European nations against the Huerta plan to default interest on Mexican bonds comes, very properly, from France, the most thrifty of all. The foreign office is instructed to tell the dictator what it thinks of this business, though it specifically mentions that the government will not now exercise its privilege of forced collection of the Mexican custom duties. In fact, the whole document is said to be framed in such a way as to imply tacit support of the Mexican policy of the United States.

ANTI-TRUST MESSAGE

Fall River Herald: The long awaited special message of President Wilson on the anti-trust question has been delivered to congress and to the people. Like the messages that had preceded it from the pen of Woodrow Wilson, it breathes the spirit of peace and goodwill in all parts of our national life. There is nothing in the message to disturb even the most timid, while, on the other hand, there is much to encourage and hearten all the people. As the president himself happily expresses it: "What we are proposing to do is not to hamper or interfere with business as enlightened business men prefer to do it, or in any way to put it under the ban. The antagonism between business and government is over."

FOR FROST BITES AND CHAPPED SKIN

For frost bitten ears, fingers and toes; chapped hands and lips, chilblains, cold sores, red and rough skins, there is nothing to equal Bucklen's Arnica Salve. Stops the pain at once and heals quickly. In every home there should be a box handy all the time. Best remedy for all skin diseases, itching eczema, tetter, piles, etc. 25c. All druggists or by mail. H. E. Bucklen & Co., Philadelphia or St. Louis.

OLD-TIME COLD CURE—DRINK TEA!

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburg Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of foiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—A young man giving the name of Harry Schaefer walked into a police station today and said:

"I understand you are looking for me in connection with the Martin murder. I want to give myself up."

He was held on a technical charge of homicide.

On August 27 last the police sent out a general alarm all over the United States for the arrest of two men sought for the murder of William G. Martin, a milliner of Toronto, Canada, who came to New York to buy stock and who was strangled to death in a boarding house. His hands were tied behind his back and his watch and chain, two diamond rings, scarf pin and money were missing. Circulars sent out at the time described the men sought as Harry Schaefer alias Schafer, alias Murray, 20 years old, a painter, ironworker or bartender, and Michael Sirocco, alias Sargo. The police advanced the theory that these men met Martin in front of a baseball scoreboard and lured him to the house where he met death.

The police announced this afternoon that the prisoner had confessed to complicity in the crime. He placed the blame on his alleged accomplice, Sargo, saying that Sargo had thrown Martin down and gagged him. When they left the apartment, said the prisoner, they did not know that the man was dead. They fled first to Baltimore, then to St. Louis and then to Denver, where they parted. Subsequently the prisoner made his way to South America and returned here only recently.

SCORED A GREAT SUCCESS

Branch St. Andre, A. C. F., Held Social and Whist

Several Out-of-Town Guests Among Those Present

CHARLES NORMANDIN

If the members of Branch St. Andre, A. C. F. ever conduct another whist or entertainment for the benefit of the church a larger hall than Associate will have to be looked for, for if one is to judge by the success obtained last night this hall will be inadequate to hold the crowd. Last night's event consisted of a whist and entertainment for the reconstruction of St. Jean Baptiste church and the spacious hall was filled to its utmost.

To be exact, there were 185 whist and 740 men and women enjoyed the game while many others who could not be supplied with tables sat in the gallery and waited for the speeches and entertainment program, that alone being worth the price of admission. The gathering was honored by the presence of many high dignitaries of the Artissans from the states and Canada, among whom were Ludger Gravel of Montreal, Que., president general; Charles E. Bazin, Worcester, organizer general; Rev. J. A. Pelletier, Salem, diocesan chaplain; Joseph M. Dupont, Nashua, director general; Joseph Lavoie, Nashua, president of Branch 87, while many prominent Lowell people were also present including Mayor D. J. Murphy, Commissioner Charles J. Morse, School Committeeman W. P. Caisse, Jr., Rev. J. H. Racette, O. M. I., Ph. D., Rev. E. J. A. Chaput, O. M. I., and Rev. Arthur Bernecho, O. M. I., all of St. Joseph's parish, as well as the president and other officers of the other branches of the A. C. F. in this city.

Charles Normandin, chairman of the organizing committee, opened the meeting by delivering a short address of welcome and called attention to the fact that the president general of the society had traveled from Montreal to Lowell purposely to attend this gathering, and he concluded by thanking the large assembly for the generous support they are giving the Oblats Fathers for the reconstruction of St. Jean Baptiste church.

The chairman of the evening was L. J. Corneiller, president of the branch, who proved a very efficient master of ceremonies. Nine deals of whist were enjoyed and at the close of the contest a varied entertainment program, consisting of selections by the following, was given: Miss Blanche Larue, Master Leo Lesieur, Mrs. Blanche Roussin-Fredette, Louis N. Guilbault, Miss Stella Lepine, Ludger Gravel, Charles E. Bazin, W. P. Caisse, Jr., and others.

Those who addressed the gathering were Mayor Murphy, Commissioner Morse, School Committeeman Caisse, Ludger Gravel, C. E. Bazin, Rev. J. H. Pelletier, Rev. J. H. Racette, O. M. I., Ph. D., Rev. E. J. A. Chaput, O. M. I., Rev. Arthur Bernecho, O. M. I., J. M. Dupont and others.

Mr. Frank Ricard presided over the entertainment program. Over 50 valuable prizes were awarded the winners at whist, the judges being Albert Morin, president of Branch St. Marie; J. Arseno Trudel, secretary treasurer of Branch St. Louis; Albert Gelinas of Court St. Paul, C. O. F.; and John B. Racette.

The committee in charge of the affair consisted of the following: President, Charles Normandin; secretary, Azarie Thibault; treasurer, Origene Descoteaux; Frank Ricard, Alfred Latendresse, H. Ouellette, William Brautigan, Calixte Boucher, Tancrede L. Blanchette, Damien Descoteaux, J. N. Gregoire, Joseph Dion, Ferdinand Theriault, J. L. Corneiller, ex-officio.

The following young women assisted as scorers: Misses Aurore Corneiller, Alice Frasier, Laura Delisle, Amanda Piche, Lucienne Bilodeau, Louise Allard, Ella Allard, Ella Collins, Eugenie St. Pierre, Edwige and Anais Simon, Alice Allard, Larraine Mineau, Carinne Boisvert, Rebecca Rousseau, Albina Parent, Cecile Pintal, Blanche Lavallee, Flora Roy, Jeannette Dupont, Aurore Jullen, Exila Levasseur, Helena Levasseur, Adele Perreault, Eva Perreault, Aldea Hamelin, Blandine Bilodeau, Lucie and Alice Zourgeois, Anaela Giroux, May Harrington, Yvonne Guertin, Blanche Dion, Mrs. Emma Demers, and Mrs. Frank Hamelin.

CHIEF SAUNDERS

Fire Chief Edward F. Saunders attended a meeting of the Fire Chiefs club of Massachusetts at Clark's hotel, Washington st., Boston, yesterday afternoon. He is a member of the club and Chief Frank H. Gunther of the Dracut fire department was made a member yesterday. It is customary for newly made members to make a speech and Mr. Gunther was called upon. Mr. Gunther said he was not a speech maker and that if oratory was a necessary essential he said he never would have been appointed to his very lucrative position.

The chiefs were addressed by Commissioner Cole of Boston. He spoke on "Fire Protection" and told of measures which he has had brought before the legislature this year asking that fire chiefs be given greater power and authority along certain lines than they have had in the past. He said there are powers invested in other city officials at the present time that properly belong to police chiefs.

Other speakers included John Mullin, chief of the Boston fire department. He told of the work accomplished during the last two years under Mr. Cole and he hoped that within a few years every bit of apparatus would be motorized. He said that the Boston fire department has attained a greater degree of efficiency than has any other fire department in New England.

ST. COLUMBA'S PARISH REUNION

The general committee in charge of St. Columba's parish reunion met last evening and elected the following officers to take charge of the affair:

Miss Jennie Dunfey will have charge of the children's entertainment, which will be held in Associate hall the Saturday following the reunion. Reports from the various sub-committees were read and the affair, judging from the program already outlined, gives promise of being one of the most successful events in the history of the parish.

REPEAL CHILD LABOR LAW

Sen. Doyle Says It Was Mistake of the Well-Meaning and a Hardship to the Ambitious

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—Representatives of labor in the textile centers of Massachusetts will urge the legislature to repeal the child labor law which was passed last year.

Senator Andrew P. Doyle of New Bedford has introduced a petition for the repeal of this law and he has been promised the support of all members of the house from the manufacturing cities.

Senator Doyle says the bill was passed last year over the objections of the members who were qualified to speak for labor and the results of the administration of the law have been just what were predicted. The senator says that the income of many deserving families has been reduced to the point of deprivation and the children have not been benefited by the operation of the statute.

"Healthy children should be permitted to work in mills," says the senator. "There was a time when it would have been wise to forbid the employment of children in the textile industry. When I, at the age of 10, went into the mill conditions were deplorable. But now working in a mill is not injurious to a child of 14. The workrooms are sanitary and healthful, the machinery is protected so the hazards are reduced to almost nothing. The work is not exhausting for a child and the influence is not harmful.

"The rooms in a mill are warm, but the children are properly dressed for it and their health does not suffer. There is no more danger of tuberculosis or other disease in a mill than there is in a school room. Children are so safeguarded in our textile industries that very rarely do you hear of injuries.

Mistake of the Well-Meaning

"The child labor law was advocated by well-meaning persons who have taken the cases of parents who exploit their children as typical and conclusive, and they have not had access to the evidence of respectable, ambitious parents who permitted their children of 14 years to enter the mills in order that the younger children might be comfortably housed, properly fed and educated.

Conditions in New Bedford

"Speaking only of conditions that have come under my observation in my own city of New Bedford, I can say that the law has worked a great injustice to many honest, hard-working and well-meaning people, who are as fond of their children and as anxious to have them secure an education as are the men and women who advocated the child labor law.

"In New Bedford we have the highest class of textile operatives in the world, yet in my city there is great opposition to the child labor law among the most respectable operatives. In many families living expenses have had to be reduced. Children who formerly earned as much as $5 a week not only are deprived of this opportunity, but they are not as well fed and as well clothed as before. Moreover, they are running wild in the streets.

"I know of families that lived fairly well on the combined earnings of the father and one or two children in the mills, while the mother was able to remain at home and care for the younger children. Since the passage of the child labor law the mother has been obliged to go into the mill to help support the family, and the children, consequently, have been free of restraint during the day.

Juvenile Crime Increased

"The boy and girl of 14 or 15 years who formerly worked in the mill is now on the street and under no discipline. The police have been complaining of the great growth of the hoodlum element since the law became operative. It is a fact that cases of petty larceny, assaults and other minor crimes have increased 500 per cent in New Bedford since the child labor law went into effect.

"The child labor law was passed through the instrumentality of persons who are honest and earnest, but who have not been in touch with real conditions.

"The people injured by the child labor law are the self-respecting majority of whom the settlement worker and the uplifter never hears. In New Bedford I know of families that depended on the earnings of the children who were able and eager to work in the mills, but unless you lived among them you would never know that they could not live comfortably if the children were idle.

Hardship to the Ambitious

"Working in a textile mill in present conditions is not slavery. A boy who goes into a cotton mill at the age of 14 has a chance to develop, just as a boy who goes into any other business. They talk about the necessity of a technical education, but the executive positions in our textile industries are not held by graduates of the technical schools, they are held by men who went into the mills as boys and worked up.

"By this child labor law you are driving the mothers into the mills instead of keeping them at home to care for their families.

"The opposition to the child labor law comes from the working people of every textile city in Massachusetts. Those who oppose the law are not the parents who wish to live off the earnings of their children, but are the fathers and mothers who have the welfare of their children at heart and realize that the work is not injurious and the earnings of the children are a positive necessity to the family.

"We hope to secure the repeal of the law."

GERMAN INVENTOR DEAD

BERLIN, Jan. 22.—Robert Zahn, director general of the Vogtlandische Maschinen-Fabrik of Plauen, Saxony, and inventor of the Zahn Automat, a device universally used in embroidery making, died yesterday in Leipsic after an operation. He was one of the leading German manufacturers.

MAY PARDON MURDERESS

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 22.—From the drift of the proceedings before the state board of pardons here yesterday, it is believed that Mrs. Kate Edwards, who has been in the Berks county jail for more than 12 years under sentence of death for the murder of her husband, will be set free.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS

For Evening Social Centre—Plans Discussed at Y.W.C.A. Rooms

The possibility of inaugurating the evening centre movement in Lowell was discussed yesterday afternoon, in one of the Y. W. C. A. class rooms. The meeting was addressed by R. E. Hawley, acting director of the work in Boston. Everybody was interested and heartily in favor of the proposition to extend the use of the public school. School Committeeman Perry D. Thompson was present and agreed to go over the matter with the school committee and report back to a special committee consisting of Rev. C. H. Skinner, Miss Elizabeth Kennedy and Robert F. Marden, at another meeting to be held later.

The meeting yesterday afternoon was called to order by Mr. Skinner. The question of financing the work was agreed to be the most difficult one to overcome. The proposition of going before the legislature for permission to levy a small special tax, as was done in Boston, received favorable consideration. It was agreed that the first step, however, was to obtain from the school committee an expression of opinion in the matter, and a statement of how much the committee would be able and willing to do toward furthering such a movement.

Mr. Hawley said that the movement should be one for men and women of all ages, American and foreign born, and also for the young people over 14 years of age who do not attend the day school. The idea of the movement seems to be, to make the school a social centre for the community, where all will meet together to enjoy the various clubs organized and entertainments given. When properly under way, it is proposed to have, if the movement is put through, various clubs, for men and women, boys and girls,—not formed by leaders for the people, but by the people themselves; such clubs as any particular group wishes to have, such as musical, dramatic, mothers clubs, sewing clubs, etc. It is not advised by Mr. Hawley that it be in any sense an evening school, but a recreation centre, and a self-governing body. He considers the school committee the best body under which to place the control of the work, and he advises the use of the high school, as being more central than any other, and also better equipped in the matter of room.

In the course of his talk Mr. Hawley touched on the following points: The wider use of public schools offers opportunities for adults, native and foreign born. A place for those whose school days are long past should be provided in the school building. The older people enjoy the illustrated lectures, the discussions of the public forum, the motion picture entertainment; and the help that the men and women past middle life can give, is wanted.

The fact that hundreds of adults attend and take part in the Boston evening centres discredits those psychologists who advanced the idea that older and middle-aged men were unable to get new ideas and consequently were unable to efficiently inaugurate a reform or otherwise lead in any new movement. I would quote A. M. Dorland who made a study of the records of 400 famous men of modern times to learn "the age of the acme of mental activity as shown by the records of these men. The sixth decade has been most prolific in human achievement and may well be designated as the age of the masterwork" . . . "Seventy-eight and a quarter per cent. closed their life work between 60 and 80 years of age, and 85 per cent. after the 50th year."

The daily observations of any one would furnish other proofs if such were necessary to show that adults advanced in years are fully qualified to lead any new movement. All adults have a part in the evening centre. It is the one place where citizens can meet upon common ground and equal terms to discuss civic and economic questions and other subjects pertaining to the common welfare. Here they may get unbiassed information about proposed laws and appropriations. A voter is thus enabled to cast his ballot for what he wants having an intelligent understanding of that for which his vote is asked.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Henry Siegel of the private banking firm of Henry Siegel & Co. and of the department store enterprises now in the hands of receivers, took the place of his partner, Frank E. Vogel as a witness before Special Examiner George Holt today.

Ex-Judge Holt was recently appointed examiner by the United States circuit court at the request of the receivers of the bank; and the stores to obtain information regarding loans by the bank and transactions between the bank and the stores.

Frank E. Vogel testified at the first hearing yesterday and will be again examined two weeks hence, when he is to bring his private banking books and vouchers. His testimony yesterday was to the effect that money deposited in the private bank of Henry Siegel & Co. was used for making loans to various department stores identified with the Siegel corporation and that while his investments in the enterprises amounted to $1,400,000 but a few thousands of this money remains in his possession today.

STORY OF SWITZERLAND

Dr. James B. Field, one of Lowell's leading physicians, gave a very interesting lecture on Switzerland, last evening, at the Pawtucket Congregational church. He addressed the members of the Pawtucket Brotherhood.

The speaker was introduced by President C. B. Stoddard. Besides telling of Switzerland, Dr. Field told of his experiences in London and Paris and his impressions formed in these two cities. He displayed some very fine pictures and described them, intercestingly and entertainingly. He displayed some beautiful views taken in Switzerland. Rev. E. C. Ramette, pastor of the French Baptist church, sang several selections. Refreshments were served and the evening proved an exceptionally pleasant one.

Say, These are Great!

"Great"—you'll hear that from almost everybody at the table every time a plate of Aunt Jemima's delicious pancakes comes in piping hot from the kitchen. Aunt Jemima's makes the finest cakes that ever went into your mouth—the plump, tender kind—light as a feather—temptingly browned, and Um! so delicious to taste. Spread thick with good, fresh butter and lots of syrup, they are great.

Have Aunt Jemima's for tomorrow's breakfast. Takes just a minute to stir 'em up. Good for waffles and muffins, too.

Your grocer has Aunt Jemima's in a bright red package. (Read what it says on the top about the funny Rag Dolls for the kiddies.)

Of Industry Council, R. A. Held With Large Attendance

ALEXANDER ROUNTREE
Regent

The annual installation of officers and banquet of Industry council, No. 1722, R. A., took place in Odd Fellows hall last evening.

At 7.30 about 200 members and invited guests sat down to a sumptuous banquet. After the entire route from turkey to coffee had been traversed, the members, headed by the officers of the council, repaired to the meeting chambers, where the newly elected officers were inducted into office. Here the installing officers were introduced by Past Regent Michael Sullivan, who presided. These were Supreme Deputy Grand Regent John T. Friary, assisted by Albert E. Helman of Boston, Grand guide of the order, Hon. John J. Hogan of Lowell, supreme trustee; Wm. L. Kelt of Boston, grand secretary; Horace Williams of Boston, grand treasurer, and Fred E. Jones of Lowell, grand warden.

The newly elected officers installed were Alex. E. Rountree, regent; Thos. A. J. Dowd, vice regent; Geo. L. Stafford, orator; Michael J. Sullivan, past regent; John W. Sharkey, secretary; James E. Corman, collector; Chas. H. O'Donnell, treasurer; Thomas H. Wilson, chaplain; Patrick Higgins, guide; Geo. H. Desrochers, warden; James W. Tully, sentry; James Dunn and Thos. M. Reedy, trustees.

S. D. G. R. John T. Friary in the course of the meeting gave an interesting talk on affairs of the order. Last year over 3900 new members were admitted, while over a million dollars was paid in sick benefits. The death claims amounted up to several millions of dollars.

Remarks were also made by Albert J. Helman, grand guide; John W. Sharkey, secretary, and Dr. Joseph Meehan.

Past Regent M. J. Sullivan was presented a past regent's jewel. In a fitting response he thanked the brothers for their kind remembrance.

The visiting members, in addition to the supreme officers were from Highland, Lowell 8, and North Billerica councils.

After the regular meeting a social session was held, during which music was furnished by McSweeney's orchestra, with singing by local talent.

Athletes and Athletics

Lebrun of the Crescent bowling team rolled in form last night which would give him an entree into any pin tournament in the country. His total of 350 for three strings is a record which is very seldom eclipsed in these parts.

Alec McLean is making negotiations for Gilbert Gallant with the best boys of his weight along the Pacific coast. Since Gallant defeated "One Round" Hogan in 20 rounds at Salt Lake City, McLean has rushed him right along. It would not be surprising at any time to hear of McLean challenging Willie Ritchie for the championship, which remark reflects in no disparaging way upon Gallant's ability as a ring artist, but simply comments upon the assurance of said Alec McLean and his protege, who are still in 'Frisco.

Manager Jimmy Gray of the local baseball club has finally traded Pete Clemens. Pete will go to Wichita, Kansas, and in exchange the Lowell club will receive two players, Burke, a second baseman, and Waycob, a catcher. Burke batted for .267 last season and Waycob hit for .264. Wichita is a class A team and the calibre of the two men should help out the local club to a great degree. Burke was originally an outfielder and has played every position in the infield as well as the pastures.

There will be some great high jumping at the B. A. A. games this year. Alma Richards, the winner of the event at the last Olympiad, sent in his entry yesterday. Against him will be pitted such men as Johnstone, the Harvard jumper, who has been seen on several occasions here in Lowell, and Barwise of the Unicorn club.

It looks as though Catcher Killifer has at last started the row between organized ball and the outlaws. Killifer was signed up by the Federals, but last night attached himself to the Philadelphia Nationals for three years. It will now be a battle royal between the two leagues. Gilmore and his band of Federal league managers are roaring like so many enraged bulls and threatening dire revenge upon the Phillies.

Manager Bill Carrigan of the Boston Red Sox will start on the southern training trip in about a month. The squad will not go in a body at that time, although Bill will take along his pitching staff. The Red Sox will make the Hot Springs their first stopping place. The "Pride of Lewiston" says that he is certain that the Red Sox will be close to the top this season and that, barring accidents, they should win the pennant. Before the season opens we will hear seven other tales of like nature from American league managers.

Cured His RUPTURE

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation. If you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 962 Marcellus avenue, Manasquan, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.

TO PROSECUTE TEAMSTERS

President of Mass. Society For the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals Issues New Order

The agents of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals have been ordered by President Rowley of the society to arrest on sight any drivers of overloaded teams. It is stated that many complaints have been sent to the various humane society offices of animals struggling in futile efforts to draw heavily loaded wagons, and this is the reason the new order was issued.

Agent Richardson of the Lowell Humane society said: "Although we are always on the watch for drivers who abuse their horses by overloading their wagons, we have very little trouble in Lowell. All of the steep hills in the city are particularly well looked after, especially during the poor traveling weather, but local men show very little carelessness in loading their wagons. What trouble we have met with has been with the coal teamsters who start out with heavy loads and when they reach a bad spot become stuck. We have always tried to educate the people by advice instead of prosecuting them."

Y. W. C. A. GYM

Scene of the Riverlook Circus an Enjoyable Entertainment by Girls' Summer Camping Club

The gymnasium of the Y. W. C. A. in John street was the scene of a large gathering last night, the occasion being a "real" circus representation given under the auspices of the Riverlook club, those in charge being the Grin and Pearem Sisters. The affair was very pleasing throughout and caused much merriment for the many onlookers, who later congratulated both the organizers and performers for the success achieved.

Gray's orchestra was in attendance, and after a few selections had been played, a real circus parade was held, the line of parade being composed of clowns, wild animals, daring bareback riders and chariots. This was followed by a varied exhibition of tight-rope walking and other amusing and hair raising stunts. Those who took part were as follows: Misses Addie Clough, Esther Mulgrave, Florence Archibald, Juna Sleeper, Ruth Gegenheimer, Eva Armstrong, Eva Henderson, Virginia Cutter, Gertrude Libbee, Charles Barton, Ted Pearson, Misses Lillian Butler, Lillian and Elizabeth Mooney, Winifred Nelson, Evelyn Lee, Addie Clough, May Cluin, Charles Stanton, Miss Mabel Stanton, Miss Harriet Jarvis, Miss Maude R. Plumstead, Miss Mildred French, Miss Grace Mochrie, Alfaretta Morris, Eleanor Clifford, Anna McKinley, and others.

A small admission fee was charged, and the proceeds of the circus will go to the Riverlook club. The lemonade, peanut, ice cream and popcorn booths, in charge of Misses Alice Handley, Grace Perley, Vera Wood and Sadie Lees, also received excellent patronage.

The ringmaster was Miss Ida Woodles, and Miss Ida Walker was her assistant.

APPEARING AT KEITH'S THIS WEEK IN SURG. LOUDER, U. S. A.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

After the guest performance of "Damaged Goods" for members of congress in Washington last spring, Senator John W. Kern of Indiana was interviewed by one of the Washington newspapers. He said of the play and of its interpretation:

"I was especially gratified to hear all the distinguished people in the Washington audience at 'Damaged Goods'—cabinet officers, senators and congressmen—sound Richard Bennett's praises on every hand and warmly commending the play, and all agreeing that the crusade in which the gifted actor was enlisted would certainly be productive of great good to his fellowmen. I hope that Mr. Bennett may be able to carry this great work forward, and have the chance to give hundreds of audiences the same 'thrill' that his Washington audience experienced."

Representative Thomas L. Reilly of Connecticut, after the performance, gave his view of the play in a bon mot that is worth remembering. He said: "The more we have of 'Damaged Goods' on the stage, the less damaged goods we will have in actual life."

O'BRIEN'S MINSTRELS

Neil O'Brien and his great American Minstrels, all new and better than ever, will be the attraction at the Lowell Opera House Friday evening, Jan. 30th. This is the second season for this organization, which is again under the direction of Oscar F. Hodge. Manager Hodge has surrounded his star with an amazing array of talent, including many of the highest salaried comedians, singers and special feature acts on the minstrel stage. Neil O'Brien needs no indorsement. The company is the largest minstrel organization traveling and includes in addition to the star such notable comedians as Eddie Ross, Eddie Mazier, Pete Detzel, Major Nowak, Georgie Faust and a score of others. The vocal corps consists of several soloists, who have won distinction and fame, notably Ward Barton, the famous yodler; Al. Fontaine, James Barardi, Leslie Berry, Georgie Hagen and Walter Lindsey, in addition to a large chorus.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Interest in "The Merchant of Venice," the attraction to be presented at the Merrimack Square theatre the coming week, has increased ten-fold since the announcement came that it was to be the last offering in which the Players were to be seen in Lowell. An unusual amount of comment had already been aroused that the greatest of the immortal bard's works was to be given production and surely no better vehicle could be secured than this for the Players to make their farewell appearance.

The last performance of the current week's attraction, "The Rosary," are being given and capacity audiences are daily witnessing this wholesome play. Seats for all performances on sale one week in advance. "Goodby" night of the stock company Saturday, Jan. 31. Seats on sale at 10 a. m., Jan. 24. Special feature program of photo-play on Sunday, matinee and night. "Roundy" Roane and other soloists. Prices, 5 and 10 cents.

OWL THEATRE

"Brennan of the Moors" was well received at the Owl last night. A beautiful Pathe play was favorably spoken of. "Bill's Board Bill," a Vitagraph comedy, took well. Other good pictures were also given. The healthful house is getting more popular every day.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Regular attendants at the B. F. Keith theatre are getting their money's worth these days, the bill of the current week being one of much strength. The protean sketch, "The Third Degree," which is being played by Frank Mayne and company, is the biggest attraction of the week. The methods of the police in some of the larger cities in extracting confessions from accused prisoners, the arrangement of circumstantial evidence with the idea in mind of securing a conviction, and the tortures which are devised to break down the prisoner are some of the things graphically shown. Mr. Mayne plays the part of the witnesses, six in number, and also of the prisoner. It is a great playlet. "Surgeon Louder, U. S. A.," a travesty on military life, by Imhof, Conn & Coreene, is diverting. On the bill are a number of other good things, including: Frawley & Hunt, gymnasts; Britt Wood, comedian; the Clockers, water jugglers; Leona Stephens, singer; Burns & Kissen, funsters, and the Pathe Weekly. Good seats may be secured in advance at the box office. Phone 28.

THE KASINO

The Kasino roller sensation is exclusively its own. The moment you begin circling the spacious hall to tuneful band music, you realize that you are having a new experience, and long ere the session is over, you have formed the Kasino habit. For you always come back. Sessions this afternoon and evening, Friday and Saturday, afternoon and evening.

LEAGUES QUIET

Bowling Organizations Take Night Off—High Score by Crescents

The Crescents rolled a great game against the Tremont and Suffolk team last night and had an easy time of it. Lebrun of the Crescents put up the remarkable high total of 350. His lowest string was 101 while he rolled 132 on his first string. Marquis was high man for the losers with 318. The final score was 1562 to 1391.

The Arlingtons and the Riversides fought it out on the Y. M. C. I. alleys last night in their Concord league contest. The Arlingtons finally pulled out a win by the narrow margin of ten points. O'Connell was high man in both totals and singles. The scores:

CRESCENTS VS. T. & S.

BOWLING CONTEST

An individual bowling contest was held on the Crescent alleys last evening, the winners of which were awarded cash prizes by the management. Concannon pulled off the highest score of 290 and received $5, Devlin took the second prize with 280 and Reynolds won with 279. The totals of the contestants are as follows:

CROSS TO MEET RIVERS

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 22.—Joe Rivers and Leach Cross, lightweights, were matched yesterday to fight 20 rounds here on February 24.

HOW YOU MAY THROW AWAY YOUR GLASSES

The statement is made that thousands wear eyeglasses who do not need them. If you are one of these unfortunates, then these glasses may be ruining your eyes instead of helping them. Thousands who wear "windows" may prove for themselves that they can dispense with glasses if they will get the following prescription filled at once: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Optona; fill a two-ounce bottle with water and drop in one Optona tablet. With this harmless liquid solution bathe the eyes two to four times daily and you are likely to be astonished at the results right from the start. Many who have been told that they have astigmatism, eye-strain, cataract, sore eyelids, weak eyes, conjunctivitis and other eye disorders, report wonderful benefits from the use of this free prescription. Get this prescription filled and use it; you may so strengthen your eyes that glasses will not be necessary. Thousands who are blind or nearly so, or who wear glasses, would never have required them if they had cared for their eyes in time. Save your eyes before it is too late! Do not become one of these victims of neglect. Eyeglasses are only like crutches and every few years they must be changed to fit the ever-increasing weakened condition, so better see if you can, like many others, get clear, healthy, strong, magnetic eyes through the prescription here given.

BOARD OF TRADE BANQUET

marking that there was nothing he could tell its members about Lowell or her affairs. He asked their assistance in looking after city affairs, especially in the pending financial questions which are confronting the city government. He solicited the counsel and assistance of the members, asked them to visit their representatives at city hall, stating that he and his fellow commissioners would always be glad to receive their suggestions and advice. The mayor was liberally applauded.

William J. Burns

William J. Burns, the famous detective whose work sent the San Francisco boodlers to jail and secured the conviction of 31 Indianapolis dynamiters, spoke for nearly two hours on the responsibilities imposed on all citizens to bring about and uphold clean city government.

GEORGE M. HARRIGAN
President

When Mr. Burns was bowing his acknowledgment to the applause which greeted him, the audience saw before them a dapper, stoutish man of medium height, sandy complexion, full mustache, dressed as staidly as a physician, and whose pleasant smile invested him with anything but the appearance of a detective. But when he began speaking and warmed up to his subject, the real William J. Burns, shrewd, indomitable, aggressive, appeared in his true characteristics.

Civic duty, that obligation which rests on all men to work for the welfare of their city, was the one idea which Mr. Burns during his two hours' address, sought to impress on his hearers. To emphasize the importance of the performance of this duty and, by contrast, how its neglect will be followed by civic corruption, Mr. Burns

Secretary

centered his remarks on the city government of San Francisco, when its affairs were under the domination of Boss "Abe" Reuf.

Incidentally he said Reuf is now serving 14 years in San Quentin penitentiary.

After paying a high compliment to Mayor Murphy for his stand for clean government and a still higher one to Superintendent Welch, Mr. Burns launched forth into the story of his work all over the country from New York and Philadelphia to Chicago, Indianapolis and San Francisco.

The time has come, he said, when responsibility for graft will be placed where it belongs, on the men higher up and if it is not always possible to convict these men, at least the public will have the satisfaction of knowing who they are. Following hand in hand with these exposures and convictions, however, it was to be deplored that human life must be sacrificed, as in the case of dynamiters and in that of the New York gamblers and gunmen, yet no great reforms ever had been or in all likelihood ever would be brought about without the sacrifice of life. It was the price paid for the arousing of public opinion.

As an instance of the cheapness with which life is held by those of the underworld, Mr. Burns, when this had been doubted by a Chicago business man, arranged a meeting with Chicago gunmen and, within the hearing of the doubter, made a bargain with the desperados to have the business man wounded and sent to a hospital for $250 and killed outright for $500.

This condition of affairs could be wiped out only by the citizens directing and maintaining a scrutinizing eye on their city government.

"If men like you," he said, "take an interest in public affairs all evil can be eliminated even to the gunmen and the men high up in business and financial circles. In my investigations of crime I have always tried to go after the important man. Turn on him the light of publicity and he ceases to be a menace. Point out the men who seek to debauch public office and office holders and you point the real danger. No man, however high, is above the law but in trying to do my duty I have had at my heels the men who were powerful. All this can be stopped if you men help. San Francisco is an example of how rotten a city can become before the public is aroused. The wonder is that citizens do not become aroused earlier."

In an extremely interesting manner Mr. Burns then described how he prevented the dishonest election of a United States senator from West Virginia. This he secured by running what he laughingly termed a "pipe line," or detective, into the office of the prospective senator and others into those of legislators with itching palms, and securing sufficient evidence to convict them.

In speaking of "pipe lines," or detectives, Mr. Burns passingly remarked that it would be well for his hearers not to trust too implicitly in the honesty of the average private detective; nor for that matter in that of the average lawyer. Many private detectives, he stated, were the greatest blackmailers and thieves that ever escaped justice.

"But despite the nature of my profession," he continued, "no man is more averse than myself to send a fellow man to prison, to brand him as a convict, and keep that brand on him when he returns to the outside world. In this connection, it is an auspicious sign, too, that the judges of our courts are in these days dealing very kindly with first offenders and are giving them every opportunity to reform."

Speaking of the affairs in San Francisco, Mr. Burns said that graft had been reduced to such a science that the right to pick pockets was sold to the highest bidder by the political boss. He had himself seen, he said, the man who controlled this privilege, and had seen him walking the streets, keeping a watchful eye on his hired pickpockets to see that they did not loaf on the job. Merchants had been murdered in their stores and bankers shot down before their safes in open daylight in that city and the perpetrators got off scot free. Not even a house could be built unless the ward boss got his rakeoff.

"When I began bringing these men to justice," he continued, "everybody applauded my actions, but when I started after the men on the top of

FACTORY LEAGUE

Standing of Teams in the Manufacturers' League—T. & S. Team in the Lead

The standing in the Manufacturers' Bowling league remains practically the same as when computed the last time. The Tremont & Suffolk bowlers are in the lead with the U. S. Cartridge rollers close behind. F. O'Brien leads in individual averages with Singleton one point in the rear. The figures for the league are as follows:

Teams	Won	Lost	P.C.
Tremont & Suffolk	7	2	77.8
U. S. Cartridge	6	3	66.7
U. S. Bunting	5	4	55.5
Edgelow	4	5	44.5
Hamilton	4	5	44.5
Merrimacks	4	5	44.5
Appletons	3	6	33.4
J. P. S.	3	6	33.4

Individual averages over 85 are as follows:

JOHNNY COULON WON

Coulon's superior boxing entitled him to a margin, but it was a very slight lead. The rugged Rock Islander proved a willing mixer and staggered Coulon repeatedly with heavy swings to the head and face.

IF MEALS HIT BACK AND STOMACH SOURS

"Pape's Diapepsin" Ends Stomach Misery, Indigestion in Five Minutes

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach headache, you can get blessed relief in five minutes.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, plainly printed on these fifty-cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will understand why dyspeptic troubles of all kinds must go, and why they relieve sour, out-of-order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. "Pape's Diapepsin" is harmless; tastes like candy, though each dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but, what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many "Pape's Diapepsin" cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be enthusiastic about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever take it for indigestion, gases, heartburn, sourness, dyspepsia, or any stomach misery.

Get some now, this minute, and rid yourself of stomach trouble and indigestion in five minutes.

FAST TIME ON TRACKS

PATERSON, N. J., Jan. 22.—Abel R. Kiviat, of the Irish-American Athletic club won the Elks' Derby at 1000 yards, the principal event at the Elks' indoor athletic games held here last night. Kiviat finished five yards ahead of O. De Grouch of the New York Athletic club, who was the same distance in front of Oscar Hedlund of the Boston Athletic association. The winner's time was 2.17 2-5.

Jack Eller of the Irish-American A. C., an Olympic runner, equalled the world's indoor record of 7 2-5 seconds in the sixty yard low hurdles. In the 60 yard sprint, Alvah T. Moyer, I. A. A. C., equalled the American indoor record of 6 2-5 seconds.

BASEBALL MEN MEET

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—Selection of a committee to prepare the league's 1914 playing schedule was the principal business for today's meeting of American association club owners and managers. Two new faces were seen at the meeting. They were those of James Sheckard, formerly with the Chicago Cubs, who yesterday signed to manage the Toledo club this season and W. C. McGill, who purchased the Indianapolis club last week.

Nearly all of the managers admitted they were keeping watch for possible trades and despite announcements that the Federal league has not tampered with many association players much interest was shown in any news regarding the new league.

UNIVERSITY ATHLETICS

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 22.—Hereafter faculty members and administrative officers of the University of Wisconsin will have to pay admission to witness university football, baseball, and basketball games and track events. A ruling made by the athletic council today provides that only team managers, players, newspapermen, and wearers of the varsity, will be admitted free.

Millions Now Know MUSTEROLE

They used to put up with the muss and the bother of mustard plasters.

It smarted, and blistered like all get-out, but it surely did the work.

Science now has combined the amazingly curative properties of mustard with other ingredients into a wonderful ointment.

It is called MUSTEROLE. And it does what mustard plasters used to do, without the plaster, and without the blister!

MUSTEROLE

At your druggist's, in 25c and 60c jars, and a special large hospital size for $2.50.

Accept no substitute. If your druggist cannot supply you, send 25c or 60c to the MUSTEROLE Company, Cleveland, Ohio, and we will mail you a jar, postage prepaid. (69)

FORTUNE COMING

To Michael Keefe if He Can Prove His Title Clear

Michael J. Keefe is engaged in the street department at the present time, but it looks as if the day were soon to dawn when, perhaps, he would say an revoir to the position which he now occupies and enjoys. Of course this has all the uncertainty of green delds far away, but it looks pretty good for Michael J. just the same.

Some time ago there came a letter to city hall from Dr. Howard, of Mound City, Ill., in which it was stated that a fortune awaited the heirs of one Johanna Keefe, who lived in Lowell years ago and who was supposed to have relatives still living here. The letter was published in full in The Sun and it caught Michael J. Keefe's eye. He had heard a great deal about a relative, Johanna Keefe by name, and he proceeded to investigate.

Mr. Keefe, after looking up the records and satisfying himself that there was some connection between the Johanna Keefe mentioned in Dr. Howard's letter and his, Mr. Keefe's relative, he turned the matter over to Col. Carmichael, now Commissioner Carmichael, and the latter proceeded to communicate with Dr. Howard. Several letters were received from the doctor and evidence of the fact that he believed he has discovered the rightful heir or heirs was received this morning in a request from him for full power of attorney to complete the investigation and go through with the case in all its details. Mr. Carmichael has taken the matter under consideration.

BANKERS MUST HURRY

APPLICATIONS TO ENTER NEW SYSTEM MUST BE FILED WITHIN 60 DAYS OF PASSAGE

The secretary of the treasury at Washington has issued a statement to the effect that all national banks must signify their acceptance or non-acceptance of the terms of the new currency act within 60 days from the time of its passage. The state banks and trust companies are not compelled to file their intentions within any time limit.

A part of the act reads as follows:

"Under regulations to be prescribed by the organization committee, every national banking association in the United States is hereby required, and every eligible bank in the United States and every trust company within the District of Columbia, is hereby authorized to signify in writing within sixty days after the passage of this act its acceptance of the terms and provisions hereof."

According to reports from Washington over 4000 banks have already made legal application for membership in the new system, and if applications continue to reach the treasury at the present rate there will be close to 6000 by the end of the week. There are 7500 national banks in the United States and present indications point to but few remaining without the system. Since the approval of the act on Dec. 23, 1913, 82 trust companies and state banks have expressed their desire to join the new system.

TO BACK UP ORGANIZER

STATE BRANCH, A. F. OF L. URGES LUTHRINTER TO STICK AT CLAREMONT, N. H.

CLAREMONT, N. H., Jan. 22.—The New Hampshire State branch of the American Federation of Labor yesterday came to the aid of Organizer John Luthrinter, who has been ordered to leave the town by the business men and board of trade. The A. F. of L. leaders urged Organizer Luthrinter to hold his ground and promised both moral and financial backing.

In defiance of the police mandate, Mr. Luthrinter will conduct public meetings outside of the Sullivan Machinery company factory, and declared last night that he would not cease his efforts to unionize all of the 1200 employes of his factory. His first open air meeting will be during the workmen's noon period today.

IMPROVEMENT IN COTTON

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—Improvement in the quality of cotton products in the south was the subject of a conference yesterday between members of the Arkwright club, representing New England cotton mill interests and officials of the department of agriculture. Many cotton brokers also were present. Charles J. Brand, one of the federal officials, emphasized the need, and told of the efforts of the department to secure co-operation between the spinners and the planters in stimulating the growth of a better grade of cotton. Production of long staple cotton cannot be developed, he said, unless grown on a community basis.

FIRE IN PAPER SHED

A large quantity of old papers, which were kept in a shed situated on the Aiken street dump was destroyed by fire early this morning. The inside of the building was also badly damaged and it is believed that the loss will be about $200.

The building and contents were owned by Bettencourt and Quados, who make it a business to pick up all the papers that are strewn over the dump and pile them into this shed until a purchaser is found. About 2.30 o'clock this morning the blaze was discovered and an alarm from box 65 rung in but it was only a few seconds before the top of the building was a mass of flames. By quick work on the part of the firemen the blaze was extinguished and the greater part of the structure saved. It is believed that the fire was caused by spontaneous combustion.

This is the second time that a fire has originated in this place during the night. The last time the building was practically destroyed before the alarm was sounded.

NEWS OF LEGISLATURE

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—The council chamber was the center of attraction at the state house yesterday afternoon, for in that room Frank J. Donahue of Boston took the oath of office for another term of service as secretary of the commonwealth, and the following recently elected executive officers of the state were sworn in for the first time: Frederick W. Mansfield of Boston, treasurer and receiver general; Frank H. Pope of Leominster, auditor, and Thomas J. Boynton of Everett, attorney general.

The ceremony came soon after 3 o'clock. The retiring officers, Treasurer Stevens, Auditor White and Attorney General Swift, escorted their successors to the council chamber, where Gov. Walsh administered the oath of office to the new men. The lieutenant governor and all the members of the council were present, and Mrs. Mansfield, Mrs. Donahue, and the latter's sister also were in the room.

New Assistants to Atty. Gen

Atty. Gen. Boynton announced the appointment of the following assistants in his office: Thomas F. Riley of Malden, Roger Sherman Hoar of Concord, Leon R. Eyges of Boston and Arthur Seagrove of Uxbridge. These men take the places respectively of F. B. Greenhalge, Andrew Marshall, Henry M. Hutchins and Walter A. Powers, who have been assistants in the office for periods varying from 12 years in the case of Mr. Greenhalge down to two years or less in the case of Mr. Powers. The only assistant who will hold over under the new attorney general is Thomas O. Jenkins, who was appointed not long ago by Atty. Gen. Swift.

Nominations Sent In

The governor sent in yesterday the following nominations:

Dr. Henry P. Walcott of Cambridge, to be chairman of the Metropolitan Water and Sewerage board, a reappointment.

Thomas E. Dwyer of Wakefield, to be a member of the Metropolitan Water and Sewerage board in place of Hon. H. H. Sprague, resigned.

Wallace R. Heady of Springfield, to be justice of the police court of that city in place of William Hamilton, who was recently promoted to the superior court.

Gilman Osgood of Rockland and J. Frank Curtin of Abington, to be, respectively, medical examiner and associate medical examiner of Plymouth county.

Nelson B. Vanderhoof of Newton, to make the table of changes in the general laws.

Edward F. Hamlin of Newton, to be executive secretary.

Thomas M. Connolly of Boston, to be assistant executive secretary.

Private Sessions

The executive council confirmed yesterday under a suspension of the rule all these appointments except that of the new judge of the Springfield court, and confirmed also the nominations which Gov. Walsh sent in a week ago with the exception or that of a judge for the Charlestown municipal court.

The council did one other important thing yesterday; it voted, in spite of the opposition of Lieut. Gov. Barry, that its meetings should continue to be, as they always have been, secret. The vote on the adoption of the old rules which provided for the exclusion of the public was: Yeas, Councilors Keith, Guy, McGregor, Frothingham, Mortimer and Bowles, 6; nays, the lieutenant governor and Councilors Buckley and Hogan. Political lines were not drawn very sharply on this question, as Mr. Guy, a democrat, and Messrs. Mortimer and Bowles, who were elected as democrats and progressives, voted against the lieutenant governor.

House Session

The state house of representatives had a short session yesterday and did not do much business except to reject an order offered by Mr. Carr of Hopkinton that there should be published annually in the legislative manual a complete record of the votes cast for candidates for governor since the adoption of the state constitution.

The bank commissioner reported that the total assets of the various savings banks, co-operative banks and other institutions under his supervision was last year $1,499,648,870; this amount is $72,856,312 more than it was last year.

Representative McManus of Boston has filed a petition that the number of signatures required on the nomination paper of a candidate for mayor or the city council in Boston shall be 1000, not more than 100 of which shall come from any one ward.

Senate Session

The time of the state senate was taken up yesterday almost exclusively with the reading of bills and petitions, the most important of which are here outlined:

By Senator Nichols of Boston—That the gas and electric light, the public service and the taxation commissioners with the attorney general be created a commission to consider the advisability of taxing signs and to report to the next general court.

By Senator Burbank of Bridgewater—For a survey of the Taunton river from Weir Village to the junction of the Weweantuxet river in Halifax; also for dredging a channel 700 feet long, 75 feet wide and 5 feet deep in Scituate harbor; also for dredging a channel 50 feet deep in Duxbury bay, for 1500 feet at an expense not exceeding $13,000.

By Senator Dean of Wakefield—That the harbor and land commissioners be directed to expend $30,000 in dredging and improving Lake Quannapowitt in Wakefield; also for a constitutional amendment to permit the general court of Massachusetts to levy an income tax on persons and corporations.

The house and senate concurred in extending to Feb. 7 the time within which the so-called "white slave commission" may file its report.

The committee on the judiciary reported in the senate an act giving to the appellate division of the Boston municipal court all the powers in civil litigation which were given by an act of last year to the supreme judicial court.

Committee on Rules

The house committee on rules gave a hearing at the state house yesterday afternoon on an order offered by Representative Carr of Hopkinton that no newspaper reporter employed by any person or corporation having business before the legislature shall be admitted to the floor or newspaper gallery of the house.

Mr. Carr and Representatives Davenport and Tilden of Malden and Niland and Doyle of East Boston spoke in favor of the order. Representative Washburn of Worcester made a characteristic speech in which he said that it was impossible to bring the millenium by legislation and that the best way to accomplish the desired result was to place on the newspapers the responsibility for their representatives at the state house.

At the request of Speaker Cushing, some of the newspaper reporters themselves made suggestions about the order. The reporters expressed their complete sympathy with the purpose of the proposed change in the house rules, but they proposed certain changes in the order as presented.

LOWELL MAN HAD LUMBAGO 25 YEARS

Gyarcel Gave Prompt Relief Where Many Other Medicines Failed

Mr. E. J. Comerford, who lives at 95 Pawtucket street, Lowell, says: For 25 years I was troubled with lumbago. I tried a great many medicines but did no get relief. A friend recommended Gyarcel to me and I am pleased to say that it relieved me at once and I continued to take it until I was entirely cured. (Signed

E. J. Comerford.

Lumbago is a form of rheumatism and is caused by uric acid poison in the blood. Gyarcel cures lumbago as it does rheumatism by driving out the uric acid poison. It stimulates the kidneys the better to perform their work. Gyarcel is sold by all druggists either in liquid or tablet form, 50 cents and $1.00. The chocolate coated tablets are easy to take and quickly effective.

COMMON SENSE ABOUT COLDS

With a Little Care No One Need Ever Have a Cold

No. 3

If people could just get a plentiful supply of fresh air and enough exercise to keep the blood circulating properly there would not be any such thing as a cold.

But we don't get the fresh air—

And we don't take enough exercise—

We live in over-heated houses—

We ride in badly ventilated street cars—

We dress too warmly—

Our skin and the membranes of our throat and nose become over sensitive—

We are not able to resist the attacks of the cold microbes—

The first little unusual exposure to cold or dampness starts the shivers.

We begin to cough and sneeze—

Then is the time when delay is dangerous—

Ask him for a box of Hill's Cascara Bromide Quinine Tablets.

A few doses will knock out the cold in twenty-four hours.

We guarantee this—you can have your money back if it fails.

Hill's Cascara Bromide Quinine Tablets have been used by cold sufferers all over the world by fifteen years.

It is a standard remedy made by the W. H. Hill company of Detroit—all druggists have it—the price is 25 cents.

REVIVE OLD BALLADS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Convinced that many of the English and Scottish popular ballads of olden times which still survive in the United States are threatened with extinction unless steps are at once taken to revive them, the federal bureau of education announced today that it has instituted a nation-wide search for versions of these old ballads.

Prof. C. Alphonso Smith of the University of Virginia, a prominent folklore investigator, has been commissioned to conduct the search.

Among the ballads for which survivals are sought are: Robin Hood, The Beggar Laddie, Bonny Barbara Allan, The Crafty Farmer, Durham Field, The Earl Marc's Daughter, Fair Annie; Johnny's Armstrong's Last Good Night; Lady Isabelle and the Elf Knight, Child Maurice, the Lass of Roch Royal, The Mermaid, Rob Roy, The Three Ravens, Trooper and Maid, and The Wife of Usher's Well.

REWARD OF $5000

Do you know John Krafcenko, alias Pearl Smith, a wrestler of wide reputation. If so, try and locate him and then turn him over to the Winnipeg Manitoba, police and collect a reward of $5000 for your trouble.

Krafcenko is wanted by the Canadian police for the murder of H. M. Arnold of Plum Coulee, Manitoba, who, it is alleged he murdered last December after robbing the Bank of Montreal. He was arrested at the time, but on Jan. 10 he made good his escape. An additional reward of $2000 is offered for the conviction of persons who aided him in his escape. It is believed that the so much sought murderer has wrestled in this state under the name of Smith.

Make Hairs Disappear Almost Like Magic

(Toilet Tips)

Advocates of the electric needle for removing stubborn hairy growths now concede that a simple paste made with powdered delatone and water is fully as efficacious and is devoid of pain, while the cost is trifling. The delatone paste is left on the hairy surface about two minutes and when it is rubbed off all traces of hair vanish. Washing leaves the skin soft, smooth and spotless. Be careful to see that it is delatone you get or you may be disappointed with the result.

FEDERAL LEAGUE

Threatens Invasion Into Cinn., Headquarters of Organized Baseball

CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 22—This city, the headquarters of organized baseball, inasmuch as the office of the national commission is located here, is seriously threatened by an invasion of the Federal league. At a secret meeting held last night in the office of a law firm, it was almost finally decided to switch the franchise of the Toronto Federal League club to Cincinnati.

Present at the meeting were President James A. Gilmore of the Federal league; E. E. Gates, counsel for the league; Joseph Dixon, president of the newly organized City league, and Paul Connelly, an attorney.

Dixon, who is prominent in amateur sports, particularly outlined the local situation to Gilmore and Gates. A site for a new baseball park within 15 minutes of the city was considered but nothing positive was determined except that Dixon would direct the new club if the invision is decided upon.

It is understood that Gilmore and Gates will return to this city soon to go deeper into the matter and arrange financial details. President Gilmore repeated today his statement made yesterday that he will fight for the services of Catcher Killifer and Pitcher Brennan, who yesterday signed with the Philadelphia National League club to which they belonged previous to singing contracts with the Federal league.

When or where he will begin action or what course he would take was not disclosed by Mr. Gilmore.

POLICE COURT SESSION

Sergt. David Petrie made a very clever capture late yesterday afternoon when he brought Frank Roach to the station and locked him up on the charge of larceny. Roach, the police claim, stole several articles of clothing from the store of the Grenhouse Sales Co. on Merrimack street.

Roach is wanted by the Providence, R. I. police for the larceny of several suits of clothes in that city. It is probable that before his trial is over here that other cities may send in word to hold Roach for them after the disposition of his case here.

Frank Roach pleaded guilty to the larceny of three suits of clothes from the Grenhouse Sales Co. Sergt. Petrie told the court that the defendant worked for the complainants and had wrapped the stolen clothes under his coat when he left the store at night. An overcoat which Roach stole in Providence was found in his possession by Sergt. Petrie and the defendant admitted that he stole this garment also. Roach was sent to the house of correction for five months.

Illegal Liquor Selling

Arthur Frechette pleaded guilty to the unlawful sale of a half pint of whiskey to Patrick Horgan. Frechette works as a bartender for L. F. Turcotte. He was fined $50.

Simeon Chaput pleaded not guilty to the charge of drunkenness and his case was continued. George Dunn was fined $6 for the same offence. John McFarland charged with non-support had his case continued for a month.

James McKiernan made his fourth appearance for drunkenness within a year this morning. He was in very bad physical condition. Judge Enright ordered him committed to the state farm.

James A. Riley pleaded not guilty to the charge of drunkenness. Officer Paige, the arresting officer, said that the defendant was drunk and very boisterous at city hall. Riley put the officer through a cross-examination which was rather rambling in character.

When the defendant was asked if he wished to tell his story, he announced in a loud voice: "You bet your life."

He had not been drinking, he said, but had been taking two ounces of alcohol, two ounces of glycerine and one ounce of honey as medicine.

"Why," said the defendant to Supt. Welch, "I could throw three or four men like him," indicating Officer Paige, "down the stairs, but I respected his gray hairs. He reminded me of my dear old dad and for that reason I wouldn't break the chain when he put the twisters on my wrists. I wasn't drunk and that is all there is to it."

Judge Enright fined the defendant $2 and Riley promptly appealed and was held in $200 bail for superior court.

George W. Collins, of Boston, pleaded not guilty to the larceny of an automobile tire and chains from Dr. Gatsopoulos. James S. Murphy, Esq., appeared for the prosecution and Lawyer Creed for the defence.

It seems that the complainant bought a car from the defendant and paid $300 of the $650, the purchase price, at the time he received the car. The lease existing between the two interested parties was introduced.

Dr. Gatsopoulos and his wife testified that they bought a new tire for the machine and also some new chains. Collins came to Lowell and took possession of the car and took the new tire and chains to Boston with him. It was about these chains and the tire that the case hinged.

The defence claimed that, inasmuch as the conditions of the lease called for the complainant's proper upkeep of the car, he was entitled to the tire and the chains as the doctor had bought the tire to take the place of one which had been damaged while the cave was in his possession. Collins said that he furnished chains for the car and that the chains which he took away with the car were a substitute for those he left with the car.

Both attorneys spent some time in summing up their respective sides of the case and court did not adjourn until nearly one o'clock. Judge Enright found the defendant guilty of the larceny of chains and not guilty on the charge of stealing the tire. Collins was fined $50.

BURIAL OF LORD STRATHCONA

LONDON, Jan. 22.—The body of the late Lord Strathcona, late high commissioner for Canada, in all probability will be interred in Westminster Abbey as a recognition of his eminence in the double capacity of empire builder and philanthropist. Lord Strathcona's one wish was to be buried beside his wife in Highgate cemetery, north of London, but in view of the public desire that the dead man should find a resting place either in the abbey or in St. Paul's (cathedral), his relatives are likely to yield.

DANGER OF SEX PLAYS

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 22.—Former President Taft called a halt last night in the movement toward "purer democracy" and greater social and individual freedom. In a speech at the commencement exercises of a local business college he arraigned "impractical reformers" and "demagogues" who seek to arouse class consciousness.

He took issue with the tendency to inject more democracy into educational methods and declared that the spread of "publicity" in literature, on the stage, and indirectly in education, was a danger to the young men and women of the country.

Mr. Taft admitted the benefits of many modern crusades, but added:

"The people are sufficiently aroused. Now let common sense prevail to distinguish between what is good and practical and what is luring, but deceitful in its promise. . . . This greater social consciousness, beneficial as it is, has produced some hysterical excesses."

Speaking of attempts to cure defects in education by more democracy, he said:

"We have had the ridiculous exhibition of school children striking because some favorite principal was transferred to another school, and we find the newspapers stimulating such movements and weak-minded parents looking with pride upon the courage and enterprise of their offspring. In my day, and that is not so long ago, such children if they had gone home would have been properly treated with a spanking."

The former president dwelt at length upon the dangers of sex literature and sex plays, which, he says, "spread lubricity under the plea that vice may be avoided by teaching its awful consequences.

"By dwelling on its details and explaining its penalties, sexual subjects are dragged into discussion between the sexes, lectures are delivered on them, and text books are written, and former restraints of modesty are abandoned."

CHURCHES AS MONEY LENDERS

WATERVILLE, Me., Jan. 22.—Ralph J. Patterson, superintendent of local street railways, advocated last night at the Churchmen's Federation banquet that churches should do a banking business and conduct employment agencies to get in touch with the estimated 50,000,000 people not affiliated with churches in any way, or "prospects" as he called them.

OUIMET GOES SOUTH

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—Francis Ouimet, the American open golf champion, started south today for two weeks' practice at Pinehurst, N. C. He expects to play on several courses in the Middle Atlantic states before sailing in April to participate in the British amateur and open title events.

To Keep the Skin Velvety In Winter

The skin is very susceptible to the harsh winds of winter, yet a complexion of velvety softness and divine fairness is easily attained in the coldest weather by using a plain mayatone lotion. This lotion should be used night and morning after cleansing and drying the skin carefully. It is made at little cost—just dissolve an original package of mayatone in one-half pint witch hazel. This is ideal for banishing sallowness, blotches, skin roughness and all discolorations.

CARABOA BANQUET DID IT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—An echo of the Carabao banquet, at which the administration's Philippine policy was ridiculed here last month, was heard at the navy department yesterday, when Secretary Daniels revoked an order assigning Rear Admiral Thomas B. Howard to command the Asiatic fleet, succeeding Rear Admiral Reginald F. Nicholson.

Instead Admiral Howard will relieve Rear Admiral W. C. Cowles, commanding the American squadron off the Pacific Mexican coast, and Admiral Cowles will take command of the Asiatic fleet.

Admiral Howard was chairman of the Carabao dinner committee and with the other members, high army and navy officers, was reprimanded at the direction of President Wilson after an investigation of the travesties and songs which featured the military society's banquet.

"Under the circumstances we did not want to send Admiral Howard to the Philippines," said Secretary Daniels yesterday. "But as we have every confidence in him, we did not want to give him a command that would in any way appear to be a punishment, so we decided to send him to the Pacific Mexican squadron. The arrangement is entirely satisfactory to Admiral Howard."

HUERTA GOVERNMENT CRUMBLING

CHIHUAHUA, Mex., Jan. 22.—"It will soon be shown that the United States has not waited in vain in the belief that the Huerta government is slowly crumbling," said Gen. Francisco Villa, yesterday. "With the northern division of the Huerta army imprisoned in the United States and with Gen. Jose Refugio Velasco's Federal troops trembling at Torreon, the only point they now hold in the north, it will not be long before the usurper Huerta will be swept away by public opinion. At first it was only our arms that brought us victories but now the people of Mexico are convinced of the seriousness of the revolution. We are finding that popular approval is as effective as bullets.

"But we are not forgetting that bullets are still necessary. The fighting will continue."

PARCEL POST EXPENSIVE

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—Representative George H. Ellis, chairman of the legislative committee on railroads, said last night that the parcel post had cost the Boston & Maine railroad $700,000 a year. He was addressing the Massachusetts Wholesale Lumber association on the railroad situation in the state. The association re-elected William E. Litchfield of Boston as its president.

CHARGES AGAINST JUDGE

MACON, Ga., Jan. 22.—Witnesses yesterday before the congressional subcommittee here investigating charges of official misconduct against Judge Emory Speer accused the jurist of permitting the dissipation of a bankrupt estate; of high handed and tyrannical methods; of favoritism, of a free use of contempt citations; of discourtesy to members of the bar; and of having a deputation for being approachable by "underground, wireless" routes.

Col. W. A. Huff, an octogenarian, testified that his estate had been thrown into bankruptcy in Judge Speer's court more than 14 years ago; that excessive fees had been allowed to various special masters and others; that a sum in excess of $90,000 derived from the sale of certain parts of his estate had been placed without interest in a bank of which Judge Speer's business partner was president, and his brother-in-law vice president, where it had remained for more than three years.

FLAGMAN PLEADS GUILTY

WAS MEMBER OF CREW ON ILL-FATED BAR HARBOR EXPRESS WHEN 21 WERE KILLED

NEW HAVEN, Jan. 22.—Charles H. Murray, of Holyoke, Mass., flagman of the ill-fated Bar Harbor express on the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad which was wrecked at North Haven last September, exacting a toll of 21 lives, pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the superior court late yesterday afternoon. Judge Milton A. Shumway deferred sentence until a later date.

EX-SENATOR CULLOM BETTER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Shelby M. Cullom, former senator from Illinois and chairman of the Lincoln Memorial committee, dangerously ill at his home here, was more improved today than at any time since he took to his bed more than a week ago.

If heart and lungs continue in favorable condition, it was said he might live a week or a month.

Although he is practically helpless physically, Mr. Cullom's mental faculties are not impaired and his constant wish is that he may live to see the completion of the national memorial to Lincoln, who was his personal friend.

FINANCES OF NAVAL PROGRAM

LONDON, Jan. 22.—The cabinet will hold an important meeting today to decide upon the financial feature of the naval program for the coming year. Since Winston Spencer Churchill has been head of the admiralty he has spent money lavishly in speeding up construction. David Lloyd-George for the first time since he has been chancellor of the exchequer is faced with a budget deficit. Hence his anxiety to bring about a halt in naval expenditure.

Mr. Churchill, however, insists upon four new dreadnoughts being laid down the coming year.

PRICE MOVEMENTS SMALL

At Opening—Good Demand For Bonds and Stocks—Canadian Pacific Was Heavy

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Although price movements early today were comparatively small, the market was dominated by the same forces which brought about yesterday's advance. There was a good demand for both bonds and stocks, with indications of an increased volume of investment buying. Reading opened fractionally lower, but made up its loss. Canadian Pacific was heavy. Otherwise the leading shares were higher. Gains of about a point were made by North Pacific, International Harvester, Pittsburgh Coal and American Agricultural Chemical. In the bond market a block of $84,000 Baltimore & Ohio convertibles changed hands. Southern Pacific convertibles and Interborough Metropolitan 4 1-2's rose 1 1-2.

The market tended toward a higher range during the morning, and the top marks for the present advance were reached. The success of the state bond issue, reduction in discount rates by the bank of England and the bank of Germany and the steady outside demand for stocks were obviously bullish factors. Trading far outstripped yesterday's volume for the corresponding period. Among specialties and high grade investment stocks there were gains of one to five points. In the active shares the rise was limited in most cases to fractions, on account of the pressure of profit-taking sales. Dealings in bonds were on the largest scale of any day for nearly two years.

Speculative buying of obscure shares, which had not figured in the week's improvement, became more active in the afternoon. Leading stocks, especially Reading and Union Pacific, also rose vigorously. An indication of the improved investment demand was the announcement that the syndicate which yesterday purchased the $61,000,000 issue of New York state bonds, had sold the entire amount.

The market closed strong. The general upward movement became more pronounced when a block of 10,000 shares of United States Steel was purchased at 65. Later it went to 66. Breadth and activity of the market intimidated shorts, who covered heavily in all quarters.

NEW BUILDING ON GORHAM ST.

Henry F. Carr, who for the past seven years has conducted pool parlors and a cigar store in the Lincoln building at 98 Gorham street, has been ordered by the landlord to vacate the premises before April 1. It is understood that the owner, Mr. Owen M. Donohoe, will use the lower floor of the building in his business.

Mr. Carr received notice to remove from his present quarters last week and he now is planning to lease a part of a proposed building that is to be erected where the undertaking rooms of M. H. McDonough are now located. According to the present plans a portion of the new building will be used as a Gorham street entrance to the Lowell Opera house.

The building is to be erected by Walter Colson of Lawrence and Herbert Colson of Pelham, N. H. who now own the land, and it is believed that the work of tearing down the building where McDonough is situated will be started at once.

The new building will face Gorham street and will be but one story high. With the exception of the end that will be transformed into a theatre lobby practically all of the building will be leased by Mr. Carr. Architect Harry Graves has surveyed the premises and as soon as the plans are completed men will be put to work on the new structure.

LAWYER HELD IN $1,000

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—William C. Free, lawyer and justice of the peace, indicted in 199 counts for swearing to false jurats of Mayoralty Candidate Thomas J. Kenny, surrendered to District Attorney Pelletier yesterday afternoon.

Attorney Free was arraigned and after a plea of not guilty furnished $1000 bail in which he was held for trial.

MORTON MILLS CLOSED

The Morton Mill Co., manufacturers of narrow silk fabrics, a firm that has been doing business in Lowell for over a year, with a payroll of about $2500 a week and a force of about 150 employes, has suspended all operations and now the superintendent of the plant, Richard Godfrey, is the only man about the premises and his duties are to liquidate and sell out the machinery as fast as purchasers can be found. The financial condition, according to the superintendent, is good and the liquidation is a voluntary one, the cause of it being, that a suitable plant for the manufacturing of silk fabrics could not be located in Lowell.

The company decided to liquidate last November and immediately the force of employes was reduced and as fast as the remaining orders were filled in more help was released. The last clerk and laborer in the employ of the company were discharged Tuesday and now when a lot of machinery is sold, outsiders are hired to pack it in cars for shipment under the supervision of the superintendent.

The company owns a large manufacturing building in Paterson, N. J., where its headquarters were formerly located. The plant while located at Paterson was running full time and the company had no trouble in securing experienced help. Labor troubles arose, however, and finally it was decided to move the machinery to Lowell and accordingly a spare building of the Hamilton Mfg. Co., in Jackson street was secured. Several experienced hands were brought to this city and local help was hired and at one time when the plant was under the direction of Former Superintendent D. J. Clark, about 150 people were employed and the payroll was about $2500 a week.

The company had a hard problem to solve, and that was the dyeing of the silk, for no plant that could do the work properly could be found in this vicinity and the goods had to be shipped to Paterson and then returned to Lowell, and that meant considerable expense. The Lowell plant, according to the present superintendent, has not the required daylight for silk manufacturing and the result was that the help would work a few weeks and as soon as they became efficient, their eyesight troubled them and most of them would seek employment elsewhere.

Richard Godfrey, the present superintendent, took charge last August, when Supt. Clark went to Worcester, and three months later he was given orders to refuse all new orders and close up the business. Mr. Godfrey stated this morning that the company was doing excellent business but the profits were very small.

Sidney B. Weltheimer of New York, a silk manufacturer, so stated Mr. Godfrey, called at the plant a few days ago and made an offer for the entire machinery, his intention being to start up a new plant on the same basis in this city. The offer was turned over to the treasurer of the Morton Mill Co., H. C. Whitcher, but as yet nothing definite has been done. Mr. Godfrey does not know just how long it will take him to liquidate, but he is hurrying things along and it may be but a few weeks before the plant is vacated.

DENY "SNOBBISHNESS" IN NAVY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Accusations of "snobbishness" in the navy were branded as "untrue and unjust" in a letter from an officer of the naval reserve to Secretary Daniels today. The author of the letter was one of the naval militia officials who participated in the recent battleship cruise to the Mediterranean on the United States battleship Delaware.

"I made friendships on that battleship which I shall always value highly, and my reflections of this cruise are only of the pleasantest kind," he said. "If these men on this ship are representative types of American naval officers surely no such charge can lie at their door."

BLOODY SUNDAY

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 22.—The police today with drawn swords dispersed crowds of demonstrators observing the anniversary of "Bloody Sunday," Jan. 22, 1905, when the troops massacred many striking workingmen as they were marching, led by Father Gapon, to the palace square to present to the emperor a petition formulating their political and economic demands.

The workmen today declared a general strike and with bands playing proceeded along Nevsky prospect singing revolutionary songs until the police scattered them.

Considerable damage is reported to have been done by the demonstrators a number of whom were arrested.

SUIT FOR $14,000,000

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 22.—A suit to recover more than $14,000,000 was filed in the United States district court here against ten men who were directors of the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad in 1910.

CARD OF THANKS

To our many friends and neighbors and to the employes of the Lowell water works and shipping department of Lawrence hosiery, who so kindly assisted us in sending such beautiful floral tributes and in any way assisted us in the loss of our beloved sister, to each and all we return our most sincere thanks, assuring all that their kind sympathy shall never be forgotten by us.

HORSE RACES POSTPONED

The horse races, which were scheduled to take place on the Merrimack river this afternoon at 2 o'clock, were postponed until Saturday afternoon as the committee in charge found it impossible to clear the snow from the ice.

STEAMER PICKS UP CREW

PORTLAND, Me., Jan. 22.—The crew of the missing five-masted schooner Prescott Palmer were picked up by a steamer which landed them at Bermuda today, according to a telegram received by the owners today. The schooner was abandoned during the severe storm last week. The cablegram was sent by Captain George A. Carlisle of Boothbay Harbor, master of the Palmer.

The cablegram contained no indication of the position of the schooner when abandoned and did not state whether all of the crew were saved, but it was assumed they were.

The Prescott Palmer is the last of the missing vessels to be accounted for. Of the others the five-masted Fuller Palmer was abandoned and the crew rescued and taken to Boston by the steamer Marina, the five-master Grace A. Martin sank off Matinicus Rock and the crew were picked up 24 hours later and taken into Boston by the steamer A. W. Perry and the four-masted schooner Northland was found in distress off the entrance to Penobscot bay and towed into Rockland with all hands safe.

$20,000 FOR CAPTURE

SALVAGE AWAITS CREW THAT GETS ABANDONED SCHOONER GEO. W. ANDERSON

THATCHER'S ISLAND, Mass., Jan. 22.—Several thousand dollars' salvage awaits the first tugboat crew that captures the abandoned schooner George W. Anderson which drifted past here in a southerly direction today. The crew of the Anderson, after an unusually stormy trip down the coast, were taken off yesterday by the tug John G. Chandler and landed at Portsmouth.

The schooner, with a cargo of laths, was left a direlict five miles east of the Isles of Shoals. In 24 hours she drifted across the entrance to Ipswich bay and was sighted six miles off here shortly after sunrise.

CHARGES AGAINST JUDGE

SAID THAT HE FAVORED HIS SON-IN-LAW IN HIS COURT—HEARING RESUMED

MACON, Ga., Jan. 22.—Testimony on the charge that Federal Judge Speer had favored his son-in-law in his court were taken up today when the committee of the house of representative resumed hearing testimony.

J. B. Hart, president of the Macon National bank, testified that National Committeeman Jones was regularly employed as counsel, but that A. H. Heyward had been retained as special counsel to represent the bank when an application was made to have the institution designated as a depository for bankrupt funds.

"Didn't you employ this young man to represent you in this case because he is Judge Speer's son-in-law?" asked Chairman Webb. "That did not have anything to do with it," replied the witness.

$300,000 LOSS BY FIRE

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 22.—Approximately 40,000 bales of cotton were destroyed or damaged by fire which swept the warehouse of E. W. Trout & Co. here today. The loss is estimated at between $200,000 and $300,000. Three firemen were slightly injured. The origin of the fire was not discovered.

HELD FAMILY REUNION

Resolution Demanding Investigation of Fist Fight Defeated

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The offering of a resolution demanding an investigation of the fist fight between Rep. Ben Johnson of Kentuky and John R. Shields, a Washington Attorney at the capitol last Tuesday, precipitated a lively scene at the annual meeting of the board of trade here last night.

Order was restored, however, when the motion to investigate was ruled out of order.

The resolution characterized the incident as a "public outrage and a menace to the entire community and deserving of punishment."

MIDDLESEX TRUST COMPANY

At the annual meeting of the Middlesex Safe Deposit and Trust company held at banking rooms Wednesday, Jan. 21, the following officers for the ensuing year were chosen: Percy Parker, president; Larkin T. FIST FIGHT AT CITY HALL

BOSTON COUNCILMAN POUNDS EX-COUNCILMAN, WHO ASSAILED HIM—"JERRY" WATSON WON

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—After one of the hottest fist fights ever witnessed at city hall, Councilman James A. Watson and Ex-Councilman John T. McCormack of Charlestown were separated yesterday by friends of both men who witnessed the encounter.

The fight took place in the office of Clerk of Committees John F. Dever, where Watson was using a telephone. According to him and several others, McCormack entered the room and annoyed him to such an extent that he warned him until his patience became exhausted.

Blow after blow was struck with such telling effect that the fight soon became one-sided, and friends of the men separated them. Watson was the victor, and witnesses declared him blameless, saying that he acted only in defence.

LOWELL IS OUT

Not Included in Proposed New Salisbury Beach Reservation

It looks as if Lowell, under the terms of the proposed new Salisbury beach reservation, had been eliminated from that reservation and that is as it should be. The terms of the reservation are outlined in a bill introduced by a Lawrence representative. The bill provides for a reservation commission appointed by the governor and council and that its expenses shall be paid by the state. It also limits the reservation to "any or all of the land, or any or all of the rights in any land, in that part of the town of Salisbury bounded as follows: Easterly by the Atlantic ocean; northerly by the line between the commonwealth of Massachusetts and the state of New Hampshire; southerly by the Merrimack river and westerly 500 feet from the Atlantic ocean.

This provision makes it a purely ocean reservation and places the burden entirely on the state at large. The Lowell board of trade has already made plans to keep in touch with the progress of this bill and to prevent, if possible, the recurrence of what happened before when the legislature shifted the reservation make-up to include certain cities and towns for the purpose of assessing the cost on them.

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system.

They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or disagreeable effects of any kind.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint with the attendant bad breath.

Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 10c and 25c per box. The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, O. All druggists.

BAR FOREIGN SLAVERS

ALIENS WHO HAVE BEEN EXCLUDED FOR "INTENDED CONCUBINAGE" ARE BARRED

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—The ruling of the United States supreme court that "intended concubinage" is ground for the exclusion of aliens was broadened and supplemented by the United States circuit court of appeals in a decision disposing of the habeas corpus proceedings instituted in behalf of Hans Bauer, a Swiss millionaire, who, while belonging to a class excluded, applied for naturalization and obtained first papers in September, 1911.

The decision holds that aliens who have been excluded for "intended concubinage," whether they return singly or together, are forever barred from the United States.

In his statement of the case Judge Henry Wade Rogers, who wrote the opinion, says that Bauer came to this country in June, 1910, and was charged with attempting to bring in a woman for immoral purposes. Bauer and the woman were deported. He returned to New York the following month and was admitted. In 1911 he made a trip to Europe and on his return was again admitted.

In the early part of 1913 the immigration inspectors at Chicago, where Bauer had established a large business, suggested his deportation, the Swiss government at that time having asked for his extradition for alleged fraudulent sales of mining stock in Switzerland. The ensuing extradition proceedings against Bauer failed, but in July last, he was brought to New York for deportation. The habeas corpus proceedings of yesterday resulted.

FOR NEW RED CROSS BUILDING

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The plans and designs of the new Red Cross building to be erected here as a memorial to the women who died in the Civil war have been approved by the commission which has charge of the construction of the building.

The commission chose the plans submitted by Trowbridge & Livingston, architects of New York.

TO DEPORT TEN SLAVERS

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 22.—Ten Kansas City Greeks were ordered deported yesterday following a government investigation of white slavers who are alleged to have operated extensively in the middle west. Most of the men are keepers of coffee houses or saloons.

The syndicate, according to Harry C. Allen, United States immigration inspection here, carried on an organized trade. American girls were enticed into coffee houses and restaurants, held by force, and later distributed among the cities served by the syndicate.

PEARSON HOLDS GOOD

Atty. Gen. Swift Rules on Adjutant General—His Acts as Armory Commissioner Also Valid

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—Atty. Gen. Swift's last official act was an opinion filed yesterday in response to a request by Gov. Walsh ruling that Adjt. Gen. Gardner W. Pearson is holding his office legally and that his acts as armory commissioner are also valid.

The attorney general, however, declares that the militia acts passed since 1908 contain so many inconsistencies in the use of military titles and seemingly haphazard and loosely drawn provisions that this involved situation should be cleared up by more accurate legislation. It is because of these inconsistencies that he adds: "It was with grave doubt I came to any conclusion."

The opinion states that Adjt. Gen. Pearson's acts "as armory commissioner, acting as such, at least de facto, under the familiar principles of a de facto officer, will not be invalid as affecting the title of the state to lands acquired by the armory commission."

He states that strict adherence to the precise phraseology of the different official titles used in the various enactments would lead to an absurd situation of providing for two adjutant generals, one chief of staff commissioned in the department of the adjutant general, the other chief of staff, ex officio, as the adjutant general on the staff of the commander-in-chief. If only the one officer is intended, it would be difficult to say for which of these two positions the commissions should issue.

He finds that the office of adjutant general, with the rank of brigadier general, who shall, ex officio, be chief of staff, was not abolished, whether or not Adjt. Gen. Pearson is the adjutant general qualified to act as the head of the adjutant general's department.

He finds that the law entitles Adjt. Gen. Pearson "to remain at least as the adjutant general on the staff of the commander-in-chief." He adds that the question of the commission held by Adjt. Gen. Pearson did not come before him and it must be determined by the governor upon the production of the commission itself.

MAYOR ELECT CURLEY PROPOSES MANY INNOVATIONS—WILL PUT CITY LABORERS ON HONOR

NORTH ADAMS, Jan. 22.—Mayor-elect Curley yesterday had the time of his life in the midst of the Berkshire hills in a howling snow storm. He went sleigh riding, he snowballed, he snowshoed and otherwise revelled in the snowdrifts. Between revels he found time to say a few things concerning the coming administration.

Also he commenced the work of writing his inaugural address. He expects to have the copy in the hands of the printer by Monday. He is still living incog and meeting with some success at it. The incognito was only broken once yesterday. When Mr. Curley was inspecting the Gen. Electric plant he was recognized by the chief of the company's private fire department, who was formerly a lieutenant in the Boston fire department and a voter in ward 17. The fireman promised to maintain a discreet silence in the matter.

Among some of the innovations which the mayor-elect proposes are: Putting city employees on honor, more study of the three Rs and less fads in the public schools, segregation of persons arrested for drunkenness, reduction of sentences for those arrested for drunkenness, the building of a separate institution on Deer Island for the purpose of curing persons suffering from drunkenness, and the establishment of public works modelled along the lines adopted by German municipalities, whereby work may be furnished to those who are unemployed through no fault of their own.

The mayor-elect has decided to hold the inaugural ceremonies in Faneuil hall, and yesterday wired Secs. Donlan and Wilcox to obtain Faneuil hall for Feb. 2. He has also asked Cardinal O'Connell to name the priest who shall make the prayer at the inaugural. The minor details of the ceremonies he has left to his secretaries.

The mayor-elect said the school situation was probably the most important one affecting the city, as upon the public schools rested the foundations of our government. The most difficult problem would probably be the handling of the public works department. His city planning board he deems of the utmost importance, for upon that board will devolve the duty of planning for the city's needs for 50 years to come.

HEARING FOR REGIONAL BANK

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 22—The hearing of St. Louis' claims for a regional bank under the recently enacted currency law which was begun here yesterday before the organization committee, consisting of Secretary of Agriculture Houston and Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo was resumed today.

Late tonight the secretaries will depart for Kansas City, where a one-day hearing of that city's claims to the center of a federal reserve district will be heard.

CARNEGIE HERO MEDALS

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—The Carnegie Hero Fund commission at its 10th annual meeting in Pittsburgh, Pa., yesterday afternoon recognized 30 individual acts of heroism performed during the past year within the United States. In 11 cases silver medals were awarded and in 19 cases bronze medals.

The heroes were residents of 15 states. The greatest number honored in any state was five from Illinois, Pennsylvania came next with four, and New York and Michigan with three each. Massachusetts had one hero and Connecticut one.

CARDINAL CAVALLARRI, PATRIARCH OF VENICE, ISSUES AN EPISCOPAL LETTER

VENICE, Jan. 22.—Cardinal Aristide Cavallari, the successor of the present pope as patriarch of Venice, has issued an episcopal letter which is the most energetic of all those so far published with reference to the tango, and acquires even greater importance, as it is reported to have been inspired by the pontiff.

The letters condemn the tango in the strongest terms, referring to it as moral turpitude, and adding: "It is everything that can be imagined. Only those persons who have lost all moral sense can endure it. It is the shame of our days. Whoever persists in it commits a sin."

The cardinal ordered all ecclesiastics to deny absolution to those who, having danced the tango, do not promise to discontinue the practice.

92,400,000 BARRELS OF CEMENT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Production of Portland cement in the United States increased by nearly ten million barrels in 1913 compared with 1912. Estimates by the federal geological survey shows that the production last year was approximately 92,405,000 barrels against 82,432,908 barrels for the preceding year.

The average value per barrel was appreciably higher in 1913 than in 1912.

ARGENTINE BUTTER IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—The first big shipment of Argentine butter, consisting of 2000 boxes of 80 pounds each was put on sale here today. It cost about 29 cents laid down in New York with all charges paid. Four hundred boxes are being shipped to Boston.

The regular weekly meeting of the young ladies' Mizpah club connected with the Centralville Methodist church was held at the home of Miss Mae Swift in West Tenth street, Wednesday evening. After the business had been transacted a social hour was enjoyed, during which refreshments were served in charge of Mrs. Swift and Mrs. Whiteley, with Miss Swift as waitress. Miss Alice Peard was the pianist of the evening, and Miss Laura Callanan sang several songs.

The mother's department of the Federation of the First Congregational church held a well attended meeting yesterday afternoon at the church vestry. The president, Mrs. Otis Butler, presided, and the usual program of Scripture reading and of singing was carried out. Miss Bowen, superintendent of the Lowell General hospital, read an instructive paper on "Phophylactics, or the Prevention of Contagious Diseases." After the meeting, light refreshments were served by the following hostesses: Mrs. Guy Johnson, Mrs. Ronie Wood and Mrs. C. E. Coon.

The installation of the recently elected officers of Court Wannalancit, No. 171, M. C. O. F., to be held in the North Chelmsford Town hall on Sunday afternoon, Feb. 1st, is likely to prove one of the chief events in the annals of this popular organization. The ceremony will be open to the general public at the request of many who have still in mind the success that attended the last public installation. The installing ceremony will be performed by the ladies' degree staff of one of the Boston courts. Vocal and instrumental selections by well known amateurs will precede the installation, which will be followed by the holding of a banquet in the lower hall. The concert and installation is open to the public, but admission to the banquet will be by ticket, the price of which is 50 cents. Tickets can be obtained from Miss Mary Garvey of Princeton street and should be secured by Thursday, Jan. 29.

the criminal ladder, I was stigmatized by the members of San Francisco's so-called polite society as a bloodhound."

Here Mr. Burns alluded in a feeling manner to the support he received at that time from President Roosevelt, who upheld him in a magazine article which under the caption "Murder is Murder," created countrywide interest.

The McNamara brothers, he stated, were far from being the greatest offenders against society; for they were but the tools of the men higher up.

"This statement," he said, "is not that I wish to arraign class against class, for that is not my business; yet I may say some things which might sound that way."

Then he described the work which Rudolph Spreckles did for San Francisco, his native city.

"Spreckles, a man of great wealth, has devoted his life to the elimination of graft on the Pacific coast. The sacrifice of life through the intriguing of the bosses had not been enough to stir Mr. Spreckles from the civic lethargy which, as in the cases of so many of his companions, enveloped him. A drop in gas stock, in which company Mr. Spreckles was interested, started that gentleman on an investigation. Hundreds of complimentary, paid-up, gas bills had been slight offerings of the greed of the politicians. Incidentally, the city boss had been retained on the payrolls of the company at $1200 a month, though the only work he did was to draw that money. And on every corporation in the city, the boss held a similar position."

"Once into the investigation," continued Mr. Burns, "Mr. Spreckles continued heart and soul in his work of city uplift. When his efforts began to rouse the fear of his friends, the society people of San Francisco, he was threatened with social ostracism, but he never faltered. Then his work began to have its effect."

Mr. Burns described his manner of obtaining confessions, many of which he wrung from the San Francisco grafters. It was a simple matter, he stated. Confessions were procured by securing a previous indubitable evidence, with which the crook was confronted, and in nine cases out of ten, with his nose against the door of the penitentiary these boodlers would tell all and implicate others. This corroboration was obtained. Mr. Burns works no third degree methods.

During his San Francisco investigation, Mr. Burns' life had been threatened a number of times. "And if it had not been for Divine Providence on one occasion," he continued, "I would not be here to address you tonight." This was in reference to the attempt on his life by a hired murderer which was made in a San Francisco court. On that occasion, Attorney Francis J. Heney, the prosecuting attorney, was shot down in the courtroom.

Mr. Burns concluded by expressing the belief that there was only one way to do away with municipal corruption and that is by the election of honest city officials. The San Francisco exposure, he ended, had aroused the whole country, citizens were alive to dangers before them, and would henceforth meet them courageously and conscientously.

His talk was interspersed with numerous stories of his work illustrating the ingenious methods he adopted to catch grafters, crooks and political bosses. His talk was the most entertaining and instructive ever heard here on the subject of municipal corruption.

Charles W. Burrows

Chas. W. Burrows of Cleveland, O., spoke on the feasibility of one cent letter postage, presenting facts and figures to show that it is feasible if the government makes the magazines and other such matter pay its proportionate share. Certain kinds of second class matter, he said, most of which is advertising matter and magazines, has undue advantage. He pleaded for such a change as would place a fair proportion of the expense on second class matter, and thus enable the government to give the people one cent postage.

Gen. Pearson

Adjutant General Pearson gave a talk which was cut short by the lateness of the hour, but which presented moving pictures of military operations of all kinds in the army and navy. It was greatly enjoyed.

At the head table were President George M. Harrigan, William J. Burns, Mayor Dennis J. Murphy, Charles W. Burrows, General Gardner W. Pearson, Rev. Charles T. Billings, Harvey B. Greene, Commissioner Charles J. Morse, Patrick O'Hearn, Frank Hanchett, William A. Mitchell, Robert F. Marden, Capt. William P. White, Harry Dunlap, E. B. Carney, Clarence H. Nelson, Hon. Henry J. Draper, Supt. Redmond Welch, Hon. Erson B. Barlow, Secretary Daniel N. Casey of the Haverhill board of trade, and George E. Ilix, the traffic manager of the Lawrence chamber of commerce, Hon. Edward Fisher and A. J. Norton assistant manager of the Burns agency in Boston.

The military officers who officiated as aids and who were in uniform were, besides Adjt. Gen. Pearson, Major Chas. A. Stevens of the adjutant general's office; Capt. Lewis C. Hanton and Adjt. Harry W. Sheldon, of the Sixth regiment staff; Capt. James H. Greig, of Company K; Capt. George W. Peterson, of Company C; Capt. W. R. Joyes, of Company G, and Capt. Philip McNulty, of Company M; Lieuts. Doyle and Waller, of Company G; Master and Cashin of Company K; Powers and Duffy, of Company C, and Christian, of Company M.

To the Patrons of the Middlesex Steam Laundry

Mr. Geo. H. Russell is no longer connected with this laundry.

MR. EDWARD KEARNS will be pleased to call on the customers, and I respectfully ask a continuance of the patronage so generously given me in the past. If you continue to favor me with same I shall endeavor to give as good if not better service than I have during the thirty years I have been in the laundry business.

Mr. Fred J. Barrett,
Mr. William F. Barrett.

For United States Under Pres. Wilson, Says Sec. Bryan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The United States is entering upon an era of idealism, in the opinion of Secretary Bryan, principal speaker at a democratic dinner last night. Secretary Bryan declared that the commercial ideal has been dominant in this country for years but that under the leadership of President Wilson a change is coming. He said that the country is entering upon a new age of ideals.

"The people were demanding that this country should no longer be used as a tool for the interests." Secretary Bryan continued:

"No man ever took up his difficult task with as brave a heart or has pursued it with more temerity than has the president."

GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP

OF THE RAILROADS OF THE COUNTRY WILL BE FAVORED BY MINE WORKERS

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 22.—Government ownership of the railroads of the country, it appears, will be favored by the United Mineworkers of America, in convention here this week. The resolutions committee last night refused to report a proposition to call upon congress to pass a law prohibiting railroad and street car companies collecting fares from passengers not provided with seats.

There is before the committee also a resolution submitted by the union at Louisville, Colorado, urging that all available funds on hand be applied to the purchase of mines and that this policy be pursued until all the mines in the country are the property of the miners' organizations.

A co-operative wholesale supply house, under the management of the international union as a means to reduce the cost of living is provided for in a resolution from the Bear Creek, Mont., union.

MATRIMONIAL

The marriage of Mr. Charles Sheehan and Miss Margaret A. Coughlin took place at St. Peter's rectory yesterday at 5 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Fr. Mullin. The couple were attended by Mr. Edward Sheehan, the groom's cousin, and Miss Catherine G. Coughlin, a sister of the bride.

The bride was charmingly gowned in white charmeuse with pearl trimmings; she carried a bouquet of bridal roses. The bridesmaid wore king blue crepe de chine, and carried a bouquet of sweet peas. The bride's gift to her maid was a diamond studded bracelet. The best man received a pearl stickpin from the groom.

After the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride, 248 Central street, where, amid the decorations of palms and potted plants, the happy couple were greeted by relatives and friends from Dorchester, Brookline, Dedham, Brockton and this city. Here the entire party partook of a sumptuous wedding supper. The newly married couple were the recipients of many costly and useful gifts in cut glass, linen and silverware.

Mr. and Mrs. Sheehan, accompanied by their host of friends boarded the 9.41 train for Boston, whence they will journey to New York, Philadelphia and Washington, returning about Feb. 1.

GOVERNMENT OWNED R.R.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The project for a government owned and operated railroad was up for a vote in the senate today after nearly two weeks of debate. By unanimous consent it had been agreed to begin the roll call at 4 o'clock after Senators Pittman and Dillingham concluded their announced speeches on the bill and senate leaders were confident it would pass by an overwhelming non-partisan vote.

The subject is yet in the first stages of debate in the house, where Delegate Wickersham of Alaska has offered a measure virtually the same as the Chamberlain bill.

NINETEEN HORSES PERISHED

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—Nineteen horses were burned to death in a general alarm fire that destroyed the Lee & Smith stable at 14 Foster street, North Salem, last night.

The horses were valuable draft animals that had just been secured for spring sales.

The cause of the fire was an overheated stove in the harness room that adjoins the main stable. The night watchman had left the premises to use an adjoining telephone. In his absence the heat of the stove set fire to the harness room and spread quickly to the carriage sheds and main office in front.

GUILTY OF FIRING YACHT

CAPT. JOHN A. FISH OF NEW YORK CONVICTED BY JURY IN U. S. DISTRICT COURT

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—Capt. John A. Fish of New York was convicted by a jury in the United States district court yesterday on an indictment charging him with burning his yacht Senta in the harbor of Edgartown, Martha's Vineyard, to get $15,000 insurance money.

The penalty, according to the statute, is "life imprisonment or a term of years." Pending an appeal, sentence was stayed and the captain was released on $10,000 bail.

PERISHED IN HOTEL FIRE

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Jan. 22.—An unidentified man lost his life and three other persons were probably fatally burned in a fire that destroyed the National hotel, a small hostelry here early today. Several persons were injured in jumping from windows. The fire was caused by the explosion of a coal stove in the office of the building.

The Home Beauty Parlor

By Betty Dean

Marie: Your shortsightedness and squinting are probably caused by a weak and overworked condition of the eyes. I do not think your eye troubles are serious; they can be relieved with the daily application of two or three drops at a time of this simple tonic: Dissolve an ounce of crystos in a pint of water. This will be a great comfort as well as a beautifier and will prevent that squinting which is apt to make crows-feet and lines about the eyes. Take my advice; don't worry.

Hilda: There are many methods advocated for reducing the chin; but after all, there is nothing so good as to keep down the general flesh. And this does not require any vigorous dieting or exercising if you will take this simple remedy which you can mix at home. Get four ounces of parnotis at the drugstore, and dissolve it in 1½ pints water. Take a tablespoonful before meals. It will work magic with the "dreadful double chin" and you will experience no bad effects. High collars should be worn as little as possible. They increase the tendency to flabby throat.

Miss L. G.: Here is a hair tonic which you can prepare at home at small expense and which is a genuine hair grower of the best and simplest kind. Be sure to keep your scalp clean by frequent shampooing with canthrox and then rub into your scalp this tonic, made by dissolving an ounce of quinzoin in a half pint of alcohol and adding one-half pint cold water. For all scalp troubles and badly nourished hair this is an unequalled remedy.

Olive: I never recommend a hair dye but unless I am much mistaken about your age, you should not have trouble with faded or gray hair for a long while yet. The best way in the world to stop your hair troubles is to wash with canthrox occasionally. Use a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. It is the best thing I know of to remove dandruff and prevent brittleness, split hairs, and the irritation caused by excess oil. It cleanses thoroughly, and has none of the objectionable qualities of soap or ordinary shampoos. This is very economical and easy to use, dries quickly and can be used with the very least waste of time.

Miss H. O.: Your skin trouble sounds as if it were caused by your use of ordinary face powders. They give an artificial look—especially if one is inclined to be sallow or pimpled. The very thing for you is spurmax—the best liquid lotion I know about. It is economical because you mix it yourself at home. Get 4 ounces spurmax (at any drugstore) and mix it with ½ pint hot water, add 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine, apply it to face, neck and arms. The effect will surprise you with its beauty and naturalness. It will cling as if a part of your skin, and last during an entire evening. It will not only disguise cold sores, blemishes, etc., but in time it will relieve them entirely.

Lilly Dale: For your hollow cheeks and sallow, colorless skin, there is nothing better in the world than this greaseless complexion jelly which you can easily prepare at home. Get one ounce of almozoin, put it in a fruit jar, add half a pint cold water and two teaspoonfuls glycerine. Stir briskly and let stand over night. The use of this with careful massaging will improve skin-nutrition and give transparency and loveliness to the complexion. It is fine to correct pimples.

Isabel: I was glad to read of your enthusiasm about the canthrox shampoo and gladly respond also to your request for this old fashioned tonic prescription. Dissolve one-half cup sugar and one ounce kardene in one-half pint alcohol; then add enough boiling water to make a full quart. Take a tablespoonful before each meal. I think your sudden distaste for work is as you say, physical, and this tonic will, by purging the system of impurities, restore your flagging energies and spirits. For a good complexion beautifier see answer to Miss H. O.
